STATE DEPT. OFFICER HELD ON CHARGES OF GIVING SECRET DATA TO POLAND

INFORMATION AFFECTING U.S. SECURITY SAID TO BE INVOLVED

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP) — Irvin Chambers Scarbeck, State Department Foreign Service officer, was arrested here today on charges of turning over national security information to the Communist government of Poland.

Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, who announced the arrest, said Federal Bureau of Investigation agents took Scarbeck into custody on a Washington street.

Scarbeck, a long-time employe of the State Department, has been serving as second secretary in the American embassy at Warsaw. He returned here a week ago.

Woman in the Case.

The Justice Department gave few details but Senator J. William Fulbright (Dem.), Arkansas, said he was informed Scarbeck "was seduced by a Polish blonde, who then blackmailed him."

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he was briefed, presumably by the State Department, in advance of the announcement of the arrest.

Fulbright would not discuss the nature of the security information Scarbeck was charged with turning over to the Polish Communist government.

Scarbeck is 41 years old, and a native of Brooklyn, N.Y. He attended the College of the City of New York and New York University from 1936 to 1939. Twice married, he has four children.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Scarbeck was arrested on a warrant charging that from January through May of this year he transmitted classified information "affecting the security of the United States" to an agent of the People's Republic of Poland.

The FBI investigation, Hoover said, was based on information initially developed by the security office of the United States embassy in Warsaw.

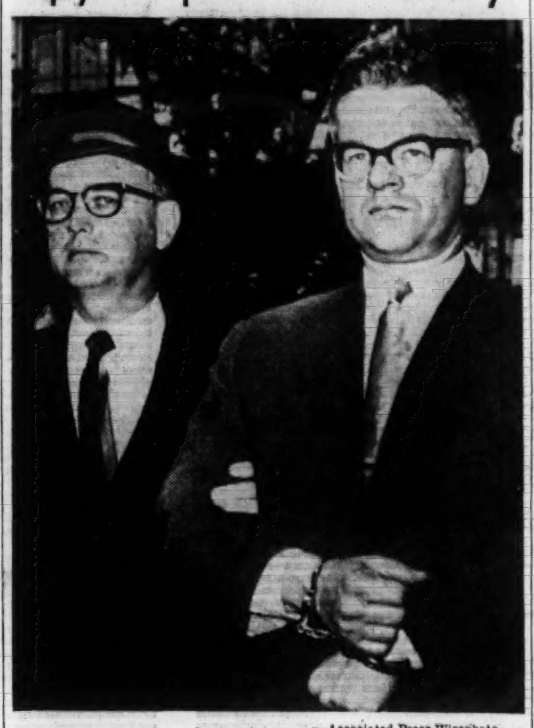

Quick Arraignment.

He was arraigned before a United States commissioner here. Conviction under the charges lodged against Scarbeck carries a fine of $10,000, 10 years in prison or both.

Scarbeck was first employed by the State Department in July 1952 and was assigned here until 1954 when he was transferred to San Francisco. He was commissioned as a Foreign Service officer in late 1956. He received

WORKER KILLED, HIT BY LIGHTNING IN FOREST PARK

Tractor Operator Had Taken Shelter Under Tree in Heavy Rainstorm.

Mathias Bischof, 4044 Flad avenue, was killed today when he was struck by lightning in Forest Park.

Bischof, 36 years old, was standing under a large tree near Lindell boulevard and Des Peres avenue in a heavy rainstorm when he was struck.

He had been operating a tractor which was towing set of reel mower blades and apparently sought shelter from the heavy rain under the tree. It was believed that he was an employe of the city Department of Parks.

In the same thunderstorm, two gasoline tanks at Shell Oil Co.'s Wood River refinery were struck by lightning, starting fires in each tank.

A company spokesman said there were no injuries and the plant safety force extinguished the fires with small loss.

CHILD FALLS OUT ON ROAD; FOUND BY OTHER TRAVELERS

LONDON, June 13 (AP)—Schoolmaster Leonard Reed and his wife set off in their small truck for a vacation at a coastal resort. Their 2-year-old daughter Caroline, was asleep in the back on a mattress.

Reed looked back about every 15 minutes to see if Caroline was all right. Then another driver swung past and shouted: "Your rear door's open."

Caroline and the mattress were gone.

In the meantime, Frederick Nicholls and his wife, driving along the same road, saw a girl trudging along, dragging a mattress.

"Except for a tiny cut on her head, she didn't seem to be harmed," Nicholls told police. "My wife took her in her arms and we started for the nearest police station."

OAS TEAM MAY END DOMINICAN INQUIRY SOON

By RICHARD DUDMAN
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CUIDAD TRUJILLO, June 13—The four-nation inquiry team looking into reports of police terrorism and brutality in the Dominican Republic is considering the possibility of returning to Washington tomorrow to write its report.

A proposal to end the mission after one week's investigation is understood to have aroused disagreement in the group, whose members represent the United States, Panama, Uruguay and Colombia.

Some members are known to believe that the mere presence here of the group from the Organization of American States has been a strong moderating influence on the police state that was ruled 31 years by Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo.

If the inquiry group should depart suddenly, some observers see the possibility of a blood bath in which the government will begin wiping out all vestiges of the opposition that became evident with the assassination of the dictator.

No Indication of Proof.

There is no indication, however, that the investigators have found proof of atrocities or gross abuses of civil rights by the government since the assassination two weeks ago. The inquiry group draws a sharp distinction between what happened under "El Benefactor" and the behavior of the government since his death.

Members of the OAS team have seemed satisfied for the most part with the condition of political detainees and prisoners shown them Saturday and yesterday in conducted tours of two detention homes and La Victoria prison. Among the prisoners displayed have been several widely believed to have been victims of political murder by the government.

At the time time, the government has been presenting a pub-

11 EXPRESS BUS LINES WILL USE TWAIN HIGHWAY; FIVE NEW ROUTES

Eight Rush Hour, Three Shopper Services to Begin in July When Artery Opens — Cut in Time of Runs.

Eleven express bus lines will use the new Mark Twain Expressway when it opens about July 15, under plans announced today by the Public Service Co. Time required to make a trip downtown will be cut sharply, the company said.

Eight of the lines will operate in rush hours and three will provide shopper service. Five of the rush-hour lines will be new routes.

Permits for use of streets in St. Louis and suburban municipalities have not yet been applied for.

Names of New Lines.

The five new rush-hour lines will be known as Ashby Rapid, Jennings Rapid, Lucas - Hunt Rapid, Ramona Rapid and West Florissant Rapid. Existing rush-hour routes using the expressway, with the word "rapid" added, will be Bissell Hills, Northside and Ferguson. Shopper express routes will be Bissell Hills, Ferguson and Riverview. Extensions and minor re-routings will be required on the existing rush-hour and shopper lines.

Time savings of up to 36 per cent over present schedules are expected to result from use of the expressway, it was stated.

Forty-one busses will be required to provide service for the five new lines, with a total of 60 for the 11 lines. All busses will be air-conditioned. About 3500 passengers will be carried each way daily on routes using the expressway.

Not Buying New Busses.

The additional busses required will be drawn from spare equipment now available and no purchase of new busses is planned at this time, it was stated.

John C. Baine, Public Service Co. president, said use of the expressway, first to be completed into the downtown district, "represents a beginning phase of the bus rapid transit plan recommended in the $500,000 St. Louis metropolitan area transportation study made in 1959 by W. C. Gilman & Co."

Transit passengers will be able to transfer between other Public Service Co. lines and the "Rapid" lines at interchange points along the expressway.

Bus turnouts and loading zones are provided at East Grand avenue, Kingshighway, a point between Thrush and Plover avenues and Jennings Station road.

Extending Grand Line.

The Grand bus line will be extended about one-quarter of a mile northward from East Grand and North Twentieth street to intersect with the expressway. Passengers of the Kingshighway, Lee and Walnut Park lines will be able to transfer at the Kingshighway interchange and those of the Natural Bridge line at Jennings Station.

Company representatives will confer with the Missouri Highway Department on the possibility of establishing park-ride sites adjacent to outlying expressway interchanges, it was stated. This would permit parking of automobiles and use of busses into the downtown area. Park-ride sites were recommended in the Gilman report.

All rush-hour lines will use the same route in the downtown area. Inbound busses will leave the expressway at Sixth and O'Fallon streets and move south to Cole street, west to Eighth street and south to Chestnut street. Outbound busses will start at Eighth and Washington avenue and move south to Chestnut, west to Ninth street and north to the expressway.

Shopper lines also will leave the expressway at Sixth and will follow the downtown routes now in use.

Rush-hour service operates from 7 to 9 a.m. and 4 to 6 p.m.

KENNEDY ASKS FOR MORE AND LONGER JOBLESS AID AND RISE IN PAYROLL TAX

PRESIDENT CALLS OFF ADDRESS TO MAYORS TO AVOID STRAIN ON BACK

Matter of Letting Improvement Continue, Aid Says—President May Use Crutches Most of Week.

BY JAMES DEAKIN
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 13 — President Kennedy canceled a speaking engagement before the United States Conference of Mayors today to avoid additional strain on his ailing back.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger, who announced the cancellation, emphasized that the decision did not mean any worsening of the President's condition.

"It is just a question of allowing the improvement to continue and not doing anything to delay it," Salinger told reporters.

Earlier, the press secretary had said Mr. Kennedy was feeling much better and was continuing to show improvement, although he probably would have to use crutches most of this week.

Salinger had listed a full work schedule for the Chief Executive today, including a speech at a luncheon meeting of the Mayors' Conference. This would have required Mr. Kennedy to drive about a half mile from the White House to a downtown hotel.

Congress Breakfast.

Before Salinger announced the cancellation, Democratic congressional leaders, who had their regular Tuesday breakfast meeting with the President at the White House, had reported that Mr. Kennedy seemed to be in excellent condition.

"I have never seen him look better," Speaker Sam Rayburn told reporters after the breakfast. He said Mr. Kennedy did not seem tired and showed no evidence of pain.

The President told the Democratic leaders, Rayburn said, that he expects to be able to discard his crutches in a few days. Mr. Kennedy suffered a pulled ligament in the lower part of his back when on a state visit to Canada last month.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, who said his impression of Mr. Kennedy's condition was the same as Rayburn's, was to substitute for the Chief Executive at the mayors' meeting.

Not a Recurrence.

Salinger said there was no truth to reports that the President's ailment could be a recurrence of his previous back injuries.

Physicians had declared that his recovery from the older injuries was complete, and Salinger repeated today that the President's personal physician, Dr. Janet Travell, had said the new injury was not connected in any way with the earlier ailments.

Salinger disclosed also that another doctor, whose name he could not immediately provide, examined the President when he was resting in Palm Beach, Fla., last weekend. Earlier the press secretary had said no other physicians had been called in to examine the President.

Later Salinger identified the physician as Dr. Preston Wade, a New York orthopedic specialist. He said Dr. Wade was called in by Dr. Travell and examined the President for 15 minutes in Palm Beach last Sunday morning.

Heated Exchange.

The disclosure led to a heated exchange between Salinger and reporters. The press secretary declined, as he has before, to permit reporters to talk to the President's physician. He said he would continue to relay Dr. Travell's findings.

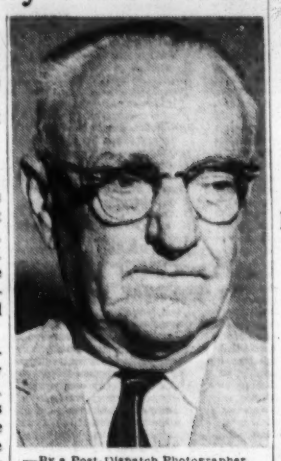

Reporters peppered Salinger with questions they said they would like to put to Dr. Travell, and he said he would pass these on to her.

CARL J. PURSEY

Attorney Carl J. Pursey has admitted he had an arrangement with a Buffalo (N.Y.) lawyer, former St. Louisan Vernon R. Wells, to obtain divorces here for Buffalo residents, Circuit Attorney Daniel P. Reardon said today.

In statements given to Reardon today and yesterday, Pursey said he supplied St. Louis and St. Louis county addresses to Wells from time to time and these addresses were listed on divorce petitions Wells mailed him for filing in circuit courts here, Reardon reported.

Reardon gave this account of what Pursey told him:

At an undetermined time prior to April 1959, Wells and Pursey had lunch together here and the Buffalo lawyer asked Pursey to help him handle divorce litigation. Wells offered Pursey $50 for each case in which he assisted.

At Wells's request, Pursey supplied the addresses by mail. Later, Pursey received in the mail from Wells divorce petitions together with the answers of defendants in each suit. Pursey filed the cases in circuit court in St. Louis or Clayton, depending on which court was mentioned in the petition.

He recalled filing five such cases in the ctiy and "far more" in the county. The cases go back to April 1959.

When the persons involved in the suit arrived in St. Louis, Pursey reviewed the information in the petition with them and handled the plaintiff's cases in court.

Reardon said his investigation

OVERHAULING OF INSURANCE SYSTEM URGED ON CONGRESS

Long-Range Changes, Some Taking Effect in 1968, Proposed — No Cost Figures Given by President.

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP) —President Kennedy proposed to Congress today a broad expansion of the unemployment compensation system to increase the amount and duration of benefits and the payroll taxes to pay for them.

Mr. Kennedy called for the most extensive overhaul of the jobless insurance plan that has been proposed since it was enacted as part of social security in the Roosevelt New Deal.

Most of the suggested changes are long-range in character. They would not go into effect for several years, some not until 1968. This gives Congress plenty of time to take a long hard look at the proposals.

The program was accompanied by Administration statements that the federal-state unemployment compensation system has long been in need of reform. It was stated that the system has proved its worth through the years, since enactment in 1935, not only in helping jobless workers but in bolstering the economy in bad times.

No cost figures were immediately announced, nor was there any estimate of the amount of additional revenue that would be raised by the proposed higher payroll taxes.

Proposals in Brief.

Here are the highlights of Mr. Kennedy's proposals:

1. The present temporary plan of extending an extra 13 weeks of benefits to out-of-job workers would be continued permanently for steady workers suddenly made unemployed.

2. The President would be empowered in recessions to extend the 13-week extra benefits to all workers, even those without a long work history.

These two provisions would go into effect in mid-1962 when the present temporary benefits extension legislation expires.

3. The Government, under a grants program, would pay two thirds of the costs of benefits when a state experienced a heavy drain on its funds. This would go into effect in 1962.

4. Beginning in 1964 about 3,500,000 more workers would be brought under the system, bringing total coverage to about 50,000,000. This would be done by dropping present exemptions for certain small employers, employes of nonprofit organizations, various salesmen and shop operators, and agricultural processing workers.

5. Beginning in 1964 the states would be required to increase benefits. An individual worker would be entitled to half his former regular wage, up to a fixed maximum. Required maximums would be at least half the state-wide average weekly wage in 1964-66, 60 per cent of the state average in 1966-68, and 66⅔ per cent after Jan. 1, 1968.

At present the maximum benefit amounts payable in 46 states are below half the weekly state-wide average wage in each of the states. Weekly benefits now average about $35.

6. Additional taxes would go into effect in 1964. The base of the federal payroll tax would be increased from the first $3000 of wages to the first $4800.

Other Provisions

Also, the increased tax rate scheduled to go into effect only in 1962 and 1963 to pay for the present temporary benefits extension would be made a permanent increase. This runs to eighttenths of one per cent of payrolls.

After 1963, employers would lose allowable tax credits in states failing to meet federal requirements as to benefits.

Idle workers also could lose their right to benefits if they refused to take retraining or re-

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS SALE TO ST. LOUIS U.

Finds Price Paid for Mill Creek Tract Exceeds Appraised Value.

Sale of 21.5 acres of land in the Mill Creek Valley redevelopment area to St. Louis University was upheld by the Missouri Supreme Court yesterday.

The court rejected the contention that sale of the tract to a church-supported institution at less than the cost of acquisition and clearance would constitute a public subsidy to a private religious institution in violation of the principle of separaiton of church and state.

It found that the tract in question had not been set aside for St. Louis University, and there had been no effort to ban others from bidding on the land.

The decision upholding legality of the sale to St. Louis University was unanimous. It was written by Chief Justice Laurance M. Hyde.

More Than Appraised Value.

The record showed that cost of the tract to the St. Louis Land Clearance for Redevelopment Authority was $1,624,617, while the sale price to the university was $535,800. The court found that this price still was more than the appraised re-use value of the cleared ground, and was in line with the sale price of other land in the redevelopment area.

The decision affirmed a ruling handed down last August by Circuit Judge Robert L. Aronson. The suit was brought by Peter Kintzele, Marion J. LaHeist and Charles A. Neighbors. Kintzele and LaHeist testified they are members of an organization called Public Lands for Public Uses, Inc. Kintzele said he is also a member of Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State.

EMPLOYMENT UP SHARPLY IN HEAVY INDUSTRY

Figures Called Sign of Economic Pickup — Jobless Rate Still Source of Worry.

By THOMAS W. OTTENAD
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 13 — Heavy industry hit hard by the recession, showed a strong pickup in employment last month.

Figures reported today by the United States Department of Labor indicated that a rise in the number of persons employed in heavy manufacturing led an upturn in non-agricultural employment that began in April.

Raymond Larson, assistant to the deputy assistant secretary of labor, told a press conference the figures "verify the belief that the economy is on the upturn." He cautioned, however, that the 6.9 per cent rate of unemployment was a source for continued worry.

Detailed Picture.

Today's report gave a detailed picture of the employment situation in May, for which summary figures were announced two weeks ago. Unemployment totaled 4,768,000 compared with 4,962,000 the previous month. It was the second highest level of unemployment for May since World War II. Employment was up from 65,734,000 in April to 66,778,000.

The pickup in heavy industry was indicated by a gain of 140,000 in the number of persons at work in durable goods manufacturing firms. The gain was particularly significant since it wiped out about one sixth of the loss suffered by this sector between February 1960 and March 1961. In that period employment by hard goods manufacturers fell by almost 900,000.

Kennedy Orders Perpetual Flying Of Flag at Memorial to Marines

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP) — President Kennedy yesterday ordered the United States flag flown 24 hours a day at the Marine Corps memorial across the Potomac river in Arlington, Va.

In a proclamation Mr. Kennedy said the raising of the Stars and Stripes at Mount Suribachi in the battle of Iwo Jima in World War II—which the memorial depicts—symbolizes the "courage and valor of the American fighting forces" in that conflict.

The memorial portrays the action caught by photographer Joe Rosenthal, then with the Associated Press, in a picture showing a group of Marines hoisting the flag at Suribachi. United States forces wrested Iwo Jima from the Japanese in what Mr. Kennedy described as "one of the most significant and most costly battles" of the war.

The flag is flown permanently at four other installations: The Tomb of the Unknowns in Arlington National Cemetery, about two miles from the Marine Corps monument; the Capitol; Fort McHenry near Baltimore, where Francis Scott Key wrote "The Star Spangled Banner," and at Key's grave in Frederick, Md.

Scooter-Riding Sanitation Police Making Sweep of Litterbugs

NEW YORK, June 13 (UPI)—A new corps of scooter-riding sanitation police curbed litterbugs today.

The scooter service was instituted to catch persons who toss matches, cigar butts, cigarette wrappers, newspapers, gum wrappers or anything else from the windows of moving vehicles.

Previously, the foot patrolman who witnessed a violation could do little but watch the automobile whiz by. The problem was one of the biggest problems of the sanitation department.

"We hope that with these scooters our men can swoop down on drivers and pedestrians alike," said Sanitation Commission Frank Lucia.

The scooters, which can travel 54 miles an hour, handed out nine summonses yesterday. The foot patrolmen handed out 936.

Democrats Will Try to Knock Out Only Important Change Made in Administration's Program.

By EDWARD F. WOODS
A Washington Correspondent of The Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 13—The fight over the Kennedy Administration's $6,140,000,000 housing bill, passed by the Senate yesterday by a vote of 64 to 25, switches to the House today.

Democratic leaders there will attempt to knock out the only significant modification made in the Administration program.

The Senate added a down-payment requirement for proposed government-insured 40-year mortgages. The Administration wants that removed. A House vote is expected in about 10 days.

The major Senate fight over the bill took place last week in a 14-hour session. In that fight, the Senate retained the President's plans to promote low-cost sales and rental housing and crushed Republican efforts to cut down the accelerated spending advocated by the President for existing federal housing programs.

Fought by Republicans.

Republicans fought the Administration measure up to the last minute before the roll call. The final speech in opposition was made by Senator Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the minority leader.

Dirksen denounced the bill not only for its provisions, but for its cost. Dirksen predicted that the federal budget deficit in the next year will exceed five billion dollars.

Joining Dirksen in denunciation of the bill was Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, a conservative Democrat. Byrd said the bill was the worst to have confronted the Senate in 25 years of housing legislation. Se said it contained all the worst features of the 1959 housing bill which was vetoed by President Eisenhower as being too extravagant.

8 Democrats Vote No.

Fifty-two Democrats were joined by 12 Republicans in approving the measure. Only eight Democrats, hard-core Southerners, voted with 17 Republicans in opposition.

Senators Stuart Symington and Edward V. Long, Missouri Democrats, voted for the measure.

The Senate measure, somewhat broader than it was when cleared by the Banking and Currency Committee, would begin a program of "experimental" federal insurance for 40-year, low down-payment mortgages on homes for families making $4000 to $6000 a year—and for the same period with no down payment for non-profit, non-governmental agencies building multiple dwellings for rental.

It would also back 20-year loans at limited interest for home improvement projects up to $10,000.

Other provisions would authorize $2,500,000,000 for urban renewal or slum clearance, the biggest allotment ever made for this purpose; $1,350,000,000 for college dormitory loans over five years, likewise a record; $1,200,000,000 for direct veterans home loans; $100,000,000 in mass transit loans; $50,000,000 in loans for housing for the elderly; $5,000,000 for public facility loans to cities, and subsidy contracts for 100,000 public housing units.

Arms Bill Passed.

By the Associated Press.

In other Congressional developments, the Senate passed and sent to President Kennedy a compromise bill authorizing $12,371,000,000 for new missiles, aircraft and naval ships. The Senate acted by voice vote after approval earlier in the day by the House.

Senate and House conferees agreed on a compromise bill to set up a new travel service in the Commerce Department to help attract more foreign visitors to this country. Mr. Kennedy asked for the measure to help balance American tourist spending abroad.

Administration spokesmen urged Congress to provide a five-year $375,000,000 program of federal aid grants to "achieve a safe and adequate national system of airports."

The Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee approved authorization of nearly $500,000,000 for projects of the Atomic Energy Commission. Approval came after some Republicans opposed plans for nuclear-generated public power in the Northwest. The authorization bill, which now goes to the Senate and the House, included $111,000,000 for a two-mile long accelerator at Stanford University to produce 20 billion volts of electricity.

The House passed today and sent to the Senate a compromise $894,000,000 military construction authorization bill for the fiscal year starting July 1. Passage came on a voice vote. Appropriations to put the program into effect are carried in another bill being considered by the House Appropriations Committee.

The compromise measure adjusted differences between the Senate and the House in separate bills passed earlier.

ARMY WITHDRAWS BIRCH SOCIETY BOOK

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—The publication "The Life of John Birch" has been withdrawn from the troop information program of the Twenty-fourth Infantry Division in Germany, Army spokesmen said today.

Also, the militantly conservative Birch Society's publication "American Opinion" is no longer on division newsstands, the spokesmen said. They said this was not considered a ban but rather the exercising of discretion as part of the command function.

Otherwise, officials said, there has been no major change in the troop indoctrination program which Maj. Gen. Edward A. Walker introduced when in command of the Twenty-fourth.

Walker, relieved of command of the division, was rebuked yesterday by the Army after an investigation of charges that he labeled as pinks or Communists former President Harry S. Truman, other leading Democrats and various elements of the United States press, television and radio.

However, the Army found that the troop information program instituted by Walker last October was "not attributable to any program of the John Birch Society."

Overseas Weekly, a privately-owned tabloid whose published charges set off the investigation, said "The Life of John Birch," written by sociey founder Robert Welch, had been distributed to all dayrooms in the division and was on a recommended reading list put out for troops.

Meanwhile, Walker's future remained in doubt.

The Army said yesterday that he will stay in his present staff job at United States Army European Headquarters "pending eventual reassignment within the United States."

4 Negotiators Land in Cuba To Talk About Tractor Deal

HAVANA, June 13 (UPI)—Four American agricultural experts arrived here by plane today to try to work out details of Premier Fidel Castro's proposed exchange of 1214 captured invaders for 500 United States-made tractors.

The American group was met by Capt. Fernando Otero, a presidential assistant; Maj. Luis Crespo, and Enrique Cabre, an engineer who is head of the machinery department of the National Institute of Agricultural Reform.

Capt. Otero told the commission members that members of the group are the official guests of the Cuban government and led them to the Hotel Riviera.

(The Associated Press said the Americans then toured a naval hospital in eastern Havana, where they saw the prisoners they are negotiating for, and later went to the government palace and met president Osvaldo Dorticos.)

Prof. Roy Bainer, the group's spokesman, said the four delegates planned to stay in Havana two days, although their exact stay will depend on the results of their talks with the Cuban government on the tractors-for-prisoners deal.

Other members of the group are J. B. Liljedahl, C. M. Hansen and Duane P. Greathouse.

Bainer and Liljedahl are professors of agricultural engineering at the University of California and Purdue University respectively. Hansen is an assistant professor of engineering at Michigan State University. Greathouse is the director of the United Auto Workers' agricultural implement department.

Before leaving Miami, the experts released a statement. It said:

"We have accepted an assignment from Tractors for Freedom, Inc., to contribute what we can to the humanitarian purpose of the committee by conducting negotiations of a technical nature with Dr. Fidel Castro or his authorized representatives as to the types of the 500 tractors offered best suited to increase the agricultural production of Cuba and raise the living standards of the Cuban people, thereby laying the basis for securing the release of the 1214 prisoners," the statement said.

"We feel our goal can best be accomplished by restricting ourselves to this single statement . . . We shall have further statements to make on our return, following discussions with the officers of Tractors for Freedom, Inc."

The type of tractor involved is certain to be an issue. The committee is prepared to offer general purpose farm vehiciles, but Castro is expected to demand heavy-duty equipment suitable for making roads and airstrips.

GROMYKO SAYS U.S. IS BLOCKING ACCORD ON LAOS

Makes Charge After Pathet Lao Spokesman Attacks American Plan.

GENEVA, June 13 (UPI)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko bitterly accused the United States today of blocking a neutrality agreement on Laos and seeking "unrealistic" control powers.

Gromyko, addressing the 14-nation Laos conference, said the United States was holding up work on drafting a neutrality pact for the Southeast Asian kingdom.

"One cannot sit indefinitely on the shores of Lake Geneva counting swans," Gromyko said sarcastically.

Gromyko's charge came after a spokesman for the Communist-backed Pathet Lao rebels had attacked the American plan to neutralize Laos.

The attack by Pathet Lao delegation leader Thao Phumi Vongvichit was a continuation of the propaganda offensive by the Communist camp designed to soften Western demands for effective guarantees of a peaceful, neutral Laos.

U.S. and France Attacked.

Vongvichit said the United States definition of neutrality "means interference" in the internal affairs of Laos.

He attacked a French draft plan for Laos and said that the Soviet plan is the only one "that takes into account the aspirations of the Laos people."

Gromyko said categorically that the Soviet government will not agree to the conclusion of any agreement which would give the International Control Commission "super powers" in guarding Laotian independence and neutrality.

"I repeat, we will not participate in such agreements—we reject them," he said.

Gromyko said royalist forces "are flagrantly breaking the cease-fire agreement in Laos, sending their planes with arms and ammunition within the territory controlled by the legitimate government and the Neo Lao Haksat (political arm of the Pathet Lao) and even parachuting airborne troops into this territory."

Vientiane Minister Departs.

By the Associated Press.

The head of the Laotian government delegation, Interior Minister Leuam Insixiengmai, flew home to Vientiane. He said his group had been treated at the conference as "only a political party."

In Vientiane, a battalion-sized attack by pro-Communist rebels on a government-held village 40 miles north-northeast of Paksane was reported.

The village, Ban Hat Bo, has reportedly been under mortar fire for the last few days. The rebel infantry attack took place yesterday and outnumbered government troops withdrew, informed military sources said.

U.S. Moves to Halt Repacking, Sale of Doctors' Drug Samples

3 Seizure Suits—Firms Said to Have Purchased Medicines From Manufacturers' Detail Men, Physicians.

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—The Government struck yesterday at what it called a mushrooming health danger in the repackaging and sale of prescription drugs distributed to physicians as free samples.

The Food and Drug Administration announced three seizure actions and said it was conducting a nation-wide investigation into what apparently had developed into a thriving business.

The agency said the moves are aimed at "a little-known but mushrooming abuse in the distribution of valuable but potentially dangerous prescription drugs—the repackaging for sale of hundreds of thousands of free samples initially prepared for distribution to physicians."

Three Seizure Suits.

The FDA said United States District Court actions at Newark, N.J., were filed against goods in possession of Marshel Sales Co., Palisades Park, N.J., and Fall Drug Co., Jersey City, N.J., repackers and drug wholesalers.

The seizure actions were based on charges that the repackaged drugs are not labeled as required by federal law.

The FDA announced a third court action and seizure at the I. Zonana and Bronx Drug Co., Inc., New York City. The agency said this seizure involved large quantities of such drugs as penicillin, Metrobamate and Equanil.

An FDA spokesman said the repackers sell the repackaged samples to druggists.

Methods Listed.

FDA said the repackers use several methods of getting the samples. These include exchange of office necessities or purchase from physicians or from drug manufacturers' detail men (salesmen) who supplement their incomes by selling the samples.

FDA Commissioner George P. Larrick said:

"Physicians' samples are not illegal when properly labeled and used as such. However, some of the products involved are new drugs, permitted to be marketed only when prepared and packaged under special controls to assure safety and maintenance of identity, strenth and proper labeling.

"The conditions found in repackaging of these physicians' samples short-circuit or nullify the essential safety controls required before marketing.

"Protective labeling required by the law is frequently removed, causing a risk of mixups in the drugs. Removing the words 'Caution: federal law prohibits dispensing without prescription' may cause a dangerous drug to be used without medical supervision. Either of these may have serious consequences."

No Figures Available.

The agency said that no accurate statistics are available as to the number of samples which annually are given physicians by the drug industry. There was one estimate of hundreds of millions of dollars.

Although some repackers solicit samples from physicians more or less at random, FDA said, others rely on a small number of physicians who obtain samples from drug manufacturers specifically to sell to the repacker. The agency said records of a now-defunct repacking firm indicated that one Brooklyn physician was supplying drugs to the repacker to the extent of about $10,000 a year.

However, FDA said it had no evidence that physicians generally dispose of their samples improperly.

In the two New Jersey seizure actions, the Government charged that the repacked articles included Diuril and Hydrodiuril, used in the treatment of high blood pressure and heart conditions; Chrolomycetin, Aureomycin, Terramycin, antibiotics; Equanil and Placidyl, tranquilizers; Premarin, a hormone; and Thorazine, a central nervous system depressant, and numerout other drugs.

20 DEAD IN TRAIN WRECK IN GERMANY; MANY INJURED

STUTTGART, Germany, June 13 (AP)—Police said at least 20 persons were killed today when two trains collided head on at Esslingen near here.

Rescuers said many persons were injured seriously and trapped in the wreckage.

The collision occured at the entrance to Esslingen station.

NEW ORLEANS MAYOR PICKED AS ENVOY TO OAS

DeLesseps Morrison Quitting Long-Time City Post — to Go to Montevideo Parley.

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—President Kennedy picked Mayor de Lesseps Morrison of New Orleans today to be United States ambassador to the Organization of American States.

Morrison said he would resign as Mayor of New Orleans to accept the post.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Morrison would be one of the leaders of the American delegation to an inter-American economic conference in Montevideo, Uruguay, in July.

Salinger said there has been no decision yet as to whether Mr. Kennedy will attend the conference but that the matter has been under discussion.

Morrison, 49 years old, has been Mayor of New Orleans for more than 15 years. His present term has another year to run. He said he speaks Spanish "fairly well" and can make speeches in that language.

Philip Bonsal, former United States ambassador to Cuba, has been serving as acting United States representative to the OAS.

fresher courses prescribed to fit them for new jobs. In this connection the Administration earlier proposed a four-year $700,000,000 retraining-relocation program.

In his letter of transmittal to the Senate and the House, Mr. Kennedy said that although the bottom of the recession has passed, 4,800,000 Americans still are unemployed and 900,000 of them have been out of work for more than six months.

Although a number of legislative measures to attack the problem are pending, Mr. Kennedy thought additional action was necessary to help alleviate suffering of unemployed workers and their families and "stabilize the economy by increasing the purchasing power of such workers."

SEVENTH BILL TO REORGANIZE CITY'S SCHOOLS DIES IN SENATE

Among 44 Measures Dropped Because of Lateness of Session — Others Affecting This Area Included.

By HERBERT A. TRASK
State Political Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 13—Time ran out yesterday on the St. Louis public school reorganization bill and other important Senate measures. Because of the lateness of the session they were allowed to die on the Senate calendar.

These were among 44 Senate bills recommended for passage by committees but still awaiting perfection, the legislative stage when bills are subject to debate and amendment before they can be advanced for passage. Yesterday was the last day for perfection of Senate bills.

With less than three weeks remaining before the June 30 deadline for enactment of legislation, Senate leaders decided last week to halt perfection of bills yesterday. This means that Senate bills that have not been perfected are dead.

The St. Louis school bill had been approved for passage by the Senate Education Committee last Wednesday, but was not reported to the Senate until last Friday.

Seventh Such Failure.

This was the seventh time, in the memory of veteran members, that the Missouri Legislature has failed to enact a bill reorganizing St. Louis operations under a single administrative head. As in the past, the bill was handicapped by the lack of unified support of city legislators, and the opposition of some Democratic politicians who wanted to retain their patronage jobs in the school building department.

Senator John W. Joynt of St. Louis, the Democratic floor leader, said the Senate will devote most of its time from now on to appropriation measures and a backlog of 127 House bills piled up on the Senate calendar. Only those Senate bills that have already been passed and sent to the House have any chance of passage, he said.

Other Dead Bills.

Other bills that will die on the Senate calendar would have:

Broadened St. Louis police search and seizure powers.

Authorized establishment of a city-county college district, with voter approval, to provide two-or four-year college courses.

Permitted the city to regulate truck traffic on city streets.

Authorized the state school for the Blind in St. Louis to acquire additional land for recreational purposes.

Required annual motor vehicle safety inspections.

Primaries in June.

Provided that Misosuri primary elections be held in June instead of in August.

Increased thaft state minimum driving age from 16 to 18 years.

Increased the salaries of the state commissioner of agriculture, the state merit system director, members of the Missouri Industrial Commission and employes in the State Finance Division.

Permitted city and county employes to become members of the state employes retirement system.

Strengthened state regulation of watercraft.

Empowered the Division of Health to require food distributors and producers to use insect control devices, and required humane slaughter of animals by packing plants handling 5000 animals or more a year.

Fight Shaping Up.

A bitter Senate-House fight over state mental health allotments was shaping up today after the Senate slashed $5,434,654 from the House-approved appropriations for operation of the Division of Mental Diseases and its seven hospitals.

By a vote of 28 to 4, the Senate passed the bill as amended by its Appropriations Committee, which rejected House increases for state mental institutions and restored the lesser amounts recommended by Gov. John M. Dalton in his executive budget.

The controversial bill must now be returned to the House, which is expected to refuse to concur in the Senate amendments, thus forcing the measure into a Senate-House conference committee for settlement of differences.

The mental health financing bill was one of five major appropriation measures, proposing $841,000,000 in state expenditures for the next two years, which were passed by the Senate at an extended afternoon session.

Only one of the bills was approved in the form in which it had passed the House. It allots $9,476,341 for payment of the state's debt, including $8,538,859 for interest and retirement of part of the $75,000,000 building bond issue. This was the first of the 1961-63 biennial appropriation measures to be passed in both houses and be sent to the Governor.

Speaks for House Plan.

Senator John E. Downs (Dem.), St. Joseph, declared that for the first time the public is willing to support additional financing of the state's mental health program. He urged that the House allotments be approved so the proposed 10-year mental health modernization program will be given a chance to succeed.

In defense of the cuts, Senator J. F. Patterson (Dem.), Caruthersville, contended the reductions were necessary to balance the state budget.

The division had requested $60,120,430 for operation of its central office and seven institutions in the new biennium, which begins July 1. The Governor's budget recommended $50,895,696.

One of the other bills passed carries $257,186,827 for school purposes, $224,100,000 to provide full financing for the first time of state public school aid under the foundation program. The school aid represents an increase of $67,864,237 in the last two years.

Another measure appropriates $452,423,738 for operation of various state executive offices and agencies, including the Missouri Highway Department. The bill's biggest outlay is $370,000,000 for highway construction and maintenance, including $160,000,000 in federal road grants.

The Senate today passed a bill for expenditure of more than $320,250,000 for state health and welfare programs. The largest outlays are $94,847,935 in state funds and $189,611,935 in federal grants for old age assistance, aid for dependent children and the disabled, general relief and other welfare programs.

The bill must be returned to the House for consideration of minor Senate amendments.

An appropriation of $21,569,054 for the University of Missouri was approved by the Senate Appropriations Committee, an increase of $92,000 over the House figure, with all of the increase for salaries. The committee boosted the amount for the Rolla School of Mines by $17,000, to $4,122,045.

The fund for the University of Missouri Hospital was also increased by the committee, to $7,000,000. The House figure was $6,583,933.

Expenditure of $55,563,423 to finance the State Revenue Department was proposed in another measure. The total includes $5,000,000 added by the Senate to pay state income tax refunds under the new withholding system, which begins July 1.

Kennedy to Receive Stikker.

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—President Kennedy will receive Dirk U. Stikker, NATO's new Secretary General Friday in the White House, the State Department announced yesterday. Stikker is scheduled to arrive today for a five-day stay.

Loan Firm Holdup Suspects

2 Admit $2030 Holdup of Affton Savings Firm; $1700 Recovered

Two robbers have admitted yesterday's $2030 holdup of the Reliance Federal Savings & Loan Association, 8930 Gravois road, Affton, St. Louis county police reported today. Police said they had recovered $1700.

The robbers were identified as Lloyd G. Weston, 65 years old, and Frank E. Cook, 47, who share an apartment in the 5400 block of Seth avenue, Gardenville.

Weston and Cook were arrested at their home about an hour after the holdup. They were traced through the license number on their escape car, which was obtained by tellers at the savings and loan office.

Police said most of the stolen money was found in the pocket of a woman's coat in the apartment. Other bills were in the back of a radio and hidden in the basement, police said.

Gerhard Lubbes, secretary-treasurer, said he was talking with a customer, Mrs. Elizabeth Mayer, when the robbers entered at 1:10 p.m. One robber threatened Lubbes and Mrs. Mayer with an automatic pistol while the second held up Miss Ruth Ann Pottgen, the teller, and Mrs. Marlene Truebe, assistant cashier.

Miss Pottgen was forced to hand over the contents of several cash drawers. Before fleeing, the robbers ordered the women to lie on the floor. Mrs. Mayer and Lubbes were forced into a wash room.

Lubbes and Miss Pottgen saw the men flee in a red-and-white convertible. They obtained the license number, which coincided with a number phoned to police earlier by a woman who became suspicious when she saw the car being driven back and forth in front of the institution before the holdup.

Police found two loaded pistols under the front seat of the convertible, parked near the apartment. Also under the front seat were two rubber masks. The men wore white handkerchiefs over their faces in the holdup, police said.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation participated in the arrests because the firm's funds are insured by the Federal Government. The recovered money was turned over to the FBI.

Weston, a former cab driver, denied robbing the same institution last April 12, police said. On that date, the firm was robbed of about $1500 by a man wearing a handkerchief mask and a raincoat. Cook also is a former cab driver.

Weston and Cook were charged with the Reliance holdup in informations issued today by United States Commissioner Irvin H. Gamble, and Weston was named in another information in the April robbery.

BOYS, DISPLEASED WITH TIPS, STEAL $2455 IN JEWELRY

Two boys, dissatisfied with 25-cent tips they said they received for returning a check they found, stole a brief case containing jewelry valued at $2455 from a porch at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cavin, 4961 Pershing avenue, yesterday. One boy was captured by a passerby, who observed the pair shoving the briefcase into a sewer opening, and his companion was arrested later.

The boys said they found the check, bearing Cavin's name, on Easton avenue, and took it to the Cavin home. After receiving a quarter each they decided, the boys told officers, that the reward for returning the check should have been larger. They took the jewelry, which had been left on the porch by Otto Erker, a lawyer, 1 Portland place, who was visiting the Cavins.

After removing some of the jewerly, the boys, 13 and 14 years old, began shoving the briefcase into a sewer opening at Newstead and McPherson avenues, where the 13-year-old was captured. The second boy was arrested at his home by Patrolman Peter Wilhite of Lucas Avenue district. The boy had a diamond bracelet, valued at $1000, in his possession.

RETIRED TEACHER MISSING, POLICE AND DOGS JOIN HUNT

St. Louis county police and two dogs joined about 100 persons today in searching for Brother Henry William Gilmartin, 79-year-old retired teacher, who was reported missing yesterday from LaSalle Institute in Glencoe.

Brother Gilmartin was last seen at 5 p.m. yesterday at the institute, a training school for members of the Christian Brothers order for the St. Louis province. Brothers at the school said he has been known to wander off before, and that he has been a hiker for the last 20 years. Generally he returns in a few hours, they said.

After Brother Gilmartin was missed, a search of the 800 acres of the institute's property was begun. The search was discontinued at 1:30 a.m. today and resumed at 8 o'clock this morning.

GUMBO AIRPORT ACTION DEFERRED BY COMMISSION

Several Members Object to Private Development of a Secondary Flying Field.

The City-County Airport Commission delayed making any recommendation yesterday on a plan to construct a secondary airport near Gumbo after several members of the group objected to the proposal. The commission agreed, however, that rapid action was necessary to assure the county of at least two secondary airports.

John Fabick, chairman of the commission, said the group would probaly make a decision Monday on the proposal of Paul D. Haglin to build the Gumbo airport. The commission will tour the site and two present airports that day.

The St. Louis County Council last week postponed a vote on rezoning a 1037-acre tract which Haglin wants to develop into an airport and industrial park. The council put off acting until it receives a recommendation from the commission.

Options End in September.

Haglin appeared before the commission yesterday and said he would have the airport built by the end of 1962 if he was permitted to start soon. Further delay could block any construction, he said, since his options on the land expire in September.

Strong objections to the Haglin proposal were expressed by several of the commissioners yesterday. They argued that privately owned airports soon fade into real estate developments. Permanence of a secondary airport could be assured only through publicly owned facility, they said.

Other members of the commission, however, appeared ready to give their consent to Haglin's plans. They contended that private enterprise should be given first chance, and said construction of a public airport would be delayed by at least two years until money became available.

Effect Disputed.

The effect of accepting the Haglin proposal on any future bond issue for an airport was disputed by two members of the County Council who attended the meeting.

Russell Grantham, chairman of the council, argued that another airport would still be needed, but if the voters saw a privately owned field being constructed, they would be reluctant to approve a bond issue for the second facility. John F. Molloy (Rep.), Seventh district, said voters would never approve a bond issue if the county turned down a proposal for an airport which would cost the county nothing.

Commissioner Edward A. Holekamp, in arguing for rejection of Haglin's proposal, said publicly owned airports are generally safer and charge more reasonable fees than private fields.

Commissioner I. E. Goldstein, however, argued that, if Haglin failed in his efforts to build a satisfactory airport, the county and city could still move in through their right of eminent domain and take over the facility.

Indorsement of the Haglin proposal also was given by Joseph Frets, aviation director with the Missouri Resources and Development Commission. If the proposal is carried out as planned, he said, the area would have an excellent airport at no expense to the taxpayers.

Robert W. Clark, district airport engineer for the Federal Aviation Agency, said his agency has approved Haglin's plans. He noted that some privately-owned fields have performed outstanding services to aviation and said others have been designed poorly.

Purchase and development of Weiss Airport by the commission as a secondary field received considerable attention by the commission. The group agreed that the Weiss field is the only feasible site in the southern part of the county for a secondary airport, but unless action is taken soon, costs would prohibit making this into a permanent, publicly-owned facility.

County Planning Director Hermann F. Wagner told the commission that all areas in the county except the Weiss site and the Gumbo area are either already developed or topographically unsuited for an airport. He said a recent study showed that excavation alone for an airport in any other undeveloped portion of the county would cost at least $3,000,000.

County Councilman Albert M. Bailey (Dem.), Sixth District, said the price of Weiss is going up $20,000 a day because developers are adding one new house to the area daily.

Municipal Opera's 43rd Season Opens With Usual Frenzied Rush

But Only Muffled Sounds Seep Through to Audience—80-Degree Temperature Modified by Breeze.

By CLEON SWAYZEE
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.

A company of actors, dancers, musicians and horses breathed life and melodious humor into the legendary wild and woolly West last night as the Municipal Opera opened its forty-third season with a musical production of "Calamity Jane."

An evening breeze took the humid edge off the 80-degree temperature and kept most of Forest Park's winged pests busy fighting headwinds.

Last minute preparations and changes in score and script kept the production staff and performers in a state of hurried fretfulness during the hour before curtain time. Little more than the muffled sounds of moving scenery filtered out through the stage's foliage "curtains" to early arrivals among the first-night audience of 7200 persons.

"This is no different from any other opening night for us," Dick Miller, supervisor of scenic construction, said.

"There are always stage props we find we have forgotten at the very last minute, and opening night is usually a frenzied rush to get the forgotten props in place in the seconds before the curtain opens."

Miller looked up at the four new scenery booms, which, like the play, made their Municipal Opera debut last night, and offered his own private wish: "I sure hope they work."

The booms, each 72 feet long and weighing more than 16 tons, have been plagued with mechanical difficulties which have reduced the speed of their operation, he explained.

His fears, however, were never realized, all four worked perfectly all evening.

"I never thought I would turn into a baggy-pants comedienne," she quipped, looking down at her ill-fitting denim trousers.

Earlier, members of the dancing chorus chuckled at a telegram addressed to them which was posted on a backstage bulletin board.

"Please," it said, "when I'm on stage, make your dance movements big. You know I can't dance a step." It was signed plaintively, "Edie."

In the last tense moments before her appearance on stage, Miss Adams remained by herself, trying out stage smiles and one or two dance steps.

Then, in a crash of gunfire which startled everyone but her, she jumped through open doors to the stage.

Productions director John Kennedy, watching an opening night entrance of the star for the twentieth time in Forest Park, heaved a sigh of relief.

"My real job is done now," he said, glancing at his watch. "All I can do for the rest of the evening is worry for those of the cast who are too busy to worry for themselves."

ST. CLAIR BOARD INDORSES PLANS FOR FREE BRIDGE

Vote Is 29 to 10 With Supporters Led by Chief Supervisor Francis Touchette.

Construction of a proposed free bridge across the Mississippi river was indorsed last night by the St. Clair County Board of Supervisors.

The proposal received 29 favorable votes. Ten members of the board were in opposition, and two voted present.

Francis Touchette of Centreville township, chief supervisor, proposed that the supervisors indorse the Poplar Street Bridge. He said it would be of vital interest to residents of St. Clair county, and noted the bridge would be built with state and federal funds.

Supervisor Eugene Graves of East St. Louis spoke in opposition to the proposal. He said some of the profits from toll bridges across the Mississippi are used by East St. Louis and two other communities for revenue.

Graves said he is against the proposition until some provision is made to help communities whose revenues would be cut by competition from a free bridge. He pointed out that the board previously opposed a free bridge until some provision was made for purchase by the federal and state governments of revenue-producing bridges owned by municipalities.

In other action, the supervisors adopted a resolution designed to discourage spending in excess of appropriations. The resolution was proposed by the finance committee, headed by Supervisor Dean R. McClane of Belleville.

The finance committee resolution proposed that no expenditure would be made above any appropriation without provision for increasing the appropriation. It would apply to all county offices and committees.

MAYOR TUCKER CONTINUES TO DO WELL AFTER SURGERY

Mayor Raymond R. Tucker had another good day yesterday and his recovery was reported proceeding satisfactorily at Barnes Hospital, where he underwent a chest operation last Wednesday.

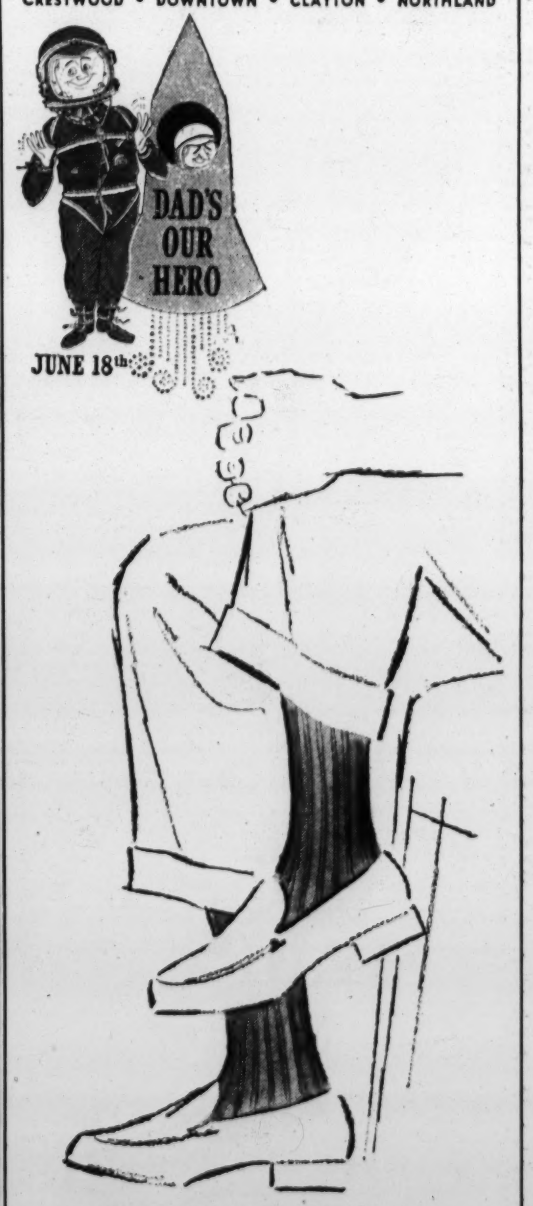

His right lung was removed because of a tumor. He has already sat up and walked around in his room, and it is expected that he can return home about next weekend.

Divorce Cases

of the divorces would continue for the year prior to April 1959. He and Prosecuting Attorney Norman H. Anderson of St. Louis county have said plaintiffs and character witnesses in the uncontested suits gave false St. Louis addresses.

County Cases Up Thursday.

Reardon and Pursey met for 40 minutes yesterday and for one hour and 15 minutes today. Pursey was accompanied each time by another attorney. He made an appointment for 10 a.m. Thursday to discuss the county cases with Anderson and Judge Robert G. J. Hoester, presiding judge of the Clayton circuit court.

Pursey, 64 years old, has offices in the Buder Bulding, 7 North Seventh street. He lives at 4524 Grasso lane, Gardenville. He declined to discuss the divorce cases with reporters.

Wells, 58 is licensed to practice law in Missouri and did practice here in the 1930s, officials said. He moved to Buffalo in 1938. He and Pursey are graduates of the old St. Louis City College of Law.

After working for a time as an Internal Revenue agent, Wells was indicted by a federal grand jury in Buffalo on a charge of soliciting bribes in exchange for favorable treatment on estate tax cases. On Feb. 12, 1948, he pleaded guilty in United States District Court to a lesser offense, receiving money from outside sources.

He was sentenced to serve six months in jail, and the sentence was suspended.

On May 17, 1952, the appellate court of New York censured Wells for his conduct in the bribe matter. The court elected not to disbar him.

Reardon and William J. Shaw, first assistant to Anderson, interviewed Wells in Buffalo last week. Reardon said Wells admitted bringing persons here from Buffalo to obtain divorces. The circuit attorney declined to give other details of what was said.

Pursey appeared in the chambers of Circuit Judge John C. Casey shortly before 5 p.m. yesterday, accompanied by another attorney. Judge Casey, who had presided over two of the divorce suits in question, said he had asked Pursey to come in.

"I mentioned that I thought, in all fairness to the public and to other attorneys, that it would be a good idea for Mr. Pursey to come in and talk things over with Mr. Reardon," Judge Casey said.

"Mr. Pursey said he had thought it over, and he decided it would be best to make a full statement. So I called Mr. Reardon over."

Reardon said there were "some differences" in accounts given by Pursey and Wells, particularly in regard to who took the initiative in the divorce suits.

"Each says the other is the moving party," Reardon said.

To Buffalo Again.

Reardon said he or someone from his office will go to Buffalo soon to question Wells further and to obtain more statements from persons involved in the divorce suits. Reardon and Shaw interviewed 12 Buffalo residents on their trip last week. All of them either had obtained divorces or had testified as charcacted witnesses. All admitted they never had lived in St. Louis, although they gave St. Louis area addresses in their testimony, Reardon said.

Reardon said some of the addresses used were of property owned by Pursey or for which he collected rent. Other addresses belong to relatives of Wells, he said.

The investigation of the divorce cases is going back three years to determine how extensive the Buffalo-St. Louis operation might have been.

New York law permits divorces only where proof of adultery is presented. In Missouri, uncontested divorces may be granted on the ground of general indignities. In such cases, normally a plaintiff must have been a resident of the state for one year. Two witnesses must testify to the plaintiff's moral character.

Reardon and Anderson have said that some persons brought here to obtain divorces testified as character witnesses in other divorce suits. To complete a busy day, some of the same persons were married before returning to Buffalo, the prosecutors said. Reardon said the usual attorney's fee was $550.

Judge Douglas L. C. Jones yesterday set aside divorce decrees granted in Clayton on May 22 in two cases. The plaintiffs in each case have remarried, posing a legal problem as to the status of their marriages.

his assignment to Warsaw in December 1958.

Prior to his employment by the Department he was a staff officer for the United States high commissioner in Germany.

Scarbeck married Mechtild Karen Elizabeth Josephine von Rothe, a native of Berlin, in 1952. She became an American citizen in 1956. They have two sons and a daughter. Scarbeck also has a daughter by his first wife, with whom she lives.

In June 1959, Scarbeck was one of 113 employes of the State Department decorated with the Meritorious Service Award. He received it, the citation said, "for meritorius service, loyalty and devotion to duty at the San Francisco reception center."

In Warsaw, embassy associates said Scarbeck was a hard worker and that he was generally regarded as a grind.

Like most Foreign Service Officers, he had access to classified material, but his duties did not normally involve sensitive matters.

He was general services officer as well as second secretary and in this job he arranged travel for embassy personnel and took care of requisitioning supplies.

After finishing a 2½-year tour of duty in Warsaw he was to have been assigned to the United States consulate in Naples, Italy.

GIVES UP, SAYS HE SHOT MAN WHEN PLAYING WITH PISTOL

Harding Coolidge South told police yesterday he had accidentally wounded his friend, James Franklin Smith, 34-year-old laborer, when playing with a pistol.

Smith, wounded seriously in the chest, insisted he was shot when walking on South Broadway early Sunday and did not see his assailant. His shirt was powder-burned, indicating he had been shot at close range. Smith, who is in City Hospital, gave an address in the 5600 block of Waterman boulevard.

South, 38, a truck driver, 3500 block of Vista avenue, told officers he became frightened after the shooting, which occurred in a restaurant at 1129 South Broadway. He went to Gideon, Mo., but returned yesterday and surrendered. Smith later verified the account of the incident. South was released on bond.

20 BABIES DEAD OF FLU IN PHILIPPINES EPIDEMIC

MANILA, June 13 (UPI)—A steadily spreading influenza epidemic was reported today to have claimed the lives of 20 babies on southern Cebu island.

About 2000 cases of flu were reported from various cities and provinces. Four persons succumbed to the respiratory disease in Manila Monday.

Manila health officer Dr. Demetrio Belmonte said the virus responsible for the disease has not been isolated.

GAMING WARRANTS SOUGHT AGAINST 7 AT CHURCH PICNIC

Warrants were applied for today against seven persons who were arrested Sunday in a gambling raid at a picnic on the grounds of Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church, 1134 St. Cyr road, Bellefontaine Neighbors.

Police said more than 300 bingo cards and about 5000 numbered raffle chances were confiscated in the raid, conducted by Detectives Robert Goodman and Archie Rippeto of the St. Louis county police gambling squad. The officers were accompanied by a Bellefontaine Neighbors policeman.

The seven persons were booked suspected of setting up and operating a lottery and possession of gambling paraphernalia. They were released at the scene. The detectives went to the picnic grounds to investigate a complaint from an anonymous telephone caller.

The detectives observed that raffles were run every 30 minutes with cooking utensils, hams and cash prizes being given to holders of winning tickets, they said.

WOMAN'S BODY RECOVERED FROM RIVER NEAR FOLEY

The body of Mrs. William K. Todd, 3456 Commonwealth avenue, Maplewood, one of two persons who drowned Sunday in the Mississippi river near Foley, Mo., was recovered yesterday by the Coast Guard.

The body was found above a dam lock in the river near Foley. Mrs. Todd drowned when trying to rescue her daughter, Gail, 15, who had fallen into deep water near an island where a group was picknicking.

The body of Raymond Tendick, 1041 Sanders drive, Crestwood, the other drowning victim, was recovered Sunday afternoon. He drowned when attempting to save Mrs. Todd.

MADISON COUNTY NAMES BUILDING COMMISSIONER

Charles Erspamer, an Edwardsville contractor, was named Madison county's first building commissioner yesterday by the County Board of Supervisors.

Erspamer was selected from 12 applicants for the $7000-a-year post. He will be responsible for enforcing the county's new building code, adopted three years ago. The code never has been enforced because the commissioner's job has been vacant.

A stenographic clerk and a building inspector wil be appointed to complete the office staff.

A graduate engineer, Erspamer has worked in the enforcement division of the Federal Housing Administration and is former secretary and business manager of the Edwardsville Community Unit School District.

The Board of Supervisors hired C. J. Schlosser & Co. of Alton, certified public accounting firm, to conduct an audit of all county offices for the period from Aug. 1, 1959, to July 31, 1961. The fee will be $4200.

The county's last audit by an outside firm was in 1955.

An ordinance was passed creating a penalty for violations of the county's tavern-closing law, which heretofore contained no penalty. Operators of taverns which remain open after hours now will be subject to fines of $100 for a first violation and $200 plus license revocation for a second violation.

The board adopted a resolution declaring that Mosenthein Island in the Mississippi river is a part of Madison county.

The action was taken after Chairman Gus Haller reported hearing that the City of St. Louis was going to claim the island. The resolution stated that the Federal Department of Interior geological survey shows the long, narrow island as part of Madison county.

"Mosenthein Island is and has been a part of Madison county," the resolution stated, "and the memory of living man runneth not to the contrary."

The program on Thursday will include "Danube Waves" and Mozart's "Sinfonia Concertante in E Flat Major," performed by the Hollywood Bowl Symphony Orchestra.

CHICAGO AIR MADE CLEANER

NEW YORK, June 13 (UPI)—An air pollution law adopted in 1959 was credited yesterday with cleaning Chicago's air by reducing dust fail 15 per cent last year.

Edward C. Logelin, a vice president of United State Steel Corp., told the annual meeting of the Air Pollution Control Association that the Chicago ordinance was one of the finest in the nation.

lic face of moderation and adherence to due process of law.

Under these circumstances, there is a possibility that the committee will find it necessary to give the Dominican government the benefit of the doubt and recommend that the American republics renew diplomatic relations with the Dominican Republic and lift partial economic sanctions invoked last August.

There has been some talk of a compromise position intended to avoid the appearance of whitewash and continue the inquiry group's moderating influence.

One possibility would be for the group to leave a small staff here for the present as observers. Another would be to write only an interim report, withholding final judgment for several months to make sure the Dominican government stays on its present apparent good behavior.

The group is known to have kept careful lists of all persons who have supplied it with information. It has served notice on the government that it may at any time in the future demand to see the same persons and inquire as to their treatment in the meantime.

Many political prisoners were released quietly last weekend just before the inquiry committee visited Victoria prison, the Post-Dispatch has been informed.

Team Finds Only 46.

The mass releases were said to have been carried out between midnight and 2 a.m. As a result, the investigators found only 46 political prisones when they visited the prison yesterday. The government said they were the only ones still detained in the entire country.

President Joaquin Balaguer gave partial confirmation to the report at a press conference yesterday. He said all political prisoners had been released in the previous two days except 37 terrorists convicted in connection with earlier plots and persons nection with the assassination two weeks ago.

Shown 32 Held as Terrorists.

In the visit to the prison, the inquiry team was shown 32 persons convicted as terrorists. There was no immediate explanation for the discrepancy between that figure and Balaguer's figure of 37.

They also were shown 14 persons described as under investigation in connection with the assassination.

"It is our intention that there will be no political prisoners within a few weeks," Balaguer said.

In stating that there are no other political prisoners, the government in effect challenged the truth of reports that hundreds of persons have been abducted and many killed in the aftermath of the assassination.

One man still not accounted for is Luis Amiama Tio, listed as the one remaining fugitive among those the government says were direct participants in the killing. Word had leaked out that Amiami Tio has been captured, but he was not among those exhibited to the committee.

The mass release of prisoners helped the government with its obvious effort to present an appearance of constitutional democracy to the investigators and qualify for a return to the good graces of the American community. The other American republics broke relations and applied partial economic sanctions last August after finding that Trujillo and his aids had directed an assassination plot against President Romulo Bentacourt of Venezuela.

In another show of liberalism, the President said a number of persons had asked for passports in the last few days to leave the country and all such requests have been granted.

pointed out to Salinger that the doctors attending former President Dwight D. Eisenhower during his illnesses had been available to reporters. Salinger said he was drawing a distinction between those serious illnesses and Mr. Kennedy's "minor ailment."

Asked by the Post-Dispatch whether the White House was treating the President's illness as a strictly private matter between a patient and his physician, Salinger replied angrily that it was being treated as "a minor ailment of the President."

At another point, Salinger said he was amused by the "anonymous diagnoses" of outside physicians to whom reporters have talked. "Anonymous diagnoses are cheap," he said.

Reporters replied that there would be no need to seek the opinions of outside physicians if they were permitted to talk to Dr. Travell.

In response to other questions, Salinger said the decision to call in Dr. Wade did not represent any increasing concern about Mr. Kennedy's condition.

The press secretary declined to disclose Dr. Wade's findings. He denied that he or his assistant, Andrew Hatcher, had withheld the news of Dr. Wade's visit to Palm Beach, saying that he and Hatcher did not know about it until today.

(The Associated Press said Hatcher, who was at Palm Beach, was asked repeatedly in the Florida stay whether any specialists or outside doctors had been called in or were being called in. The answers always were no.

(On June 9, the Associated Press inquired specifically about Dr. Wade on the basis of reports that he might fly to Florida for consultation on the case. Hatcher replied that Wade had not been called in and was not being called.

(He was asked whether Dr. Wade had in any way been connected with the case when Kennedy underwent previous operations on his back. Hatcher said he didn't know but would try to check. He never supplied an answer.

(Today Hatcher said at the time he did not know Dr. Wade was coming to Palm Beach, but learned about it the following day.

(In view of the specific question put to him earlier, and his denial, Hatcher was asked whether he then volunteered an answer.

(He said that he did not volunteer the fact Dr. Wade had been called in.)

Dr. Wade has been consulted previously by Dr. Travell, Salinger said, but he stated he did not know whether this was in connection with the present back ailment or Mr. Kennedy's previous back illnesses.

The press secretary said there were no plans to call in Dr. Wade again.

In response to another question, Salinger said he knew nothing about a report that Mr. Kennedy was lying down when he received a group of callers in the White House living quarters yesterday.

Using his crutches, Mr. Kennedy walked from his living quarters in the White House to his office in the west wing this morning. He planned to have his appointments in his office today. Yesterday he had received callers in a study in the White House living quarters.

His schedule for the next few days is about as usual, although there is no way to tell at this point whether there will be more cancellations.

In addition to the breakfast meeting with the Democratic leaders this morning, the President had a final talk with Prime Minister Fanfani of Italy in midmorning. This conference was held in Mr. Kennedy's office.

After their meeting, the President and Fanfani declared themselves agreed on the need "for strengthening the Atlantic community both as an instrument of defense and in its political and economic aspects."

The President scheduled a meeting of the National Security Council, top cold-war planning group, for this afternoon.

After talking with Mr. Kennedy yesterday afternoon, Salinger told reporters the Chief Executive is feeling much better and believes he is making progress in recovering from the pulled ligament.

"There is definite progress" in the President's condition, Salinger said yesterday afternoon. He said that Dr. Travell had declared she was satisfied with the pace of recovery.

The press secretary said he thought it unlikely that Mr. Kennedy would hold a press conference this week, although no final decision has been made. He said, however, that this had nothing to do with the back strain, indicating it was a matter of the President's schedule.

MRS. KENNEDY PARTY GUEST AT ATHENS SEAFRONT CLUB

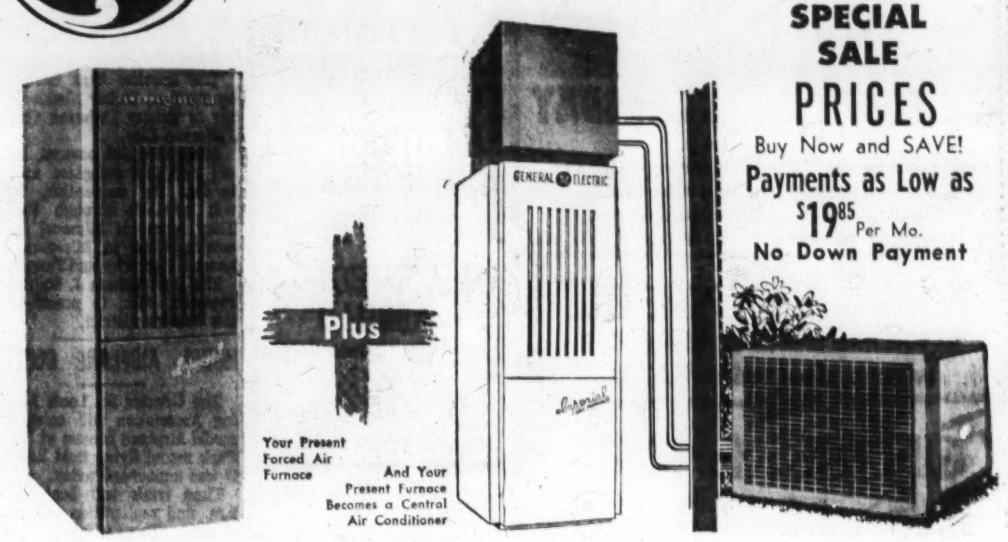

ATHENS, June 13 (AP) — Jacqueline Kennedy danced until 1 a.m. today at a seafront night club looking out over beautiful Saronic gulf off Athens. She was the guest of Mrs. Constantine Karamanlis, wife of Greece's Prime Minister, for dinner and the evening of dancing.

Other guests were Prince and Princess Stanislas Radziwill, Mrs. Kennedy's brother-in-law and sister; Mr. and Mrs. John Mowinckel of the United States Embassy in Paris; Arkady Gerney of New York, a long-time friend of Mrs. Kennedy and her sister, and Dimitros Helmis, governor of the National Bank of Greece.

GOV. DALTON SPEAKS AT LUTHERAN SESSION

Christians should concern themselves with government, Missouri Gov. John M. Dalton told a meeting of Lutherans today at Concordia Theological Seminary, Clayton. He spoke at the opening session of the convention of the Western district of the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod.

"Christians with dedication should turn to government as a cause to serve," Gov. Dalton said. "Government must be another sphere of interest in which men may help their fellow men."

Churches should "encourage their people to assume public responsibilities with a sense of mission to serve on behalf of God," he continued.

"I hope this seminary and other Christian colleges will offer courses in Christian statesmanship."

The speaker was introduced by the Rev. Walter Niedner, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Jefferson City.

More than 900 pastors, teachers and lay delegates are attending the convention, which will continue through Friday. They represent Missouri Synod congregations in Missouri, Arkansas, Kentucky and Tennessee.

MODEL AIRPLANE CONTEST

The Greater St. Louis Modeling Association will conduct a model airplane contest at Buder Park model flying field Sunday, it was announced today.

Time trials will begin at 8 a.m. and registration will close at noon. There will be an entry fee for each event and trophies will be awarded to the winners.

B-58 PRACTICE TO CAUSE SONIC BOOMS IN CITY

St. Louis must be prepared for periodic sonic booms beginning next month when B-58 Hustler bombers of the Strategic Air Command's Forty-third Wing pass over the city on simulated bombing missions, it was announced today.

A briefing session will be held June 29 at Park-Plaza Hotel by SAC officers, who will explain that the passing of the Hustlers, at supersonic speeds and 50,000-foot altitude, will be accompanied by sonic booms. No damage to windows is expected, SAC officers said.

The exercises will be along a 40-mile wide corridor from Shreveport, La., northward. Flights will be both in daylight and at night, and a radar bomb scoring unit will be installed at the Engineers Depot in Granite City. The number of planes involved and the duration of the test missions were not stated. The Forty-third Wing is stationed at Carswell Air Force Base, Fort Worth, Tex.

New hearing aid challenges detection from front or rear!

FITS ENTIRELY WITHIN THE EAR

Imagine a hearing air so tiny a dime covers it . . . so advanced it packs full hearing performance in a single unit that fits entirely within the ear . . . unseen from front or rear.

Impossible Not now. Otarion, inventors of the eyeglass aid, have perfected a masterpiece in miniature—the hearing Normalizer. It weighs less than 3/8 of an ounce, operates on tiny transistors. No wires, tubes, battery packs. Everything . . . everything . . . fits snugly, completely within the ear to provide more normal, relaxed hearing comfort and pleasure. It's the Ear Canal Aid.

This revolutionary new hearing device also contains an exlusive Otarion feature—an acoustic labyrinth chamber that produces startlingly clear, life-like tones.

The Normalizer has the gain and power to correct the hearing impairments of hundreds of thousands. And yet it challenges detection. You may wear it and your closest friends not realize it . . . unless you tell them.

If you'd like complete information on the Otarion Normalizer, just write Otarion Listener Laboratories, 4300 Post Road, Ossining, New York.

SCHOOL LEVIES TO BE CUT IN 4 COUNTY AREAS

School tax rates in the Parkway Consolidated, Maplewood-Richmond Heights, Eureka R-6 and Brentwood school districts will be reduced as a result of increases in real estate assessments there, school officials said yesterday.

Officials in other districts said tax rates would remain unchanged, because their levies had been set in expectation of increased assessments.

Increased real estate valuations in 10 of the county's 28 school districts were announced Saturday by James W. Hopkins, director of revenue for St. Louis county.

$59,022,930 Rise.

The new valuations, ranging from a 43 per cent increase in total assessments in the Parkway district to less than 6 per cent in the Wellston school district, increased the real estate valuations in the 10 districts $59,022,930 over the 1960 figure.

State law requires counties to reduce their school tax rates proportionately when reassessments result in more than a 10 per cent increase in total property valuation.

Attorneys for school boards in the county said that, although the law is unclear with regard to individual school districts, practice had been to reduce tax rates to bring in about the same amount of revenue.

Rate to Be Adjusted.

C. W. Farnham, school superintendent of the Parkway district, said the present rate of $3.25 for each $100 in assessed valuation will be adjusted by the board at its meeting June 21.

The tax rate in the Maplewood-Richmond Heights district, which presently is $3.39 for each $100, will be reduced by the board this month or next, Superintendent Milton H. Bierbaum said. Total real estate assessments increased about 19 per cent in this district.

Tax rates in the Eureka R-6 and Brentwood districts, currently $3.25 and $3.39, respectively, will also be reduced, school officials there said. Assessments increased about 24 per cent in each district.

University City Unchanged.

Robert S. Gilchrist, superintendent of the University City school district, said the present rate of $3.74 will remain unchanged, since the expected increase in assessments was taken into consideration before presenting the tax rate for voter approval. Assessments increased about 8 per cent there.

The rate for taxpayers in the old West Walnut Manor district, now a part of the Jennings school district, will remain unchanged at $2.77, since the rate was based on expected increases, Arthur Wehmeier, superintendent, said.

D. D. McKenzie, superintendent of the Pacific R-6 district, said the rate of $3.25 would remain unchanged, since the section of the school district where reassessments occurred was small in relation to the entire district.

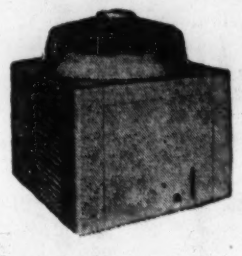

Officials in Webster Groves and Wellston school districts declined to speculate on school board actions. Total assessments rose about 26 per cent in the Webster Groves district, where the tax rate is $3.59. Assessments rose about 6 per cent in Wellston, where the rate is $3.06.

Officials of the Maryland Heights district could not be reached.

Two Youths Who Admit Killing Seven Expect to Be Executed

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SALT LAKE CITY, June 13—Two teen-agers who have admitted killing seven persons in Florida, Tennessee, Illinois, Kansas and Colorado said yesterday they expect to be executed for their crimes.

They would prefer to die in the electric chair, they said. Prosecuting officials were to meet here today to thresh out the question of which of the five states will get the first chance to try the youths for murder.

George Ronald York, 18 years old, Jacksonville, Fla., and James Douglas Latham, 19, of Mauriceville, Tex., told reporters that killing seven persons "was a pretty easy thing to do."

"We wanted to put them out of their miseries," York said of the victims, who included two Illinoisans, Albert E. Reed of Litchfield and George Drenovac, who lived on U.S. Highway 66 Bypass near Chain of Rocks Bridge, in Madison county.

"The only two I felt sorry for—I thought they were halfway decent—were the railroad men in Illinois and Kansas," York said.

This was a reference to Reed, who was a radio repairman for the Gulf, Mobile & Ohio Railroad, and Otto Zeigler, roadmaster for the Union Pacific Railroad, who was killed in Wallace county, Kan.

Neither York nor Latham had been in trouble before entering the Army, and they blamed the military service for touching off the spree of killing and robbery. They said they were harassed in the Army. They said they did not like being ordered around.

Both were in the stockade at Fort Hood, Tex., serving six-month sentences, York for being absent without leave and Latham for stealing $40 from another soldier. They escaped May 24 and three days later robbed and beat Edward J. Guidroz near New Roads, La., leaving him for dead.

They thought they had killed the man, so they felt it did not matter how many more persons they killed, they said. "After one, we had nothing to lose," remarker Latham, who has a tattoo proclaiming "I hate the world" on his right arm.

From New Roads, they went to Jacksonville, Fla., where they killed two women from Valdosta, Ga., on May 29. Then they drove to Aiken, S.C., where they attempted to rob a man, but failed. They fired four revolver shots at him as he fled in his car.

Their next victim was a 71-year-old railroad porter at Tullahoma, Tenn., last Wednesday. The following day they arrived in Madison county, Ill., where they killed Reed, after he offered them a ride in his car, and Drenovac, a filling station operator who resisted their robbery attempt. Reed was shot to death and Drenovac was beaten to death.

Heading west, they drove to Wallace county, Kan., in Reed's sedan, killing Ziegler Friday. From there they went to Craig, Colo., where they shot and killed an 18-year-old waitress. The next day they were arrested at a roadblock on U.S. Highway 40 near Grantsville, Utah, after a sheriff recognized the car as the one being sought in connection with the Illinois and Kansas killings.

"We knew we would get it eventually," York commented. "That was what we wanted—to get out of this stinking, lousy world.

"We killed together and we'll die together."

MAN OVERCOME BY SMOKE FROM FIRE IN APARTMENT

John A. Teeters, 56 years old, a house painter, was overcome by smoke early today as fire swept through his first-floor apartment at 3712 Olive street.

Teeters was found semi-conscious on the floor of his apartment by acting Fire Captain Charles J. Willis. Firemen said the blaze was caused by smoking in bed. Damage was estimated at $100 to the building and $50 to its contents.

Traffic was disrupted in the 3700 block of Olive for about 30 minutes after 7:15 a.m. Teeters remained at City Hospital for observation.

LORD HOME TO FLY TO U.S. FOR CONFERENCE WITH RUSK

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Lord Home will fly to Washington tonight to confer with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, diplomatic informants said today.

Lord Home is scheduled to spend only a few hours in Washington tomorrow morning, informants said.

No new development prompted the British foreign policy chief to come to Washington in a hurry, diplomatic informants said. Lord Home, they said, has planned to go to Boston to attend a Harvard celebration and will use this opportunity to come first to Washington for a brief conference with Rusk.

Grand Piano Litterbugs Fined.
POOLE, England, June 13 (UPI) — Five students who pushed a grand piano over a 100-foot cliff told a court yesterday, "We had nowhere else to put it." They were fined $2.80 each for littering a public place.

Is I.W. Harper too good for everyday use?

Since it was first distilled way back in 1872, millions have been enjoying I. W. Harper as their everyday whiskey. They will settle for nothing less. One taste of this Prized Kentucky Bourbon—in either the 100 Proof Bottled in Bond or the mellow 86 Proof—will convince you, too, that its unique pleasure should not be reserved for special occasions alone. And you will find—perhaps to your surprise—that I. W. Harper is exactly the same price as "next best" whiskies. Clearly, there is no reason to deny yourself the pleasure of I. W. Harper whenever you drink!

ANOTHER BIG REASON BEHIND THE BIG BOOM IN FORD SALES:

America's National "Open" champ is mighty like a Thunderbird!

One quick look at the beauty above . . . then one quick trick behind the wheel . . . and you'll know why the '61 Ford Sunliner is America's all-time, top-down, favorite convertible.

Here's a special brand of magic-in-motion that's a Ford exclusive . . . yours to command in the car that got its thunder from the fabulous Thunderbird. Caged under that sleek hood is a mighty Thunderbird V-8 engine . . . created by the world's foremost maker of V-8's. The Sunliner's road-ruling punch is equaled only by the famous Thunderbird itself.

And like all '61 Fords, the fun-loving Sunliner is beautifully built to take care of itself. It goes 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications—4,000 miles between oil changes, its brakes adjust automatically . . . because the '61 Ford gives you features today that most other cars can only plan for the future.

Got an urge to surge ahead this summer . . . but saddled with a sluggish car? Then, it's time to STOP wasting money on tired transportation. SWAP your present car for a bustling new '61 Ford (and do it now while sales are at a 32-year high and trade-ins are way up). Start to SAVE tomorrow with the car that's built to take care of itself—the '61 Ford! FORD DIVISION, Ford Motor Company

3 BOY EXPLORERS HURT IN 100-FOOT FALL DOWN CLIFF

FORT LEE, N.J., June 13 (AP) — Three boys wandered away from their school picnic yesterday to explore the Palisades, a rocky cliff that faces the Hudson river.

They thought they saw the ruins of a stone fort below them. One by one they started to climb down the sheer rock face, and one by one they fell more than 100 feet to loose shale below.

They all escaped with their lives, but Thomas Nappo, 11 years old, suffered severe head injuries and facial cuts.

Charles W. Lapp Jr., 10, broke his nose, and Dennis Patey, 11, suffered scratches.

Dennis went home, changed clothes and went out to play without telling his parents about the accident. When his mother, informed of the fall, demanded to know why Dennis was silent, he replied, "I didn't say anything because I didn't want to get anybody scared."

TWO YOUTHS IN STOLEN AUTO CAUGHT IN HIGH SPEED CHASE

Two youths were arrested in a stolen automobile early today after a high speed chase in St. Louis and St. Louis county, police said. One of them, Phillip Grotpeter, 17 years old, was charged with five traffic violations. His 15-year-old companion was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Police said the pair admitted stealing an auto from a used car lot at 7126 Manchester avenue for a "joy ride." They were seen traveling at a high rate of speed by Brentwood Patrolman Bill Mayer.

Mayer fired two shots and sounded his siren in a chase that reached 80 miles an hour. He was joined by St. Louis Patrolman Robert Hormberg in the 7000 block of Southwest avenue. The youths were captured when Grotpeter, the driver, lost control on Ecoff avenue, police said. The machine crashed into a wire fence. Grotpeter, who lives in the 6900 block of Dale avenue, and the other boy, were uninjured.

HOT ROD MOORE FINED $30 FOR SPEEDING IN CRESTWOOD

Robert H. (Hot Rod) Moore was fined $30 and costs last night by Police Judge Norbert J. Jeffery in Crestwood after Moore pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding. Moore has been arrested many times for traffic violations.

He was arrested early May 13 in the 9600 block of U. S. Highway 66, when driving 75 miles an hour in a 40-mile zone. He said he was unemployed, and was taken to the St. Louis county sheriff's office, booked and released on bond.

In police court last night he pleaded not guilty to the original charge of careless and imprudent driving. After a conference between his attorney and Crestwood counsel, the charge was changed and Moore pleaded guilty.

MAN RUN OVER BY OWN AUTO, WIFE IS ARRESTED

John Rathbone, 1908 Clark avenue, was in serious condition today at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, with injuries suffered Sunday when he was run over by an automobile when sleeping in the 600 block of Pennsylvania avenue, East St. Louis.

His wife, Ann, was booked suspected of reckless driving and released on $1000 bond. Rathbone who suffered serious head and chest injuries and severe lacerations of the right arm, told police that he and has wife had been drinking heavily in a hotel and that she left.

Rathbone said he followed her outside and went to sleep on the street. Police said his car dragged him about 55 feet.

TAX DATA FOR ROADS INQUIRY

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP) — President Kennedy ordered yesterday that tax returns for 12 years be opened for inspection by the House Public Works Comittee in its investigation of the federal highway aid program.

The committee will have access to income, excess profits, estate or gift tax returns for the years 1950 to 1961, inclusive.

Mill Creek

University for expansion of its campus extends eastward from Grand boulevard to Channing avenue, with Laclede avenue as the southern boundary and the northern line extending almost to Lindell boulevard. It comprises two parcels, for which the university was to pay 55 and 60 cents a square foot.

This price actually is slightly more than is being charged other developers buying nearby parcels, it has been pointed out.

In other slum clearance projects, the Supreme Court noted, existing churches and schools generally are considered improvements and are allowed to expand into redevelopment areas if their expansion will have an unlifting effect.

St. Louis University is not the only church-affiliated institution permitted to buy land in the Mill Creek area, the court noted, citing the Christian Board of Publication and the Y.M.C.A. as other redevelopers.

The Christian Board of Publication, which is the publishing house of the Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ), already has taken possession of 1.4 acres near Jefferson avenue and Pine street and is spending $3,400,000 for an addition to its plant, an arcade, a sunken garden and other improvements.

The court noted that the Land Clearance Authority in mapping the Mill Creek area for redevelopment had designated the tract ultimately sold to St. Louis University as grounds for "public and semi-public" use, with residential use as an alternative. It concluded that the authority used the phrase "semi-public" to indicate such uses as hospitals, schools, churches and other institutions not publicly owned but which serve the public.

No one else ever made an offer to buy the tract on which St. Louis University bid, the court continued, adding: "It is significant that other redevelopers, including the two largest who are developing adjoining tracts, have intervened and are asking that the sale to the university be approved for the benefit of the whole project and the success of their own redevelopments, which are both residential and commercial."

Russian Cuts British Visit.

LONDON, June 13 (AP)—Russia's minister of culture, Mrs. Ekaterina Furtseva, has cut to two days a scheduled four-day official visit to Britain beginning today. The only explanation offered by the Soviet embassy to the Foreign Office was that she had to get back quickly to Moscow.

DO MEN LOOK YOUNGER TODAY? This Hollywood actor used to look old and gray. Now his hair looks young again. All he does is use Herbold Pomade as his regular hair dressing.

Amazing Creamy Pomade

Tones Down Grayness Hair Looks Young Again

There are rich rewards today, for alert knowledgeable men . . . who look young. Don't let gray hair keep you from getting to the top, by making you look older than you are. Not when it's so easy and natural to use Herbold Pomade. You probably use a hair dressing anyway so why not change to Herbold Pomade, the advance modern hair cream that really improves your hair, tones down grayness and keeps your hair young looking, like it did before it turned gray.

Herbold Pomade adds color to gray, streaked, off-color hair so gradually, and blends it so perfectly without changing your natural color, that no one can tell you are using anything but a fine hair dressing.

It's real easy to do at home. Rub a little Herbold Pomade into your hair—(as you do any hair dressing), comb it—that's all! Do this every day for a week—thereafter, once or twice a week. No long complicated directions, no patch tests, no mixing, no timing, no mess or bother. No confusion about shades. Just one Herbold Pomade, adds the right color for your hair.

Not a coal tar dye, tint or rinse. That's why you never have a dyed, artificial look; or a drastic sudden change in your appearance; or grayness next to the scalp.

Herbold Pomade is a wonderful hair conditioner too. Its special Lanolin and fine hair oils are exactly what gray, dry lifeless hair needs, to correct dryness and restore that lustrous, alive, neat look.

So if the years have stolen the natural oils and color from your hair, leaving it dry, dull, drab, streaked, or a lifeless gray—start using Herbold Pomade today. In 1 to 3 weeks your hair will look young again, without grayness. And regular use will keep it that way, for as long as you like. Herbold Laboratory guarantees it!

Herbold Pomade

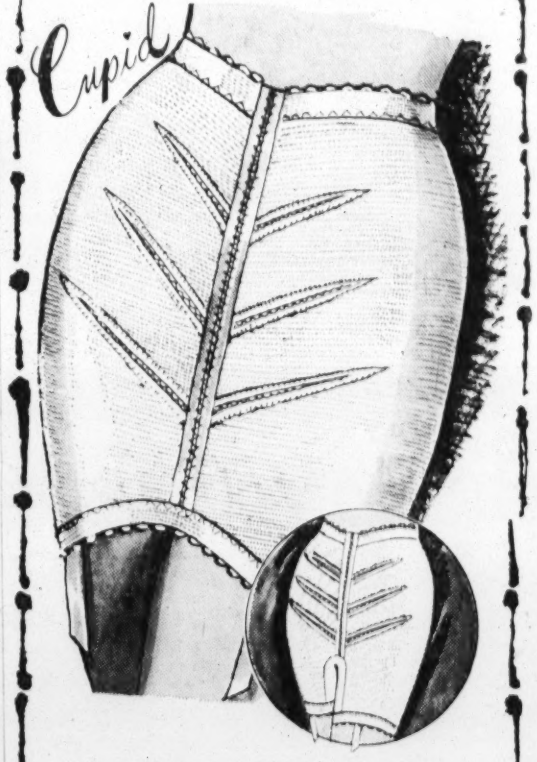

Cream or Liquid

Use Creamy Pomade to condition any hair. Liquid Pomade for normal hair. Both tone down gray hair.

2 MEN PLEAD GUILTY IN SHOE SHOP KILLING

Robert Reynolds and Frank Chapman pleaded guilty of murder today before Circuit Judge William K. Koerner. They were charged with the killing of Isadore Balk last March 18 at Balk's shoe repair shop at 2736 Dickson street.

Reynolds, 21 years old, of the 2600 block of Dickson, also pleaded guilty to three charges of armed robbery. Chapman, 18, of the 3800 block of North Market street, pleaded guilty to one charge of armed robbery.

Judge Koerner continued both cases until July 18 to permit a pre-sentence investigation by the parole office.

Balk, 75, who lived at 7843 Balson avenue, University City, was shot to death in a holdup attempt at his shop. Chapman admitted the holdup, and said he shot Balk when the older man lunged toward him. Reynolds acted as a lookout during the holdup.

Special Assistant Circuit Attorney Henry J. Fredericks said the plea of guilty to the first degree murder charge carried a minimum sentence of life in prison.

He asked the court that in the event the death sentence was not imposed for the murder charge, life sentences be imposed for the armed robbery charges for both men. He also asked that all sentences for both men be made to run consecutively.

Reynolds and Chapman pleaded guilty of armed robbery in the holdup of a filling station at 4710 Washington boulevard last March 14, in which $46 was taken.

In addition, Reynolds pleaded guilty of a holdup at a grocery at 4378 Page boulevard last March 4, in which $30 was taken, and of the holdup of a delicatessen at 401 North Taylor avenue last March 8, in which $34 was taken.

UNIVERSITY CITY COUNCIL HOLDS HEARING ON BUDGET

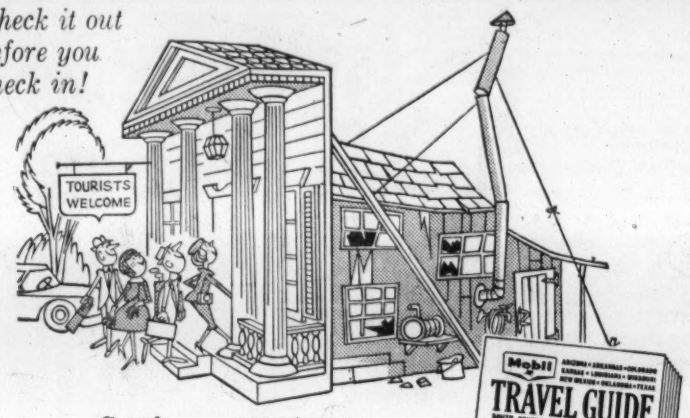

A public hearing on University City's proposed $2,236,639 budget for the coming fiscal year was held by the City Council last night.

Of the nine persons who spoke on the budget, only one objected to the proposed 11-cent increase in taxes, City Manager Charles Henry said. The budget will be brought up for final approval at the June 26 meeting of the council, he said.

The tax increase, proposed to finance an enlarged capital outlay program, would boost the city tax rate from $1.07 to $1.18 for each $100 in assessed property valuation. The new budget is $210,623 larger than the current one.

Sure sign of a forward-looking community

PRACTICALLY EVERY community wants and welcomes new industry. Yet it's surprising how many communities, which devoutly desire new plants, take no steps to protect the availability of their choice industrial sites. Instead of reserving now the most attractive potential plant locations for later industrial use, they thoughtlessly allow these tracts to be gradually "eaten away" by non-industrial installations and uses. As a result, such land is unnecessarily and forever lost for future industrial purposes.

The whole community pays for this neglect. Most new job opportunities in an area are created by industrial expansion. In addition, a new industry in town greatly improves work opportunities in countless other services and professions, too.

Many factors must be taken into account to arrive at a sound, long-range planning program for local industrial development. But all the others are meaningless if the potential new plant can find no place to go. For your own sake, don't let this happen in your community. Do as others are doing throughout the South—protect your community's industrial future by protecting its most desirable industrial sites—now!

FANG, OF POLICE CANINE CORPS, DIES OF THE HEAT

Fang, a member of the police canine corps, died of heat exhaustion yesterday at the police dog training school at Missouri Hills, St. Louis county.

The dog, one of the first German shepherds trained in the department school, had been sent to Missouri Hills while his handler, Patrolman Donald Grober, was on vacation. He was found dead outside a kennel. William C. Djerberg, department veterinary, said an autopsy disclosed that death was caused by heat.

Last July Fang was shot in the shoulder with an air pistol by a boy at Public Schools Stadium. He suffered a superficial wound. On another occasion he presented his paw to Police Judge Morris Rosenthal to demonstrate that he was gentle.

COURT OF APPEALS UPHOLDS BANK IN AUTO REPOSSESSION

St. Louis Court of Appeals today set aside a circuit court verdict in which a jury awarded damages totaling $5300 to William J. Gill in a suit growing out of the repossession of Gill's automobile by the Mercantile Trust Co.

The court ruled that the bank acted within its rights in repossessing the machine because Gill had insufficient funds to cover checks he sent to the bank as mortgage payments.

The ruling reversed a finding for Gill in Circuit Judge Ivan Lee Holt's court on Dec. 18, 1959. A jury found for Gill, who testified he suffered embarrassment and a damaged reputation after the bank seized his automobile on July 2, 1958, for failure to pay a $573 note.

industries rose from 8,855,000 in April to 8,995,000 in May. Last month's level, however, remained 521,000 below that of May 1960.

Gains in Steel, Autos.

Especially important were the large gains in the steel, automobile and fabricated metals industries. Manufacture of transportation equipment, including automobiles, showed a gain of 43,500 in employment in the last month. Fabricated metals were up 25,000 and primary metals, including steel, 19,800. Only other sizable gain was 23,300 in lumber and wood product manufacturers.

Manufacturing of non-durable goods showed a slight gain in employment, making a total increase of 154,000 in the number at work in factories. Usually manufacturing employment drops slightly in May.

Manufacturing employment last month totaled 15,683,000, a drop of 665,000 from a year earlier.

Non-agricultural employment surged upward to 52,536,000 in May, a gain of 481,000 for the month. That is nearly double the usual increase between April and May. The total remained 659,000 below May 1960.

Other Rises.

In addition to manufacturing, major parts of the non-farm economy that showed increases in employment last month and the amount of rise for each, included: Contract construction, 142,000; service and miscellaneous, 72,000; wholesale and retail trade, 45,000; government, 24,000, and transportation and public utilities, 17,000. Most of these gains were largely seasonal, Larson explained.

The Department of Labor official said a significant index of the improving economy was to be found in a continued increase in the number of hours worked by factory employes, which rose for the fourth consecutive month. The total weekly increase over the period has been 48 minutes.

The increase last month totaled 18 minutes, bringing the average number of hours worked each week to 39.6. The level still is 18 minutes lower than that of a year ago.

Weekly Earnings Up.

The increase in number of hours worked, coupled with a one-cent rise in hourly earnings, brought the weekly earnings of factory workers in May to an average of $92.66. That was $1.09 higher than in April and slightly more than $2 above the January level.

The report showed that the number of unemployed Missourians covered by the state's regular unemployment insurance program dropped 10,200 last month, but the number coming under the temporary extension voted by Congress rose by 5300.

The number of Missourians covered by the regular program was put at 49,700. The number receiving benefits under the temporary extension was 11,900.

In the St. Louis area the number of unemployed covered by regular insurance programs dropped from 35,400 in April to 29,000 in May. The number receiving benefits under the temporary extension rose from 4800 to 7900.

DRIVING WITHOUT LICENSES RESULTS IN YEAR SENTENCE

Lewis Cole, 1028 North Leffingwell avenue, was sentenced to a year in the workhouse yesterday for operating an automobile without a driver's license or a motor vehicle license. Sentence was imposed by Judge David W. Fitz-Gibbon of the Court of Criminal Correction on Cole's plea of guilty.

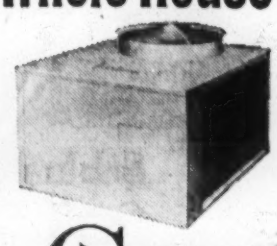

Cole, 31 years old, was arrested May 31 in an automobile with a license plate that had been reported stolen. He had no driver's license. He said he had borrowed the plate from a friend.

He served two 30-day sentences in 1950 and 1951 on similar charges, and also has served three 60-day sentences for stealing, records showed.

MISSING NSA WORKER FOUND AT RACE TRACK

WASHINGTON, June 13 (UPI) — William Hyter Covington, a missing employe of the super-secret National Security Agency, was found yesterday at a Delaware race track, the Defense Department announced.

The 28-year-old Covington, who had been listed as missing for a week, returned to Washington voluntarily and the Defense Department announced this morning that he had resigned "for personal reasons." Pentagon spokesmen emphasized that no charges had been made against him.

Covington and his wife live in Laurel, Md. Sources last week said he had taken leave of absence because of ill health, and was due to return to work last Monday. He failed to do so. When he did not turn up Tuesday, the security agency notified the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Maryland state police.

The agency handles secret code work for the Defense Department. It got into the news last summer when two of its mathematicians disappeared and turned up in Russia. They were Bernon F. Mitchell and William H. Martin. Presumably they still are in Russia.

DISCUSSION OF PROBLEMS OF MENTALLY ILL CHILDREN

Sam Berman, director of Edgewood Children's Center, and Dr. Noami Grant, clinical director of Ellen Steinberg Department of Child Psychiatry at Jewish Hospital, will discuss childhood emotional problems and the mentally ill child Thursday at a meeting of the St. Louis Chapter of the National Organization for Mentally Ill Children.

The meeting, open to the public, will be held at Wohl Center, 1528 North Kingshighway, at 8:30 p.m. The audience will be invited to participate in a question and answer session after the lectures.

State Department Cuts Training In Southeast Asian Languages

By WILLIAM J. JORDEN
© New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON, June 13—The State Department is reducing its training program in the languages of Southeast Asia. Lack of volunteers among Foreign Service officers is blamed for the cutback.

The planned slash comes at a time when Southeast Asia has assumed increased importance in the planning of United States foreign policy. The shortage of American diplomats who have a command of the languages of Southeast Asia has been criticized in fictional accounts and in official reports and studies.

President Kennedy made lack of competence in local languages among United States diplomats a campaign issue. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson returned recently from a trip to Southeast Asia convinced of the importance of American representatives getting into the countryside and associating with local peoples.

Under present plans, the State Department will train only four officers in Southeast Asia languages in the coming year. This represents a 60 per cent cut over the 10 persons currently studing these languages.

Officials hope that the program can be expanded somewhat. A special appeal is planned to career officers in the foreign service to volunteer for language training in southeast Asian languages.

The projected program at the State Department's Foreign Service Institute calls for giving one officer language instruction in Burmese next year, one in Indonesian and two in Thai. None will be trained in Cambodain or Viet Namese.

In the current year the Foreign Service Institute is training two foreign service officers each in Burmese, Cambodian, Indonesian, Thai and Viet Namese.

Only three of 13 foreign service officers in Cambodia now have a limited working knowledge or better of the Cambodian language. None of the foreign service officers in Laos have a working knowledge of Lao and only one has any competence in the Thai language.

In other southeast Asian countries, the number of American diplomats with a minimal working proficiency in the native language is as follows: eight of 25 foreign service officers in Indonesia; five of 14 in Malaya; nine of 24 in Thailand; three of 15 in Burma; and eight of 25 in South Viet Nam.

Officials point out that French is the dominant foreign language in some countries of the area, notably in Cambodia, Laos and Vietnam, and that many of the United States diplomats in those countries have a working knowledge of French. Similarly, English is useful in Burma, Thailand and Malaya.

One of the problems in attracting foreign service officers to devote time to the study of languages in areas like southeast Asia is the widespread feeling among them that such study will mean their assignment for much of their overseas duty time to so-called hardship posts.

SOYBEANS COVER IRREGULAR COURSE

CHICAGO, June 13 (AP)—Soybean futures showed a general tendency to rally today in active transactions on the Board of trade, but the bulges met resistance from profit takers.

The grains were mostly mixed in dull dealings limited to scattered commercial support.

The July soybean contract weakened about mid-day after the prices had advanced around 4 cents. Before the flurry of profit-taking had passed the contract was down 6 cents from the peak. Brokers said the decline of 30 cents over the past five days may have been the attractive consideration in reinstatement of long positions.

Upturn Is Aided by Consumer Spending Rise, Plant Expansions

Rebound of Industrial Output in April Apparently Continued Into May —Steel Production Up

By William H. Kester
Post-Dispatch Business Correspondent

The upturn in business activity so far has stemmed largely from rebuilding of inventories and the increase in governmental outlays. To these expansionary forces now are being added slight increases in consumer spending and expenditures for new plants and equipment.

The rebound of industrial production in April apparently continued into May, reflecting the strong rise in new orders received by manufacturers in recent months. Industrial production in April was about 3 per cent higher than at the low point reached in February and some further increase is indicated for May. Automobile and steel production continued to rise more than seasonally last month. The recent leveling off in steel output precedes the usual easing expected in the summer months.

W. H. Kester

The rise in manufacturing activity reflects the upturn in sales and perhaps some rebuilding of inventories. New orders received by manufacturers rose 8 per cent from the low in January to April. Order backlogs rose as sales were only 5 per cent higher. Increases in defense orders have been substantial.

Total business inventories rose slightly in April, after adjustment for seasonal factors. This was the first increase since mid-1960. Inventories may not have been built up last month. According to the National Association of Purchasing Agents, reductions were noted. This may have resulted from an increase in sales that outran production in some industries, however.

Governmental outlays have been an expanding force, countering reduced damages in other sectors of the economy during the recent recession. First quarter outlays by all governments were at an annual rate of $104,700,000,000, up $2,600,000,000 from the rate in the fourth quarter of 1960. The uptrend continued in the current quarter, economists believe.

Consumer spending rose slightly last month, largely as a result of the faster rate of purchases of automobiles. The increase in May brought retail sales back to the seasonally adjusted level in March and was higher than in December or the first two months of this year.

The pace of retail sales is still slow relative to personal income and the level of sales a year ago. Dollar volume of retail sales last month was 2 per cent less than in May 1960. Personal income, however, is running at a record rate and in April was 2 per cent higher than it was a year earlier.

The slow pace of retail sales relative to income reflects the cautious attitude of most consumers. A recent survey of consumer buying intentions showed some decline in plans to buy durable goods. This caution also is reflected in the slight contraction of consumer credit so far this year, after allowance for seasonal variations.

Capital outlays for plant and equipment are expected by business to be about 2 per cent higher in the third quarter of 1961 than in the present quarter, the United States Department of Commerce reported recently. Virtually all major industries expect a rise in investment from the first half average before the end of 1961. Nondurable goods manufacturers and public utilities plan to expand outlays more than other industries.

MONEY COST TO U.S. OFF FROM 3 MOS. TOP

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP)—Prices of United States government and corporate bonds slipped a shade late today after a steady start.

Over the counter dealers in treasury securities quoted intermediate and long bonds unchanged to off 4/32 in extremely quiet dealings. At the start there were no changes from yesterday's close.

In corporate trading on the New York Stock Exchange rails and utilities were joined in the minus column by top grade investment issues. Industrials dipped a bit from a higher opening.

Volume was running at about the same pace as yesterday. There were relatively few changes amounting to a point or more outside the convertible section.

In the foreign department Southern Italy 5½s gained a bit at 99¼ and New Zealand 5½s lost a fraction at 100⅛.

Rails and utilities appeared to ease slightly while industrials seemed headed upward. Top grade investment issues were irregular.

The treasury's shortest term borrowing costs dipped from a three-month high yesterday after four straight advances. Just two months ago rates at the weekly bill auctions were at their lowest point of the year.

The 91-day bills sold for an average yield of 2.295 per cent compared with 2.516 the previous week while the companion 182-day issue brought an average yield of 2.492 per cent, down from 2.727.

The drop followed the move of rates on outstanding bills late last week. Dealers credited the lower trend to increased purchases by banks which raised prices. The month-long build-up had been credited partly to additional supplies of bills sold by the treasury.

MORE CAR TIRES SHIPPED

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP)—Manufacturers shipped 9,099,881 passenger car tires in April, a 12.6 per cent increase over March, the rubber manufacturers association reported.

Production of passenger car tires in April totaled 7,865,550, a decline of 4.03 per cent from March. Manufacturers' inventories April 30 totaled 24,150,105 tires, a decrease of 4.87 per cent from March.

POUND RISES 3-16 OF A CENT ON CURRENCY EXCHANGE

LONDON, June 13 (AP)—The British pound rose in the London foreign exchange market today.

The pound's dollar value rose by 3-16 of a cent to 2.79 3-16.

Since mid February, when the rate was hovering just above the official parity of $2.80, sterling had been drifting downward in the foreign exchange market.

The reason for the sudden rally was the firm denial yesterday by Per Jacobssen, managing director of the International Monetary Fund, that any governments are thinking about devaluation or revaluation.

TEXTILE MARKETS

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP)—The cotton textile market was quiet Tuesday. Spot sales predominated. There was very little converter interest in forward goods at premium prices asked by mills compared with spot levels.

Light orders for spring 1962 worsteds were reported in the wool goods market. Prices were firm at the Sydney wool auction, with Japan a heavy buyer.

U.S. TREASURY STATEMENT

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—The cash position of the Treasury June 8: Balance $3,073,299,429; deposits fiscal year July 1 $86,113,408,254; withdrawals fiscal year $92,655,710,173; total debt (x)$290,247,239,896; gold assets $17,427,586,251.

STOCKS AGAIN HEAVY; TRADE SLOWS TO CRAWL

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP) — The stock market closed lower today after a very quiet session.

Most leading stocks took losses of fractions to a point or more.

Traders and investors clung to the sidelines, awaiting for the next sharp move to reveal itself. Prices sank because of a drying up of bids rather than selling pressure.

The market was lower from the start in a continuation of yesterday's slow decline. With some exceptions, the list became softer as the session wore on.

Western Union sank about a point in late dealings following news of a stock rights offering. Radio Corp. was down about 2.

Zenith was a 4-point loser as previous big gainers sank under profit-taking.

Volume for the day was estimated at 3,000,000 shares compared with 3,260,000 yesterday.

The averages were weighted to the downside by sharp losses of some pivotal stocks.

On the American Board.

American Stock Exchange late afternoon prices were mostly lower with trading dull. Fairchild Camera was down more than 3, Anken Chemical, Kawecki Chemical and Audio Devices about 2 apiece. Sapphire Petroleum was an active fractional gainer. Technical Operations recouped more than a point. Arkansas-Louisiana Gas and Statham Instruments lost more than a point each.

UNITED ARTISTS CORP. FIRST QUARTER BETTER THAN 1960

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP) — United Artists Corp. told stockholders today that first quarter earnings were more than 11 per cent above the initial three months of 1360.

Chairman Robert S. Benjamin and president Arthur B. Krim said at the annual meeting that the motion picture maker and distributor cleared $879,000, equal to 51 cents a share, compared with $788,000, or 46 cents a share.

They reported that all divisions of the company including Lopert Films, United Artists Records, U. A. A. Television and ZIV-UA-TV were operating at a profit. Future growth is anticipated, the officials said.

The company named eight completed films scheduled for release during the remainder of 1961, 11 due for release in the first half of next year, six scheduled to go into production in the near future for release in the second half of 1962, and seven others scheduled to be made early in 1962 for release during the first half of 1963.

For over sixty years, the Post-Dispatch has presented the news, local, national and world-wide, to the readers in Greater St. Louis. For generations, many St. Louis families have depended on the Post-Dispatch for a fair and independent presentation of the news and events "behind the news." With hundreds of thousands, reading the Post-Dispatch both daily and Sunday is traditional.

A recent study in cooperation with the St. Louis Board of Education showed that the Post-Dispatch is continuing in this traditional reader-accepted role of informing the community. The Post-Dispatch is in widespread use in social studies classes of local schools, helping to analyze and interpret current events and prepare a younger generation to make its own decisions.

What teachers say about the POST-DISPATCH:

"They bring in clippings from the Post as a source of material." ". . . readily available, sparks their interest in events as they happen."
Mrs. Edith Arensman, Cleveland High School

"Introduction to the editorial page; stimulates an interest in local, national and international news—to many, this is a new world."
Jack Langleben, Beaumont High School

Robert James, Sumner High School

"The newspaper has proven a great aid . . ."
Frank Brizzi, O'Fallon Technical High

Miss Henrietta Gibbons, Southwest High School

". . . a rich source of material for understanding problems." "Develops greater pupil interest, initiative and resourcefulness."
Miss Eileen Sherrill, O'Fallon Technical High

Mrs. Beatrice Kornblum, McKinley High School

Miss Nellie Vaughn, Sumner High School

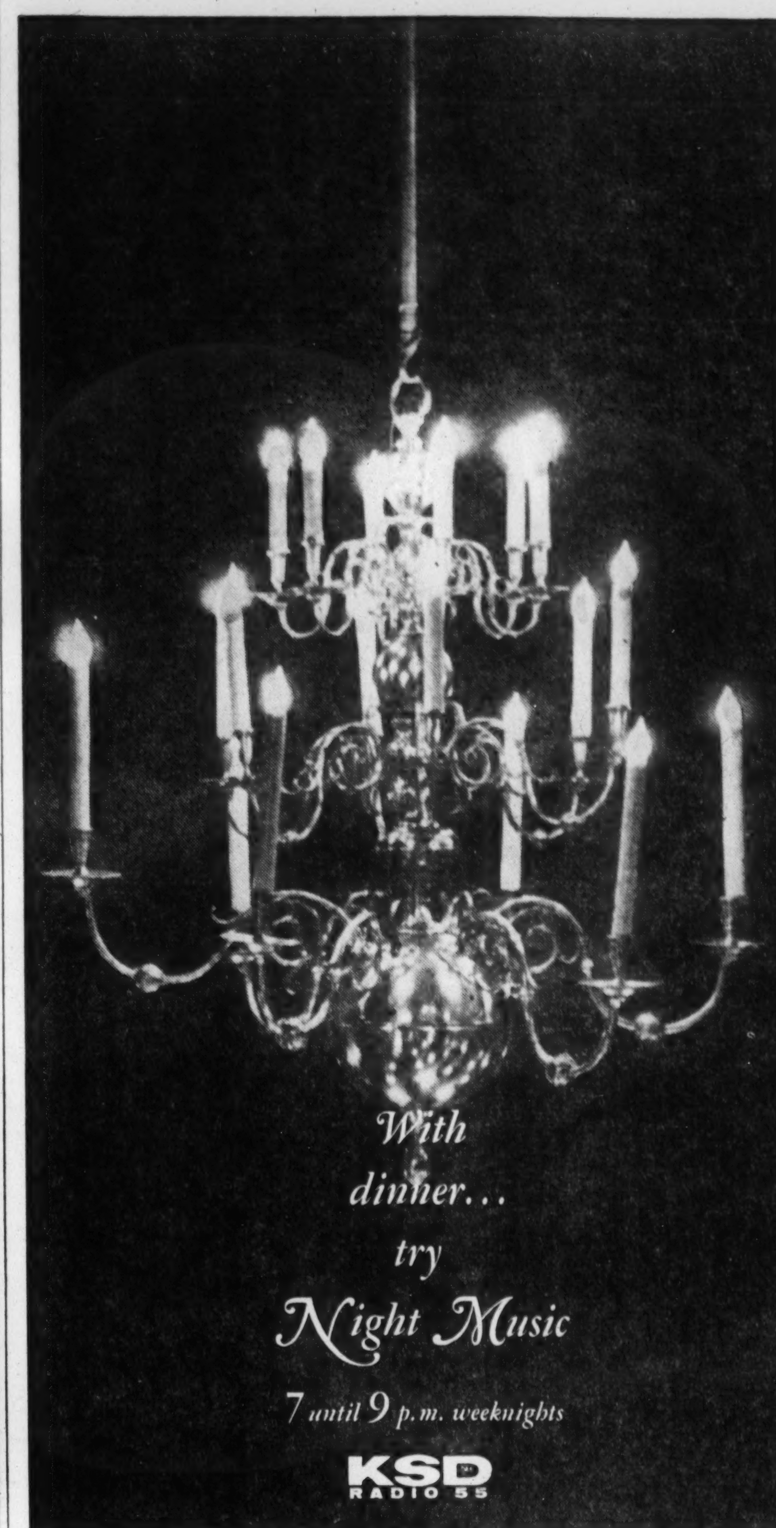

People of all ages read the POST-DISPATCH to inform themselves about both sides of a question or issue . . . information that enables them to make their own decisions.

Sunny and Then Showers Tomorrow

—Associated Press Wirephoto.
Low temperatures and areas of precipitation expected tonight.

Mostly sunny with afternoon cloudiness and showers is the outlook for the St. Louis area tomorrow, the Weather Bureau said. Thursday is expected to be mostly sunny and turning cooler.

Cooler air was reported today in the northern sections of the Plains, Great Lakes, New England and the upper Mississippi valley. Temperatures were in the 90s in eastern Montana, South Dakota, lower Great Lakes and southeast New York.

Thunderstorms were expected to be general throughout the country today except for the area from the western slopes of the Rockies west. Cooler air will tend to subdue the severe activity over the northern Plains, upper Mississippi valley, northern Great Lakes and northern New England states, the Weather Bureau said.

Cooler air was reported to have moved into the northern Rockies, setting off showers from the Black Hills of South Dakota across northwestern Wyoming and eastern Montana. The far west enjoyed pleasant weather with clear skies and temperatures near the seasonal level.

Cooling degree days in St. Louis yesterday, 14; the month, 121; the season, 190.

SEND FOR YOUR FREE SAMPLE OF PINK AIR!

(As we know, there is a strong trend in the gasoline station industry toward adding a coloring ingredient to the air which goes into your tires. Like blue, purple, green, crimson, and others. The reason is: additives have been added to everything else connected with your car. Now it is air's turn. But authorities estimate that it will be ten years before the switchover from ordinary air is completed and colored air is in the hoses.

Meanwhile Fina, an alert young oil company, has staked out Pink Air.© And has started a crash program so they can beat everybody else by five years: the Fina Five Year Plan.)

WE are happy to report some progress. Our Pink Air Research Laboratory at Mount Pleasant, Texas is hard at work on the secret ingredient which will turn air pink. We are still confident that we will be able to get it to our more than 2,000 Fina stations by May 12, 1966. About 4:30 P.M., we figure; some of our trucks don't get around until late in the afternoon.

We will keep you posted.

However, a technical question has been brought to our attention: "How is anybody going to know what Pink Air looks like when it's inside a tire?"

That is a good question and to answer it we will send you a sample as we promised in our last ad. A Free sample.

Naturally, for security reasons* we won't be able to send you any real Pink Air. Besides, what would we mail it in? No, the best answer is a pink balloon, so when you blow it up Regular air will look like Premium Pink.

And there'll be a Fina emblem on it so the next time you're driving down the road and you see it and the station is on your side so you don't have to make a U-turn and there aren't six cars waiting and you need gas or something, please stop in. And see for yourself that our products are just exactly as good as the best.

And when you're through looking at the Pink Air give it to the kids, they'll like it. How many children do you have?

Organized Informers Caused Arrest of Thousands in Wake of Invasion — Gay, Cosmopolitan Havana Is No More.

By R. HART PHILLIPS

NEW YORK, June 13.

TRADITIONALLY, THE FREEDOM-LOVING CUBAN PEOPLE have scorned a "chivato," or informer. But today in Fidel Castro's Cuba, to spy on one's neighbors and denounce them to the authorities is a patriotic duty.

It is this complete reversal of moral values that has brought Cubans face to face with the harsh reality of the totalitarian Socialist rule imposed on them.

The informers, organized in towns, villages and rural communities into Committees for Defense of the Revolution, were responsible for the arrest of the majority of the estimated 200,000 persons jailed after the unsuccessful April 17 invasion by Cuban exiles.

Some of those arrested were active counter-revolutionaries, but most were imprisoned on suspicion. The principal targets were the property-owning and professional classes.

One prisoner in La Cabana fortress, across the bay from Havana, said he had encountered there most of the lawyers and doctors he knew, including his dentist. Also among the prisoners were officers of Castro's army and militia who had been denounced by Castro supporters. Few of the prisoners knew the charges on which they had been arrested.

EARLY IN MAY the government started to slowly release the majority of those jailed in the roundup. However, many were merely transferred from temporary prisons, which had been established in theaters, baseball stadiums, private residences and government buildings, to regular prisons. Thousands are still being held, according to reports.

The invasion and the roundup of suspects accomplished three things:

First, it increased Castro's military strength by giving his followers more confidence and more determination to fight for him.

Second, it was a serious blow to the premier's enemies at home and abroad.

Third, it ended the last hope of American residents of Cuba that relations between the United States and Cuba would ever be friendly as long as Castro remained in power.

It is hard to estimate the percentage of Cubans who support the government. Even the government's bitterest enemies refuse to discuss any aspect of the revolution except with trusted friends.

On the other hand, thousands gather at rallies and cheer Premier Castro deliriously. They listen patiently in driving rain or under a broiling sun to the Premier's speeches, which seldom last less than three hours. They sing and chant revolutionary slogans with evident enthusiasm.

These crowds are composed almost entirely of workers, peasants and students. There is no doubt that most teen-agers and younger children consider Castro the greatest leader in Cuban history. However, it is believed that most of the students at Havana University, where Roman Catholic influence is strong, are opposed to the socialist state.

THE PEASANTS are ardent supporters of the government, although some of them are disturbed by the open embracing of Communism. They find it exhilarating to hear that the revolution is only for them and to see their children clothed, educated and trained for jobs.

Gay, cosmopolitan Havana, once so dear to the hearts of American vacationists, is gone. Today it is a city where armed militia walk the streets and stand guard against saboteurs at what once were privately owned manufacturing plants and commercial enterprises.

The large tourist hotels no longer have an atmosphere of luxurious living. They are filled with earnest-faced, badly dressed delegations of workers, students and peasants from Latin-American or Communist countries.

In the formerly exclusive Miramar residential district, hundreds of homes from which the wealthy and the middle class have fled are occupied by government officials or have been converted into boarding houses for children of workers and peasants who are being educated by the government.

The big private clubs, once centers of social activity of the upper classes, are social centers for the workers.

CASTRO'S MAY 1 proclamation of a Socialist state did not surprise the Cuban people. The Soviet Union and Communist China have always been referred to by the Castro officials as Socialist countries so there were no illusions as to the type of Socialism embraced by the young revolutionary leader.

However, neither Castro's friends nor his enemies believe he will accept orders from Moscow. His conviction that he is playing a leading role in world affairs is too great for that. But it is evident that he has been amenable to suggestions and offers of economic and political co-operation.

Because the Soviet Union is Cuba's only source of petroleum, and since most of the island's all-important sugar crop is destined to be exported to the Communist bloc on a barter basis, the Cuban government depends for its existence on the Communist countries.

Encouraged and supported by the Soviet Union and the other Communist countries, Castro sees only one obstacle to a long and successful rule—the United States.

THE CUBAN EXILES' invasion had hardly been defeated when the Premier began warning the people that United States armed forces would attack the island.

At the same time, the flow of arms from the Communist countries has continued. Castro has repeatedly boasted of the tremendous quantity of arms now in Cuba's possession. It is evident from the armaments that have been displayed by the Castro forces that their value must run into the millions of dollars.

Economists in Cuba have noted that the value of the manufacturing machinery, transportation equipment and other industrial and commercial supplies which Cuba is receiving from the Communist countries seems about equal to the value of the sugar and other products the island is exporting to these countries.

Therefore, they reason, Cuba must be getting the arms free.

Castro is using the alleged threat from the United States as a weapon to crush his opposition. He is fully aware that he does not, as he claims, have the "support of all the Cuban people." But with about 500,000 men and women in the militia, who are subject to regular army discipline and who are armed only when on duty under military orders, he is confident that he can defeat any invasion and crush any possible uprising.

There is every indication that the terror engendered by the recent mass arrests will be maintained by the continual arresting and releasing or trying of those who show no enthusiasm for the revolution. It is unofficially estimated that the Castro government has executed more than 600 persons since it came to power in 1959. The majority of these were officials and collaborators of the Batista regime. But with counter-revolutionary activities now punishable by death, the firing squads are expected to continue in action.

THE UNDERGROUND organizations that have been carrying out terrorism and sabotage against the Castro government for many months were badly

Women Soldiers at Laotian Truce Talks

Algerian Peace Talks Adjourn; No Date Set for Resumption

EVIAN-LES-BAINS, France, June 13 (AP).

PEACE TALKS between the French and the Algerian rebels were adjourned today and no date was set for their resumption.

The French minister for Algerian affairs, Louis Joxe, who headed the French delegation, announced the adjournment after 13 meetings with leaders of the Moslem nationalist revolt.

Joxe said the French delegation "remains ready to seek new contacts" that would permit the negotians to start again.

Today's session had been seen as the crucial one in the three-week-old peace conference. So far neither side had shown any inclination to take the responsibility for a formal breakoff, which would almost certainly bring on the resumption of large-scale fighting in Algeria.

Over the weekend, Moslem terrorists struck again throughout Algeria. Thirteen persons were killed and 54 wounded.

Five persons—four of them Europeans—were killed in terrorist attacks in Oran yesterday. In Algiers a European and a Moslem were killed and six Moslems were wounded when a grenade was tossed into a cafe near the center of the city.

FRENCH EXTREMISTS retaliated last night with three plastic bombs in front of Moslem stores, wounding three persons.

Five persons were injured in a similar incident in Constantine, where a French captain was shot and seriously wounded.

In Paris, 16 persons were wounded, three seriously, by the explosion of a plastic bomb in a hotel in an area housing many African workers. French extremists opposing President De Gaulle's Algerian policy were blamed.

THE FRENCH VIEW has been that, to have a political agreement, fighting has to stop first.

The thorniest problem is the future status of the oil and mineral Sahara. The rebels demand control of the desert and refuse to consider the French claim that the Sahara is not part of Algeria.

Stevenson Sees Dictator In Paraguay

Talks With Stroessner After Assailing Dictatorships.

ASUNCION, June 13 (AP)

ADLAI STEVENSON flies to Chile today after an overnight stop in South America's only nation ruled by a dictator.

President Kennedy's special envoy, the chief United States delegate to the United Nations came to Paraguay after criticizing dictators. However, his meeting with Paraguay's President Alfredo Stroessner, considered the continent's only remaining dictator, was friendly and unstrained.

Their talk, sandwiched in before Stevenson dined with the foreign minister, was brief and details were not disclosed. The Paraguayan government is known as one of the Americas' strongest supporters of United States policy.

LEAVING Rio de Janeiro yesterday, Stevenson told reporters, "We in the Americas don't like dictatorship." Asked why he was going to Paraguay, he replied his trip "was not arranged through personal preference but to visit all 10 capitals in South America."

In Asuncion Stevenson received the warmest public welcome of his tour, now at the halfway point. About 1000 persons greeted him at the airport, and there was a military honor guard and band on hand. For several days the government radio had urged a big turnout for Mr. Kennedy's representative.

Stevenson's brief airport speech was marked by the absence of any mention of President Stroessner. At his previous stops Stevenson not only mentioned the local presidents, but praised them for their contributions to freedom and democracy.

HE WAS APPLAUDED when he spoke of the spirit of independence among the Parguayan people.

Paraguay's political situation was spotlighted by the seizure earlier in the day of three exiled opposition leaders who flew from Buenos Aires in the hope of seeing Stevenson.

Eisenhower Tells of Ordering Training of Cuban Refugees

CINCINNATI, June 13.

GEN. DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER acknowledged yesterday that when he was President he directed that measures be taken to help organize, train and equip Cuban refugees so they could act at the proper time.

He said that when he left the presidency, however, he was not aware of the existence of any specific invasion plan for Cuba. About 1400 Cuban exiles trained and equipped by the United States, but without direct United States participation, undertook the ill-fated invasion of Cuba last April 17 after Gen. Eisenhower had left office.

The former President said he gave the order for the organization, training and equipping of the Cuban refugees on March 17, 1960.

He denied that he had any specific plan to provide air cover for an invasion attempt since there was no exact operation set for such a move. He acknowledged that he had said, speaking generally, that "no amphibious operation could succeed unless it had air cover."

THE FORMER PRESIDENT held a press conference prior to his appearance at a $100-a-plate Republican dinner.

Sunday Representative William E. Miller of New York, new Republican national chairman, said that President Kennedy had "rescinded and revoked" an Eisenhower Administration plan to protect the invaders with this country's air power.

Miller called Mr. Kennedy's alleged action a tragic mistake. He made the statement in a program that was broadcast on 15 television and 39 radio stations in Pennsylvania.

Appearing on the program with Miller was Senator Hugh Scott (Rep.), Pennsylvania, who charged that the invasion had failed because President Kennedy had not provided the Cuban invaders "with American naval forces, American supplies and American air cover."

IN ANSWER to a question about the proposed exchange of tractors for rebel Cuban prisoners, Gen. Eisenhower said that he did not want to be "too critical or too commendatory." As a matter of principle, he said, most people were against blackmail but he said that the proposed swap was "unquestionably a special case."

He noted that President Kennedy had put the prestige of his office behind the proposed exchange and had spoken in favor of it. The former President warned that it would establish a precedent that most Americans would not like.

Gen. Eisenhower expressed the opinion that the United States could not wait much longer for an agreement on a ban on nuclear testing.

He warned that while the talking continues the United States could not be sure that the Soviet Union was not carrying on nuclear tests somewhere in its vast interior.

The time is coming, he said, when the United States will have to fix a date beyond which it will not be bound to abstain from testing.

He said that this country had long been willing to make an arrangement for a ban on nuclear testing so long as it was assured through proper inspection that the Soviet Union was adhering to any agreement that was reached.

By the Associated Press.

SENATOR Thruston Morton of Kentucky, who recently resigned as chairman of the Republican National Committee, was the principal speaker at last night's dinner. He called on the Kennedy Administration to define the boundaries beyond which Communism would not be tolerated.

"If we want peace in our time we must draw the line," Morton said. "I don't know where the line is; the Administration must find it. But we can't stand this constant erosion.

"Tell us your policy. Tell us where to draw the line. We'll measure up. Don't worry about us Republicans."

Gen. Eisenhower made a plea for Republican voices to be heard in constructive criticism.

Another Side of Alabama

After reflecting upon the contents of several of the letters recently published in your paper I feel that a retort to their contents and a censure of the philosophy they expound is absolutely necessary.

The violence in Alabama has been criticized, cursed and condemned, but—forest for the trees—in their self-righteous indignation few of these scripture scribblers and holiness hawkers who have done the criticizing have hardly looked past their own sacrosanct, unprejudiced noses to these facts:

1. The Federal Government has sent a contingent of its armed agents into a sovereign state without either the consent, compliance or request of its Governor or its people.

2. The Federal Government has threatened to send, in addition to its "marshals" (a spurious term at least), federal troops into this state against the will of the people and the governing body.

3. The Federal Government has, for the first time in the history of this country, actually upheld and abetted a minority group. It has used and threatened the use of more force to impose its will upon the people (which is a good sign, if you are an advocate of totalitarianism).

I contend that the people of Alabama were in no small part justified in their stand, just as we were justified in using violence and making war against our oppressors in the Revolutionary War.

When free men anywhere are having their customs, traditions and beliefs despoiled and their rights abridged and there can be no recourse to reason because there are no men of reason to hear, free men have a right and an obligation to use whatever means presents itself to restore their freedom.

These people's rights of association most certainly have been abridged—every man has the right to associate with whom he pleases—and the Supreme Court, President Kennedy or the Federal Government cannot now or ever change this or find a justification for forcing an unwanted association upon anyone, black or white. If this comes to pass we have buried democracy ourselves and saved Khrushchev the trouble.

Ronald R. Stelzleni

Let's Get Going

In almost every newspaper and magazine I read something like this: "U. S. Behind in Space Program"; "Navy Needs More Ships"; "Weapons for Limited Warfare Desperately Needed."

Why doesn't the United States start a crash program and produce these things that are so vital to our survival? If higher taxes are needed, I am willing to dig deeper into my pocket. If sacrifice is what it will take to help defend our country and the ideals for which so many have already given their lives, then sacrifice we must—and willingly.

Also, why don't labor and management take a more responsible position? With featherbedding, strikes, etc., no wonder we're behind. I would like to know which is the most important to some people—a few more dollars in their pocket today, or a free and strong nation tomorrow?

Rolla Lyla Lee Hankinson

Flag Day

On Flag day, June 14, when we are supposed to honor the Stars and Stripes — the symbol of American freedom — I would like to get answers to a few questions.

I am a refugee from Communism, who came to this great country a few years ago. In the country of my birth, Latvia, I learned about great Americans, such as Washington and Lincoln, and that the Americans display their flag proudly. Now that I am here, I rarely see a flag flying, and it is a rare person saluting it. When I ask: "Why?" sometimes I am called a crazy flag waver, and at other times it is explained to me like this: "Why bother? I have nothing special to be thankful for."

In my opinion, there is a lot to be thankful for: Your home, your family, your work, and your church. Please do not take these things for granted. I can testify that all this is impossible under Communism.

Chicago Tedis Zierins

Not Tanks but Carbines

The United States must undertake no more large-scale invasion attempts, for the prestige of the United States cannot sustain another blow, but we can and should continue to spirit stealthily into Cuba under the cover of night bands of Cuban rebels armed not with Sherman tanks but with carbines.

Crisis in Angola

In the face of the chaos that followed lifting of Belgian colonial control from the Congo, it seems strange that Portugal continues to follow a policy in neighboring Angola that could lead to even worse conditions. Perhaps the Portuguese think they have learned a lesson from the Congo; if so they have misread history. They seem determined to cling to their African possession at all costs.

The costs are growing heavier. Last Friday the United Nations Security Council adopted an Asian-African resolution calling on Portugal to "desist forthwith from repressive measures" against Angola natives. The vote was 9 to 0, with the United States one of the nine. Britain and France, which like the United States, are North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies of Portugal, abstained as they not infrequently do on colonial issues.

In siding with the majority the United States continued the policy of the Kennedy Administration to support the Asian-African group—which now numbers 46 of the 99 U.N. members—wherever possible. The bloc was almost solid on this issue. This is another case in which the United States faced a choice between its allies and the new nations. Portuguese blindness in Angola made this particular choice less difficult.

The African-Asian countries charged in the council's debate that 20,000 to 100,000 Angolan natives had been killed by the Portuguese in efforts to suppress the territory's independence movement. Portugal is continuing to send troops into the territory; there are reported to be 15,000 soldiers there now, apparently preparing to move into rebel territory when the rains end. There have been many reports of atrocities by both settlers and natives, and more bloodshed is feared if the troops are sent against the rebels.

Portugal's excuses before the U.N. are weak and illogical. Ambassador Vasco Vieira Garin told the council his government considered the council's action "intervention in the domestic affairs of Portugal." But he also blamed the disturbances in Angola on drug-crazed Communist natives under a Moscow-trained leader, which is saying that the rebellion is directed from abroad and hence is an international conflict, not an internal affair. It cannot very well be both.

Portugal can hardly win world sympathy by refusing to admit U.N. investigators. Such refusal only tends to confirm the worst reports that have come out of the territory. The Portuguese have put into effect a system of forced labor and have done even less than the Belgians did in the Congo to prepare the country for self-government. There is no doubt that reforms are desperately needed.

Although the Portuguese seem intransigent—they have indicated they would ignore the U.N. council resolution as they did the pressure brought by the General Assembly last March—further efforts should be made to bring them around to a course of reason. If Portugal persists in trying to go-it-alone in Angola it can mean only trouble for the mother country as well as the colony. The Russians are talking already of further means of forcing Portugal to abide by the U.N. charter.

Instead of attempting a bloody repression of the uprising, the Portuguese should exercise restraint, institute basic reforms quickly and prepare the country for autonomy. United Nations help should be welcomed. Any other course is not only foolhardy—it invites failure.

The World and Prof. Toynbee

Few are likely to challenge the good sense of Arnold Toynbee's observation that the United States and the Soviet Union could better use the money they spend on rocket research to raise living standards throughout the world. But that presupposes an orderly and sensible world, which is not the one we live in. In our world the United States and the Russians are racing for the moon, which will mean a multi-billion dollar failure for one side or the other and no certain advantage to the winner. Prof. Toynbee regards this as "childish competition." It is childish, for any adult can see that the conquest of space should be a co-operative venture for all the world's people. The world may be divided intramurally into rival nations, but it must be one with respect to space. But all this is quite an effort on a warm summer day; it is easier to be childish.

The Stevenson Mission

Adlai Stevenson has entered the second week of his three-week Latin American trip with two fairly clear impressions of what the Latins are thinking: they want to concentrate on their own economic progress and they do not want to intervene in Cuba.

Our United Nations chief delegate was sent southward to sound out the sister republics on their needs for economic assistance. Undoubtedly he was also expected to assay sentiment for a political meeting of the Organization of American States to consider the Cuban problem. While each nation wants and can make good use of assistance, the evidence so far suggests that the United States had better postpone any OAS political meeting.

Mr. Stevenson was advised in Argentina to adhere to a policy of "live and let live" toward the Castro government—a policy which Mr. Stevenson himself is known to have favored prior to the abortive Cuban invasion attempt. Even Venezuela's government, a target of Castroism, opposed interventionism. Uruguay, with a long tradition of democracy, is even more uninterested. Now Mr. Stevenson has left Brazil with similar advice.

His meeting with the independent-minded Brazilian President, Janio Quadros, evidently was more successful than expected. The two men agreed that the best way to fight dictatorships is through a program to raise living standards. While Mr. Quadros has been critical of United States policy toward Cuba, he made it clear that Brazil would stand with this country in opposing the spread of Communism. Recently the Brazilian President has had his own difficulties on this score, and has had to send troops to a northeastern region where drouth and unemployment fed Communist demonstrations.

Although Mr. Stevenson's trip was planned some time ago, he is following on the heels of Cuba's deputy foreign minister, Carlos Olivares. Mr. Olivares is presumed to be trying to line up Latin American support for a "neutralist" bloc to support Castro's demands for mediation between himself and Washington. Perhaps Mr. Stevenson's greatest task now is the unforeseen one of counteracting the work of his Cuban predecessor.

The Brazilian reaction to the Stevenson mission shows that, however skeptical Latins may be of Washington's policies, they are not ready to play at following any Cuban leadership. In fact, Adlai Stevenson's reception indicates that he has the right approach as well as the right reputation for representing his country in Latin America.

Subversion Cases Reversed

Two new Supreme Court decisions affecting anti-subversive actions tend to limit congressional and state authority slightly without establishing any major precedents.

Acting as "swing man" as he has sometimes before in civil liberties matters, Justice Stewart turned the usual four-Justice minority into a majority which overturned the contempt conviction of Bernard Deutch. The nuclear scientist was subpoenaed before the House Un-American Activities Committee in 1954. He admitted he had been a Communist as a college student, but refused to answer questions about others. Justice Stewart held that the Government failed to prove that the unanswered questions were pertinent to the committee's investigative purpose.

Here the high court did not question the authority of the Un-American Activities Committee, as the court once did in the Watkins case when Chief Justice Warren asked what "un-American" meant. Nor does the Deutch case show that the court is necessarily opposed to investigative questions about a person's associates. Dr. Willard Uphaus and other defendants have been jailed for refusing to "tell on" others. What the case does show is that the court will inspect each contempt issue on its merits, to make certain that unanswered questions were rightfully asked. This is no more than a normal duty in any review of such proceedings.

In a second case, the court unanimously reversed a New York state order removing the Communist party from a list of organizations whose employes are covered by state unemployment insurance. New York state courts had decided that the federal Communist Control Act required such removal. Speaking for the Supreme Court, Justice Harlan asserted that this interpretation was wrong. The effect should make the states more cautious in employing federal subversion laws for their own purposes.

Chronic Hospital Plans

Now that the Aldermen have made a planning appropriation for the replacement of the old Chronic Hospital, authorized in the 1955 bond election, there should be an end to complaints about delay in carrying out this project. After all, the waiting was in line with the recommendation of Mayor Tucker's advisory committee that planning should not be started until the long-vacant post of hospital commissioner was filled—as it was on May 1 by the appointment of Dr. Kenneth R. Nelson.

Had the work been undertaken as soon as the bonds were voted, an institutional structure not greatly different from the one it is to replace probably would have been built. The Mayor's expert advisers, however, recommended a community-type facility, a much more pleasant provision for aged patients.

So the delay was worth while. The planning is only entering the preliminary stage, and alternatives still are open. But it is to be assumed that the work now will be carried ahead speedily in the knowledge that further delay would be a pointless deprivation of those too poorly served in the old structure on Arsenal street.

A Good Move in Air Safety

The Federal Aviation Agency is to be congratulated for reinstituting the pilot reporting program for obtaining data on incidents in which mid-air collisions have nearly occurred. With the need greater than ever for protection against mid-air collisions, the collection and analysis of this data should be of much benefit.

If the FAA had not made a wise revision in the procedure for obtaining data, the system would not have been workable. When the data processing plan first was put forth by the Civil Aeronautics Board in 1956, the reporting pilot was granted immunity from any board action. This led to some pilots making reports primarily to gain immunity when they obviously were at fault. As a result the new Federal Aviation Agency announced in 1959 that any near-miss data filed by any pilot might be used against him if he were at fault. The result was that the reports, which had shown a greater hazard to airliners than had been suspected, dropped to a trickle.

Now, as a result of the FAA contracting with the Flight Safety Foundation, a non-profit agency, to gather and process the reports on a confidential basis, there need be no fear of incurring a penalty through a report. The Flight Safety Foundation has an excellent record for advancing safety on the airways. At the end of the stipulated six-month period the Foundation should make a substantial contribution to safer airways.

Since it will be several years before all the necessary navigational equipment for the airways can be manufactured and put into operation, it is to be hoped that the Foundation will have much success in its mission of developing an educational program to reduce the collision hazard.

First Questions First

The State Highway Commission ought to determine whether the public interest requires connecting the Third street highway and the Daniel Boone expressway in the vicinity of the proposed new Poplar street bridge.

We think the clear sense of the situation requires such a connection. And we think too that the Commission's decision in the first instance should be based on a broad judgment of needs rather than on purely engineering or administrative considerations.

The question for the Highway Commissioners, as indeed also for the City Plan Commission, is: Should these two highways be connected? If the answer is Yes, then the Commissioners ought to order their engineers to produce an acceptable solution to the engineering problems, which we concede may be considerable. A spokesman for the engineers has already declared it would be "virtually impossible" to connect the two expressways, but this does not foreclose a solution. What is "virtually impossible" may be possible.

At the moment, however, the question of whether it is physically possible to join the highways is secondary. The key word is "should," not "can." After that comes "how."

"IS THAT YOU AGAIN?"

Confession of an Ex-Conservative

European Experience Convinces Him That Governments Should 'Tax and Tax, Spend and Spend'

Edwin L. Dale Jr. in The New Republic

It is always a kind of macabre pleasure to confess error. As a one-time conservative in the United States who has lived a while in the economic atmosphere of Western Europe, I should like to indulge the pleasure.

The dazzingly simple lesson from Western Europe appears to me this: The way to achieve the best of all possible economic worlds (rapid economic growth, full employment, stable prices, favorable balance of payments, more investment, no recessions, more consumption, better living standards) is to spend as much government money as possible, and make sure that the amount the government spends rises rapidly each year.

The reason for this is not that government spending is inherently better than private spending, though that may be true. The reason is that a very high level of government spending, no matter where the money goes, assures a very high level of demand. And a high level of demand is the open sesame to everything else.

It means full employment. It gives the incentive for more investment in plant and equipment. It means operation of plants at efficient level. It means relatively stable prices and competitiveness in export markets. It permits higher wages without inflation as productivity rises rapidly.

Let us look for a moment at the "economic miracle" of Germany. Its creators have misled the world about it. Dr. Erhard says it came about because Germany let loose the creative forces of private enterprise. True enough, and perhaps that helped. But what Dr. Erhard does not say is that West German taxes and spends (and elects and elects) 34 per cent of the gross national product—the highest in the non-Communist world. This figure compares with only 26 per cent in the United States, state and local taxes and spending included. By the test of the National Association of Manufacturers, or even the Committee for Economic Development, West Germany is not conservative but radical.

—Herblock in The Washington Post.

"Men, I Think There's a Better Way to Use Them"

Now let us look at the one laggard in continental industrial Europe. It is Belgium. Belgium spends only 23 per cent of its GNP through government. Britain is the other laggard in this part of the world. It spends only 28 per cent. More important, it is constantly taking measures to restrict demand, through credit control.

France, Sweden and Austria have practically nothing in common except one thing: They spend, and they grow.

Now a couple of qualifications. The first is that there must be some reasonable relation between government receipts and spending. Many governments in Europe run chronic "deficits" in their budgets by American accounting standards—which helps account for their success—but they cannot safely permit spending to run away from receipts without inflationary trouble. France showed that before 1958. European governments spend enormously—but they also tax enormously.

The second concerns the "mix" of taxation. Judging strictly from results—and leaving out the theory—it seems there is merit in "soaking the poor."

This is not as harsh as it sounds. What it means in practice in Western Europe is far greater reliance than in the United States (or Britain) on a set of taxes that indirectly hit the poor man hardest: excise and sales taxes of all kinds, turnover taxes, tax-on-value-added, heavy employer social security contributions. These taxes are collected in prices, and thus from consumers. They do not "raise prices" unless they are increased. But they do soak the poor, relatively.

A final point. Why isn't very high government spending, and the resulting constantly high pitch of demand, "inflationary"? The answer is: It is inflationary, but only very mildly so now, in contrast with the first seven or eight years after World War II when there was a worldwide chronic excess of demand over supply. European prices have risen, as American prices have risen. Since the Korean War, however, European prices on the whole have risen no faster than American, and in some cases they have risen less, despite much higher spending.

The point is that the world now has a large and elastic supply to meet higher demand; thus it is a world in which demand can not only be profitably increased but, within reasonable limits, safely increased.

What Wave? From The New York Times

The basic similarities of totalitarian ideologies of the Right and of the Left have again been vividly demonstrated by Generalissimo Franco's latest speech. The Spanish dictator lashed out at Western policy, capitalism, liberalism and democracy, the favorite targets also of Communist totalitarian leaders. And to complete the parallel, the Generalissimo announced that his form of dictatorship is the wave of the future, thus echoing a theme of which Premier Khrushchev never tires. Hitler and Mussolini, too, we may recall, used to make similar speeches before they were swept into history's dustbin.

Generalissimo Franco gave a clue to what is troubling him in his veiled attacks upon the United States and President Kennedy. Apparently our new President's liberalism bothers the Spanish dictator and makes him wonder about the future of this country's attitude. If it were not so pathetic, the notion of Franco Spain representing the wave of the future would be comic. Perhaps it would be most charitable to assume that the Generalissimo decided to sound this shopworn totalitarian theme again because he had nothing constructive or useful to say about means for solving Spain's great internal economic and political problems.

Between Book Ends Bitter, Barren, Bright

MASKS, by Barry J. Titus. (Knopf, 246 pgs., $3.75.)

Masks is an adventure story heavy with symbolism. It concerns a disillusioned Frenchman who seeks the simplicity of a primitive society only to find there a repetition of the human betrayal from which he had fled.

The tale is unfolded by an insurance investigator who goes to the Marquesan Islands about a hundred years ago to explore the recent mysterious disappearance of a business man named Emil Vallon. He finds Vallon's diary and interviews a number of witnesses.

Vallon went to St. Poix to buy exotic native hand-carved religious objects and ceremonial masks. In his pursuit of them, he abruptly leaves the French colony to join the primitive Marquesans, even undergoing painful trial to marry a native princess, who somehow symbolizes the elemental virtues.

The investigator is hampered because each of the witnesses explains Vallon's actions in terms of his own motives and philosophy and because Vallon's diary, partially written while the Frenchman was drugged, is considered unreliable. Nevertheless, he pieces together the description of a man empty of values who believes he at least will find a positive human contact in his jungle Eden. He enjoys a brief happiness, but is ultimately betrayed when his primitive princess proves as coolly calculating as any habitue of a Parisian salon. With this final proof of the worthlessness of all humanity, Vallon turns—in literal, barbaric fashion—into Death, enemy and destroyer of man.

This is young (23) author Titus' first book. He cannot resist a rather flamboyant playing with words and his characters seem uncomfortably suspended somewhere between fantasy and reality.

However, he succeeds in projecting his bitter, barren view of society with a bright talent and moves his story briskly to its fantastic conclusion.

THE HAPPY LAGOONS, by Jorgen Andersen-Rosendal. Translated from the Danish by Eiler Hansen and J. F. Burke. (Holt, Rinehart and Winston, 272 pgs., $5.)

Here are personal experiences of an author rather than a guide to the South Seas. Now and again there are useful fragments of information, however, and one does eventually get some feeling for the Tongans. The meeting with Queen Salote and the efforts to bring it to pass are the highlights.

Mr. Andersen-Rosendal is a wanderer. If he weren't, this tale would have ended up as an article instead of as a book and we would never have learned about the neurotics and the bores one can meet while traveling from Copenhagen to Tonga. But as light summer reading this may be all right.

To Spread or Curtail Nuclear Arms?

LONDON.

THE UNITED STATES WILL SOON BE engaged in two secret negotiations with two different interlocutors and two wholly opposite objectives. In fact the aims of these dual efforts are self-contradictory. "Curioser and curioser," one might say with Alice, but a compelling logic lies behind this paradox.

The ultimate goal of the first negotiation, with our allies and above all France, would be to spread deadly nuclear-missile weapons. The ultimate goal of the second negotiation, with Russia, would be to prevent the spread of just those weapons. And, one might say, the choice as to which of these courses becomes United States policy rests with Mr. Khrushchev. President Kennedy has taken a firm stand against fixing any deadline for the talks on ending atomic tests now deadlocked in Geneva. But he is obviously disturbed by Soviet obduracy.

Sulzberger

The last hope is that Khrushchev can be persuaded to agreement by arguments advanced by Ambassador Thompson after returning to Moscow.

Concurrently, however, one may assume Washington will now seriously study means of military modernization. No step need be taken to implement this unless the Geneva talks have to be written off.

French Warheads.

Mr. Kennedy wishes to avoid proliferation of atomic missiles. Nevertheless, if Moscow refuses to budge, we shall some day have to move. The question is how to move swiftly if we must.

It would be possible to supply France with missiles and guidance systems for missiles without congressional approval required for atomic warheads under the MacMahon act. Furthermore, De Gaulle's small nuclear program will, in the predictable future, enable France to provide its own warheads.

There have been arguments against giving the French missile or guidance system secrets. However, experts generally admit Russia is already ahead of us in guidance as well as propulsion, so little security risk is involved. George Blake, the convicted English spy, had already leaked information on this subject to the Russians.

While potential help for France is under study, no decision will be taken until we see what Mr. Khrushchev intends to do about a test ban. But pressure continues to gather for ending the moratorium on tests.

Untested Weapons.

It is feared, on the one hand, that Russia may be secretly violating the moratorium with underground explosions, thus gaining an edge in development of low-yield (tactical) warheads and on warheads for defensive anti-missile missiles. On the other hand, some experts claim we needlessly penalize our own development of such devices.

For example, the warheads for Polaris medium-range missiles, prize weapon of our submarines, have never been adequately tested; nor have the warheads for anti-missile Nike batteries.

Retired officers demanding resumption of tests include Admirals Radford, Stump and Morrell and Generals Wedemeyer and Almond.

Russian Recalcitrance.

Mr. Kennedy has so far resisted such pressures but Mr. Khrushchev's recalcitrance makes this increasingly difficult. Should we be forced by his recalcitrance to end the moratorium, one swift consequence would almost surely be the furnishing to France and other NATO countries of new missiles systems.

Time is running out. The option between the two contradictory policies is bound eventually to expire even despite the absence of a formal deadline.

It will be necessary for NATO's new defense plan, scheduled for approval next December to reckon on more and more modern weapons systems unless Russia accepts a nuclear accord.

By MYLES STANDISH

"Calamity Jane," which opened Municipal Opera's forty-third season last night, is a problem show. The problem is not in the plot. The problem is only in how long it is going to take the heroine, one of the original girl scouts—for the cavalry, that is—to get in the arms of another famous Western character, Wild Bill Hickok. But the real problem is how a pleasant, amiable show, yet one without a definite punch or a definite charm in the right places, can be changed into a real smasheroo, the exhilarating hit it ought to be.

This first outdoors stage production of a 1953 movie musical (its indoor premiere took place at a theater in the round in Fort Worth a couple of weeks ago) has a lot going for it. Certainly Edie Adams in the title role couldn't be better. She is cute, a sort of Marilyn Monroe in buckskins and with a keen comic sense. She can give all the character needed as an impetuous frontier diamond in the rough who just doesn't know how to be feminine, or belt a song with a full-throated set of lungs when the occasion comes, as when she does "Secret Love."

Certainly George Gaynes, as Wild Bill, has a beautiful, resonant baritone which can do much more than justice to anything he's called on to sing. Certainly Allyn McLerie, who had the original role in the movie, is engaging as Katie, the maid for a famous star who is hired by mistake to appear at Deadwood City and who comes through to become a favorite of that rowdy community at the Golden Garter saloon-theater.

And Sammy Fain's songs, expanded by about three from his movie score, fall on the ear in a friendly fashion. "Adelaid," a paean to a famous actress from some adoring collectors of cigarette picture cards, "'Tis Harry I'm Planning to Marry," "Higher Than a Hawk," and "Love You Dearly," are fresh and "Secret Love," has its secret lilt, even though "Black Hills of Dakota" has a Tin Pan Alley ring and some others are negligible.

And the staging is little short of brilliant, particularly considering this is a first production. Producer John Kennedy, conductor Edwin McArthur, stage director James Vincent Russo, designer Paul C. McGuire, and everyone else concerned have done a fine job. The handling of the ensemble for the song numbers is pointed and perky—the old arm-waving days are gone, and each member assumes a personality, so that the net dramatic effect is often like an animated painting. This is excellent composition.

The dialogue by Charles K. Freeman, as adapted from James O'Hanlon's screenplay, is full of color and substance, as are Paul Francis Webster's lyrics. Mr. McGuire's set, looking like a Chinese silk print of a barren woods, in the second act is superb. When it is brought forward in a more intimate scene of Calamity's cabin, with Calamity and Katie whisking its austere roughness into a primrose charm with a sprightly ditty, "A Woman's Touch," and some adroit manipulation of scenery, the effect is very clever.

Then what is there to complain about? Not much, really. But if more character and guts were written for Wild Bill Hickok, if he were really made to seem Wild Bill instead of Amiable Willie, it would correct serious imbalance in the leads. There ought to be more clash of personality between him and Calamity. A really smash hit song would beef up the merely agreeable bubbling of the first act. And the second act, failing to erupt with any conflict, even for a musical comedy, seems to nod agreeably at everyone and gradually settle back to a nice cozy rest in the dramatic hammock.

In other words, this is a lot more satisfying to watch than at least one other Broadway Western musical I could name. But has it reached its potentialities, of at least being a minor "Oklahoma!"? No, but it possibly could. It will run two weeks.

DUBLINERS MOB PRINCESS GRACE IN WILD WELCOME

DUBLIN, June 13 (UPI)—Irish officials stationed extra patrolmen in central Dublin today to guard against repetition of a wild welcoming scene which reduced Princess Grace of Monaco to tears last night.

Thousands of Dubliners mobbed the Princess and her husband, Prince Rainier, in a downtown street. Fifty persons were injured as the crowd pressed around the couple's limousine.

More than 300 policemen, pushed aside in the rush, drew their clubs and charged into the crowd to restore order. The couple's motorcycle escorts were knocked from their vehicles in the melee.

Princess Grace, white-faced and weeping, was helped into the Gresham Hotel by her husband and angry Irish officials. A banquet for the couple was delayed a half-hour to enable the Princess to regain her composure. It was the wildest welcome she has received thus far in the land of her ancestors.

BELLEVILLE CLASS REUNION

The first reunion of the 1921 graduating class of Belleville Township High School will be held Saturday at St. Clair Country Club. The reunion will start at 6 p.m. with a cocktail hour, followed at 7 p.m. with a class picture and dinner at 7:30 p.m.

FUNERAL TO BE TOMORROW FOR MRS. ERNEST F. KROST

Funeral services for Mrs. Ernest F. Krost, wife of a retired school principal in Collinsville, will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Herr undertaking establishment, 503 West Main street, Collinsville. Burial will be in St. John's Cemetery, Collinsville.

Mrs. Krost, 72 years old, died of leukemia Sunday at St. Joseph's Hospital, Highland, Ill. Her husband was principal of State Park Place School for 18 years prior to his retirement. Mrs. Krost lived at 1016 West Clay street, Collinsville.

In addition to her husband, survivors are three daughters, Mrs. Ray W. Ortbals and Mrs. George A. Kaufman, both of St. Louis, and Mrs. Elizabeth Coigny, Collinsville; a son, Leroy Krost, Collinsville, and a brother, George Harris, Keyesport, Ill.

RUSSELL A. ROLFES NAMED

Russell A. Rolfes, civilian personnel officer at Dayton Air Force Depot, Dayton, O., has been named instructor for the Basic Placement and Employe Relations School, Air University, Maxwell Air Force Base, Montgomery, Ala., it was announced today.

About 60 students from the United States and abroad will attend the school. Rolfes is a native of St. Louis and is the only Air Force Logistics Command representative named to the school's faculty.

CITY'S PEDESTRIAN SAFETY CAMPAIGN WILL OPEN AUG. 1

A pedestrian safety campaign, to start Aug. 1, was tentatively scheduled at a meeting yesterday of the Mayor's committee in charge of the project. A second phase of the program will be timed to start with the opening of schools about one month later.

To a great extent the project will be educational, with talks before civic groups throughout the St. Louis area and widespread distribution of from 150,000 to 200,000 leaflets prepared by the Automobile Club of Missouri.

Police Capt. Roland Schumacher told the meeting that warning tickets to be given to violators for a few days at the beginning of the campaign, before issuance of arrest notices, will differ from those distributed last year. This year issuing officers will be required to fill out the notices with violators' names, addresses and the place and nature of offenses. Carbon copies will be used for statistical compilation and study by the department.

Traffic Commissioner Ellis C. Henry Jr., committee chairman, emphasized that the campaign will be aimed at motorists as well as pedestrians.

FUNERAL TO BE TOMORROW FOR CORNELIUS M. ECKERT

Funeral services for Cornelius M. Eckert, vice president of First National Bank of Marissa and a retired brick contractor, will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at First Baptist Church in Marissa. Burial will be in the cemetery there.

Mr. Eckert, 74 years old, died of heart disease Sunday at his home in Marissa, where until recently he operated a monument works firm. A Republican, he served on the St. Clair county board of supervisors from 1935 to 1939 and had been a member of the Marissa high school board of education. He also was a member of several fraternal organizations.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Alberta Eckert; a daughter, Mrs. S. J. Menapace of Marissa; a brother, Eugene C. Eckert, Herrin, Ill., and a sister, Mrs. George Bollmeier, Marissa.

LUDWIG F. HAMMER ELECTED ETHICAL SOCIETY PRESIDENT

Ludwig F. Hammer, an engineer with the Procter & Gamble Manufacturing Co., was elected president of the Ethical Society of St. Louis for a one-year term. He succeeds Carroll E. Nelson.

Other officers chosen were Joseph J. Grant and Mrs. Harold C. Hanke, vice presidents; Robert A. Lennertson, secretary, and Nelson, treasurer.

92 RECEIVE DEGREES AT PRINCIPIA COLLEGE

Frederic E. Morgan of Original Class of 1898 Gives Address at Elsah.

Five of the graduates are from the St. Louis area. They are John Masters, 1 Normton drive, Ladue; Carol Eakin, 29 Clermont lane, Ladue; Joy Overby, 13201 Clayton road, St. Louis county; Grace Lombard, 16 Brookwood road, St. Louis county, and Lynn Richards, 911 North McKnight road, University City.

Frederic E. Morgan of Sarasota, Fla., a member of The Principia board of trustees and one of the original two students when the school was founded in 1898, delivered the commencement address.

Morgan, who was named president emeritus when he retired from The Principia staff, was also principal speaker at graduation exercises Saturday at The Principia Upper School, 13201 Clayton road.

Twenty-five St. Louis area students were among 115 who were graduated at the ceremony.

At the college commencement program, Morgan's brother, William E. Morgan, was posthumously awarded an honorary doctor of humane letters degree. William Morgan, the second original Principia student, joined The Principia staff in 1915 and was president from 1954 until last February.

Mrs. Gretchen Happ, college registrar, was honored for 40 years of service, and seven other members of the faculty and staff were honored for 20 and 25 years of service.

Nine of the St. Louis area students in the Upper School class were graduated with honors. Four of them received special recognition at the annual awards ceremony.

Those receiving honors were Maryl Freeman, 14 Cloverleaf lane, Manchester, National Merit scholarship award; Jean Smith, 1601A Mason road, St. Louis county, home economics award; Peter Van Vleck, Country Meadows, Creve Coeur, national athletic scholarship award, and David Winsby, 14 Topping lane, St. Louis county, mathematics and National Merit scholarship awards.

BELL RINGERS' FESTIVAL

The American Guild of English Handbell Ringers will hold its seventh national festival on the Washington University campus Wednesday through Friday.

About 550 bell ringers from 23 states are expected to attend the festival. Three simultaneous concerts will be given Thursday at 8:30 p.m. in Graham Memorial Chapel, on the campus; Grace Methodist Church, 6199 Waterman avenue, and Second Presbyterian Church, 4501 Westminster avenue.

ASSERTS LEUKEMIA GUILD NEEDS FUNDS FOR RESEARCH

The Leukemia Guild will have to curtail its research program unless adequate funds are raised within the next 60 days, Walter W. Thompson, guild president, said at a meeting of volunteers yesterday.

Although the present "Lick Leukemia" campaign will fall far short of the guild's goal, Thompson pointed out that the financial crisis was not caused by any failure of the volunteers.

"Increased incidence of leukemia and related blood disorders has wiped out cash reserves," Thompson said. "Confusion has caused the public to lose sight of the fact that the Leukemia Guild is financed through the campaign, and is the sole health agency conducting an accredited program on leukemia here." Heavy rains in May caused storm water to back into the guild building, destroying most of the campaign materials.

the legal side of real estate

. . . is often "quite a mystery" to people who buy, sell or rent property.

That's why the lawyer's point-of-view is so important in many real estate transactions. His knowledge of the "legal side" will complement the services of the realtor, builder and financial firm.

He is fully qualified to make sure that no detail is overlooked . . . that contracts and other documents are correct.

Another valuable service provided by the lawyer is his knowledge of sources for specialized services and information.

Often he will call on Title Insurance Corporation of St. Louis . . . for service and information on property titles, title insurance and many other related matters.

Yanks Take Second, Open Battle for Lead at Cleveland Tonight

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP)—The New York Yankees, apparently squared away after getting fat on second division clubs, put the show on the road in their bid for the American League lead tonight with the opener of a three-game series at Cleveland against the first-place Indians.

It's the start of a 16-game tour for the Yankees, who are in a virtual second-place tie with Detroit, both a game behind the Indians. And they have a three-game set with the Tigers this weekend after leaving Cleveland.

The Yankees, winning 11 of their last 12 games, moved past idle Detroit by four percentage points when they won their fifth in a row and closed a 10-0 home stand with a 3-1 victory over the Los Angeles Angels last night.

New York and Detroit closed in on the lead when Kansas City sliced Cleveland's edge in half with a 7-5, 10-inning decision over the Indians.

Fourth-place Baltimore stayed eight games behind in what has become a three-way scrap when the Orioles blew a 5-1 lead and lost 9-8 to the White Sox. Boston outlasted Minnesota, 10-8, in the only other A.L. game scheduled.

Giants Whip Dodgers.

In the only National League game scheduled, San Francisco beat Los Angeles 7-4, leaving the Dodgers a half-game behind first-place Cincinnati. Billy O'Dell (2-3), the winning pitcher, walked none and struck out 10 in 5⅔ innings of relief, but needed help from Stu Miller in the ninth.

The Yankees, working behind the four-hit pitching of right-hander Bill Safford, broke up a two-hit shutout by losing lefty Ted Bowsfield (2-2) and came from behind with three runs in the sixth inning. Singles by Tony Kubek, Mickey Mantle and Elston Howard, a force-out by Bill Skowron and a double by Hector Lopez did it. Stafford (4-2) struck out seven for his third complete game—the eighth in 14 games by the Yankee staff, which had produced only six in the first 42 games of the season.

The A's tagged the Indians with only their third defeat in 16 games when Heywood Sullivan singled for his fourth hit in the tenth and pinch-hitter Leo Posada followed with a two-run, two-out homer off relief ace Frank Funk (7-4). The Indians, getting a 1-1 tie on Willie Kirkland's home run in the fifth inning, twice blew two-run leads.

Kansas City tied it 5-all with two runs in the ninth as Cleveland missed double plays. Jerry Walker, seventh Kansas City pitcher, saved it for reliever Jim Archer (4-1) when Vic Power bunted into a force out and Kirkland and Woodie Held flied out with two men on base in the tenth.

Two Homers by Sievers.

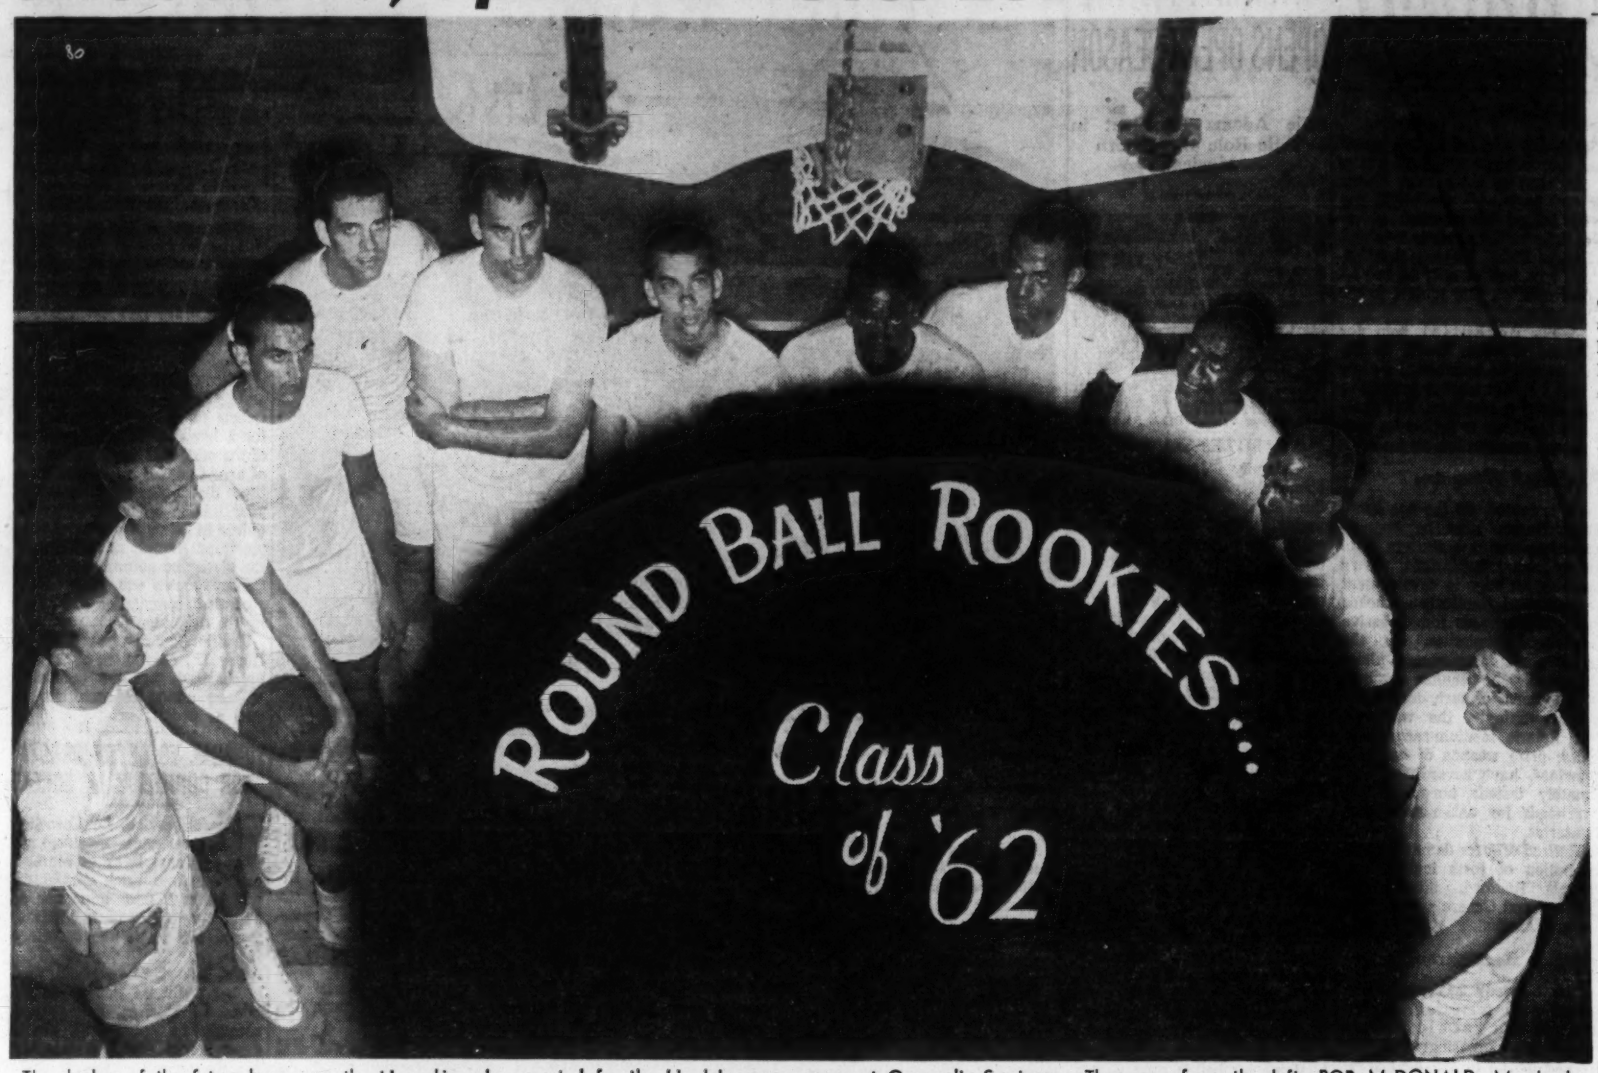

Roy Sievers drove in three runs with two homers for the White Sox, who nailed the decision on Al Smith's solo homer in the eighth off relief ace Hoyt Wilhelm. Dick Hyde (1-1) was the loser, coming in as the Sox came from behind with five runs in the fourth inning. Don Larsen (2-0), acquired Saturday from Kansas City, was the winner in relief.

A walk and Chuck Schilling's two-out single gave Boston the deciding run in the seventh. The Twins out-hit the Red Sox 15-11, and slugged three home runs, but left 17 on base, just three shy of the record. Ike Delock (4-2) won it with relief help while Jerry Arrigo, a left-hander making his major debut on his twentieth birthday, took the loss.

The Giants, beating right-hander Roger Craig (3-4) for the first time in nine decisions since 1955, dropped the Dodgers with three runs in the fifth inning for a 7-2 lead. Orlando Cepeda's double scored the clincher.

O'Dell relieved Giants' starter Jack Sanford with one out and the bases loaded in the third inning and didn't allow a hit until Daryl Spencer doubled with one out in the seventh. Spencer scored on Wills's single and the Dodgers finally chased O'Dell from the mound in the ninth with doubles by Duke Snider and Spencer. Miller came in, struck out two of the four Dodgers he faced, and registered his fourth save of the season.

It was the first time this year that the Giants have downed the Dodgers at Candlestick Park.

Big Red Cancels Exhibition

By Robert Morrison

A football Cardinal pre-season exhibition game scheduled against the Minnesota Vikings has been canceled, Managing Director Walter Wolfner said today.

The clubs had difficulty finding a site for the game, and Wolfner said the Cardinals were just as happy to drop it from the schedule anyhow.

"We'll be getting ready for the Canadian style football we'll have to play against the Argonauts at Toronto, Aug. 2, and now that this contest is out of the way, we'll have more time to prepare for the game with Green Bay at St. Louis, Aug. 18," Wolfner said.

The Viking game had been scheduled Aug. 11 or 12. The football Cardinals now will play only five pre-season games, including the Cardinal Glennon Hospital benefit game against the Packers at Busch Stadium.

Card Coach Frank (Pop) Ivy on his return from the Sam Etcheverry dinner in Montreal said the Big Red's new quarterback will be delayed in moving his family to St. Louis.

"He wants to stay until he can sell his home there, and he may not move until time to go to camp at Lake Forest, Ill.," Ivy said. The quarterbacks are scheduled to report July 9.

Cards Hitting .298 At Home, Have .238 Mark in Road Games

By Neal Russo
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff

PHILADELPHIA, June 13—If the Cardinals can begin hitting on the road at close to their home pace, Solly Hemus's hopes of having the club four or five games from first place by July 4 may be fulfilled.

The Cards begin an 11-game trip tonight with Larry (2-5) Jackson opposing the Phillies' John (2-6) Buzhardt.

Although the Redbirds' attack tailed off a bit as the team dropped three straight to the Reds at the end of the home stand over the weekend, the Cards left St. Louis last night with a .298 batting average at Busch Stadium. On enemy fields the Cardinals' .238 batting mark is reflected in their 9-16 road record. They are 15-11 at home.

Passing the one-third pole of the season with the same record they had a year ago at this time—21 victories and 24 losses—the Redbirds have only one regular under the .300 mark at home, Hal Smith with .242.

Smith still is confined to Jewish Hospital where he is undergoing extensive tests and heart and lung examinations. He entered the hospital Friday.

Home-Away Marks.

Here are the regulars' comparative home-away batting records: Julian Javier .352-.243; Stan Musial .345-.278; Joe Cunningham .329-.241; Ken Boyer .323-.295; Bill White .315-.261; Carl Warwick .313-.154. Other home-away figures: Charley James .326-.130, Curt Flood .317-.205; Alex Grammas .316-.136; Don Taussig .588-.167; Bob Lillis .300-.000; Red Schoendienst .120-.343; Jim Schaffer .333-.250. Smith is batting .259 on the road.

The Cardinals who had an open date yesterday, have outscored their rivals by 137 to 118 at Busch Stadium, but the enemy has hit 22 home runs in St. Louis against 17 for the Redbirds. Away, the Cardinals have collected 22 four-baggers to 23 for the opposition.

Even though the Birds have the worst road mark in the National League, they have yielded just three more runs than they have scored away from home, 85 to 88. Over-all, the Cardinals have averaged 4.3 runs a game to 3.96 for their rivals.

Stan Leads in Efficiency.

In the runs-batted-in efficiency ratings, Musial, last season's runaway leader with .594, again has jumped in front among the regulars with a .490 mark. Under the rating system, a batter is charged an OBR (Opportunity to Bat in Run) for each runner on second or third base. For a home run a batter is credited with 1-for-1.

The lefthanded-hitting White still is having trouble with southpaws. He is .214 against the lefties, 323 against righthanders.

Of the righthanded hitters against lefties, Taussig is No. 1 with .471 on 8 for 17. Flood has a .344 mark against southpaws.

Bob Gibson probably will start against the Phillies tomorrow night. . . . The Phils have beaten the Cardinals four out of six.

Busy Bob Bauman, will miss the Philadelphia series to attend the ordination of his son, Richard, in the Society of Jesus Thursday in St. Mary's, Kan.

Bauman's replacement will be Dr. Wilbur Bohm, who has assisted him in spring training the past six years. Dr. Bohm, who is from Edwardsville, formerly trained the Washington Redskins' football team and the Cincinnati baseball team.

Frisch to Speak At Cauliflower Ear Gathering

Frank Frisch, the old Fordham Flash and manager of the Cardinals' Gashouse Gang, will be the featured speaker at the seventy-ninth irregular conclave of the Knights of the Cauliflower Ear tonight at Glen Echo Country Club.

The dinner gathering is to be attended by various sports representatives. The Knights' organization, in existence since 1935, is made up of St. Louis business men and sportsmen.

Hawk Coach Hails Rookies Hill, Faszholz After First Workout

By John J. Archibald

In the cool calm of Ben Kerner's office the Hawks' owner was trying to dilute the enthusiasm of his coach, Paul Seymour. The coach had just returned from the first workout of his rookie crop at the steaming Concordia Seminary gym.

"That Cleo Hill has a lot to learn, but he looked great," said Seymour. "And Tom Faszholz was impressive. Frank Radovich is over weight, but he showed me a lot, especially from outcourt. . . ."

"This is just one day, Paul," Kerner reminded. "Tomorrow it might be three other guys who will dazzle us."

Seymour, who has been in pro basketball for 14 of his 33 years, agreed with his boss. He acknowledged the fact that preseason workouts in any sport can be deceiving.

Help for Pettit?

"We had a couple of guys that were pretty tough under the boards, too," said Seymour, who well knows how the Hawks would benefit if Bob Pettit didn't have to do most of the rebounding. "Joe Buckhalter and Herb Gray both were good at getting the ball. They're rough. And Dick Kepley—I guess he's about 6-feet-8 — was not only shooting well, but he let the guys on his team know when they weren't hustling.

Kerner sank back into his chair. "You think maybe we have enough material to start a new franchise?" asked Ben.

"Oh, of course they have lots to learn," Seymour acknowledged. "But Hill (the Hawks' No. 1 draft choice, a 5-11 guard from Winston-Salem) is better than I thought. He is righthanded, but he hooks as well from the left as from the right. And he jumps like an eight-footer."

Some of Seymour's confidence began to rub off on Kerner.

"Well, it is healthy to make personnel changes from time to time," the boss pointed out. "Sometimes if your players have been together too long they start acting like brothers-in-law. They don't battle for one another's jobs quite as hard."

LaCour Stands Out.

There was a pause in the conversation. Seymour, wondering if he had done too good a job of selling the new talent, backtracked a step or two. He spoke of one of the handful of last season's players who assisted in the workout.

"Fred LaCour played very well at guard today," said the coach. "If he can learn the job, it would be great to have a shooter like him in the back court."

The heat in the Concordia gym caused Seymour to shorten the original schedule of two workouts a day. After a two-hour morning drill, the players ate lunch under a tree, then worked for an hour in the afternoon. That probably will be the routine until Friday, when the camp will end with a regulation game at night.

"One of the players asked me if we would simulate National Basketball Association game conditions—would we have a 24-second clock," Seymour reported. "I told them yes, that we'd have a clock, but the way those guys were shooting from the hip, they wouldn't need one."

Gets Second Ace In Three Days

Jerry Rose scored his second hole-in-one in three days when he aced the No. 17 at Northwood. He used a 7-iron on the 157-yard hole.

It was the fourth hole-in-one for Rose, who also had an ace on No. 11 at Northwood Saturday.

SPORTS COMMENT

By Bob Broeg
Post-Dispatch Sports Editor

The Flash Is Back

Frank Frisch winced, then sighed. Arthritis has made it difficult for him to shake hands with the powerful right arm that made the Old Flash tremendous on the double-play pivot a generation ago.

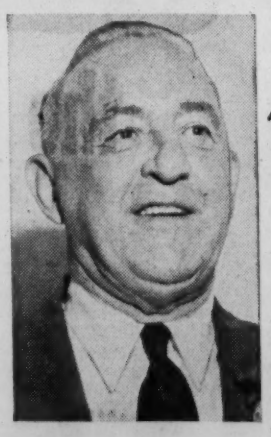

"Arthritis, my foot," grumbled the former Gas House Gang manager here to speak to old friends, the fun-loving, sports-minded Knights of the Cauliflower Ear. "It's old-fashioned rheumatism, that's what it is."

"And now the doctor thinks I'm drinking too much of this —— stuff."

Just when you'd want to weep for him, Frisch ordered dessert—a double-dip chocolate sundae heavy with nuts.

Reminded me of the time the Flash was managing Pittsburgh and his former Giants' teammate and playmate, Casey Stengal, managing Boston, stopped by the visitors' dugout at Braves Field to commiserate with him. Frisch's right foot, in a carpet slipper, was propped gingerly on the dugout rail.

FRANK FRISCH

"What's the matter, Frank?" Stengel asked.

"It's that —— —— old spike wound," Frisch moaned.

"No. What?"

Stengel grinned impishly, then growled harshly so the entire Pittsburgh bench could hear. "What I'd do for it, you fat Dutchman," he said, "is stop eating so many lobsters. That isn't an old spike wound. You're just growing a claw."

A 'Dandy' Race

It has been nearly 24 years since Frisch delivered his last basehit for the Cardinals. The stocky figure is shorter and heavier, the thin hair almost white, but the hook nose, with a dogleg to the right from a bad-hopping ground ball long ago, still makes his a familiar face.

"Criminy," said the cab driver who drove him from the airport to his hotel, "we got to fire the manager, Frank."

"Hey, wait a minute, don't say that," Frisch pleaded. "I've been fired three times myself. Besides, the Cardinals are only six games out on the defeat side."

Although a teasing critic of present-day players, the Hall of Fame second baseman knows a good pennant race when he sees one. "This is a dandy," he observed. "Look at the Giants. They've been staggering for a couple of weeks and they're only two games out."

Frisch was curious to see friend Stan Musial's new restaurant. The Old Flash and

Law Hints He'll Quit In 1962 If Ailing Arm Does Not Improve

RITTSBURGH, June 13 (UPI)—Vernon Law, a 20-game winner for the Pittsburgh Pirates last season, figures that unless his ailing pitching arm improves "someone else will be wearing uniform No. 32 next year."

The ace righthander said that in recent outings his arm felt all right for a few innings, but then would tighten up and the pain would last for a long time after the game was over.

"I want to pitch, but I want to do the job right," Law was quoted.

Golf

Missouri Slam!

Emboldened by his state senior golf triumph, the Old Hacker, who has trouble keeping his tongue out of his cheek, says he has his eye on the "Missouri slam."

"This gives me a double, you know," said the 52-year-old Voice of Normandie, Bob Richardson. "I won the St. Louis district senior title last fall.

Morrison

"They said at Hickory Hills (Springfield, Mo.) that if I think it's easy to get birdies there, just wait 'till I get down to Joplin for the state men's championship. Sure this was a grandma's title I won, but they're playing good ball in senior tournaments now. I'm hitting the ball pretty good, and don't worry about the Old Hacker being able to go 36 holes.

"I'm going to play in the district men's championship, too. That Old Warson is one of my favorite courses. Bring 'em all on, and don't sell me short. I'm going for that Missouri slam!"

Richardson, one of the directors of the St. Louis Seniors' Golf Association, said he won't be risking his district seniors' crown in that association's tournament at St. Clair club in Belleville today.

"This event is just an outing," he said. "The title is decided in the fall tournament."

Date Conflicts

Karen Schull of Kansas City is not expected to defend her state women's championship next week at St. Joseph because the dates conflict with the women's national collegiate tournament at Ann Arbor, Mich.

The Missouri men's tournament next week at Joplin has a similar conflict of dates with the N.C.A.A. championship event at Purdue. State amateur events usually need all the class they can get in their fields in order to maintain their relative importance. They'd do well to avoid such conflicts.

With Judy Torluemke, Mrs. George Conant Jr., and district champion Marcella Rose shooting for state honors, St. Louis likely will have strong representation in the state women's meet. Mrs. Conant reports that the state tournament will be extended one day, to finish on Saturday, June 24, in order to have a 32-place championship draw after the qualifying round.

Unless somebody gets a hot putter going, the 16-year-old Miss Torluemke would appear to be a strong favorite to regain the state crown she won two years ago.

Structural Changes

The Canada Cup-International Trophy golf series, which ran into trouble this year when the P.G.A. blocked appearances of Arnold Palmer and Gary Player at Puerto Rico, has had organizational chances.

A "majority sponsorship" of the International Golf Association, which conducts the event, has been taken over by the magazine Sports Illustrated. A golf publication, Golf World, in a report on the Puerto Rico affair, says that "despite predictions of a glowing future for the tournament, quite a few doubts were expressed in table discussion at a dinner for the teams at the Caribe Hilton Hotel, San Juan."

"It would seem that the change in tournament sponsorship has no relation to (P.G.A.) threats. . . ," the Golf World report said. "Yet possibilities in that respect were subjects of conversation. . . ."

With an avowed purpose of fostering international good will, the I.G.A. and its event were founded by the late industrialist, John Jay Hopkins, and continued by Frank Pace Jr., present head of General Dynamics. The I.G.A. still includes among its directors various leading business men.

Leading Trainer.

Noble Threewitt has led the trainers in winners at Hollywood Park the last two years with 22 and 28 firsts, respectively.

Connell Loses in Second Round of British Amateur

One-Time St. Louisan Bows, 2-1

TURNBERRY, Scotland, June 13 (UPI)—Truman Connell, former St. Louis, Mo., ice skater, today was defeated in the second round of the British amateur golf tournament.

Meanwhile, Joe Carr of Ireland, the tournament's defending champion who is seeking his fourth British Amateur title, advanced to the third round with a 5 and 4 victory over John Gow of Scotland.

Portly Jimmy McHale of Philadelphia and Air Force Lt. Munro (Blinky) Mitchella of Fort Worth, Tex., led nine American survivors into the third round. Four other Yanks besides Connell were eliminated, Bob Roos of San Francisco, as the field was narrowed to 64 survivors.

McHale, a former Walker Cupper competing in this tournament for the first time since 1958, defeated Harry Brownlee of Scotland, 4 and 2. Mitchella, a 23-year-old Air Force weather observer stationed in London, sprang the biggest upset of the first two rounds when he beat Dr. Frank Deighton of Scotland, a British Walker Cup player, 4 and 3.

Four of the seven other United States winners were Californians. They were Henry Timbrook of Los Angeles, Richard Davies of Pasadena, Mike Korich of Roseville and Frank Sugden of Hollywood Hill.

The three other United States survivors were John Penrose of Miami Beach, Fla.; Ralph Morrow of Oklahoma City and Frank Bostock of Phoenix, Ariz.

Besides Connell and Roos, the Americans eliminated were Col. John Fitzgerald of San Diego, Calif., Billy Nicks of North Hollywood, Calif., and Maj. Hiram Snowden of Savannah, Ga., who lost by default when he did not show up for his scheduled match.

McHale came from two down after six holes to square his match by the ninth. Then portly Jim took the next five holes before they halved the fifteenth. He closed it out on the next hole with an even par four while Brownlee went one over.

"At one stage I thought I was headed for a plane ride back to New York," McHale said after the match, "but as soon as I got crackling on the back nine I knew I had nothing to fear."

Connell, now playing out of Jupiter, Fla., was the first American eliminated in the second round when he lost to David St. John Brew of England, 2 and 1.

The Briton led 1 up at the turn, widened his lead on the tenth when Connell three-putted and went three up on the eleventh as the American hit into the rough.

Connell won back two holes at the twelfth and thirteenth, only to lose the fourteenth when he took two shots to get out of a bunker. Brew then clinched the match by sinking a pair of 20-foot putts that halved the next two holes.

"I drove bad, then good, then bad again, and then my putting went bad," was the way Connell summed up his round.

Connell won his first match yesterday, 6 and 5.

Several favored British players won their second-round matches.

Michael Bonallack of England, a Walker Cup star who is seeded second to Carr, defeated Stewart McLeod of Scotland, 5 and 4; Ian Caldwell of England, another Walker Cup player, beat Wilbur Muirhead of Scotland, 5 and 4, and Martin Christmas, a seeded English star, eliminated George Henderson of Scotland, 1 up. However, Sandy Saddler of Scotland, who was among the seeded players, was eliminated by Graham Chapman of England, 3 and 1.

Jim McHale of Philadelphia, who like Mitchella had drawn a first-round bye, was rated the strongest American threat for the title held by Carr. McHale was one of the last Yanks to tee off on the second round.

Youth Will Be Served Titles

Another McKinley (Bob) Is Novice Tennis Winner

Bob, a pupil at St. Ann school, was the youngest winner in the St. Louis District novice tennis tournament, which ended at Washington University yesterday. He defeated Michael Brewen, 6-1, 7-5, to capture the boys 13-and-under title.

Other winners included Bob Horwitz, 15, in the boys 15-and-under division; Tom Goldman, 18, junior boys; Jenny Wells, 12, girls 13-and-under; Arlene Mertz, 14, girls 15-and-under; and Gail Ferfecky, girls 18-and-under.

Horwitz defeated Jim Goldfarb, 6-4, 7-5, and Goldman, a John Burroughs high school senior, beat Eric Schmidt, 6-1, 6-4.

Miss Wells, an eighth-grader at Villa Duchesne, beat Marian Jones, 6-2, 6-3, and Miss Mertz, a Jennings high school sophomore, defeated Mimi Ferris, 6-3, 2-6, 6-2.

Miss Ferfecky, a Ladue high school junior, was forced to three sets to get past Margaret Kriegshauser, 7-5, 5-7, 7-5. The winner is a daughter of William Ferfecky, an outstanding athlete at Washington U. in the middle 1930s.

Ken Roberts Leaves Novinger High for Oregon Prep Job

NOVINGER, Mo., June 13—Kenneth Roberts, who compiled a 76-13 record in three seasons as basketball coach at Novinger High School, has resigned to accept a coaching position at Richland, Ore., High School.

Roberts, a graduate of Northwest Missouri State Teachers College, will coach basketball, baseball and eight-man football in his new post.

CYC No-Hitter

A catcher turned pitcher, Pete Maraldo, working his second league game for the St. Thomas More team, hurled a no-hit, no-run, no batter-reached-first game in defeating O. L. of Guadalupe, 8-0, Sunday. Pete's catching days are over now. Not only did he fan 15 batters in the 7-inning game but he slammed a 335-foot home run. He is a righthander. St. Thomas More team is in the Intermediate, 14-year-old class, of the C.Y.C. baseball association.

Liston Arrest May Hurt Ring Future

PHILADELPHIA, June 13 (UPI) — Heavyweight contender Charles (Sonny) Liston's title aspirations were jeopardized today by his latest brush with police.

Liston and a companion spent several hours in jail Monday before they were released in $300 bail each for a further hearing Wednesday on charges of impersonating an officer, conspiracy, resisting arrest and turning off automobile headlights to avoid identification.

Liston and Isaac Cooper, each 27, were charged with following an automobile driven by Mrs. Dolores Ellis, 29, on the Schuykill expressway before dawn. Mrs. Ellis said the men pulled alongside her car when she left the expressway, shined a spotlight on her and ordered her to pull over to the side of the road.

At that moment, Fairmount Park guard John Warburton happened by. He said Liston and Cooper jumped into their automobile and raced off at speeds up to 80 miles an hour without headlights. They halted a mile away when Warburton fired a warning shot.

The arrest caused Bill Fugazy, president of Feature Sports, Inc., to anticipate trouble in promoting a match between Liston and former heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson.

"If it's a serious enough crime to cause a commission to refuse Liston a license, then we couldn't promote the fight," Fugazy said. "However, I think we should all wait until we find out whether Sonny is guilty as charged.

"Maybe he hasn't done anything wrong. For his sake, I hope he hasn't."

Fugazy said that an agreement had been reached on the terms of the fight and only Johansson's "tax problems" were delaying final plans. He said he expected Johansson to clear up his tax difficulties "in a week or so."

It was the second arrest for Liston since he bought his contract from manager Pep Barone and acquired George Katz as his "100 per cent clean" manager one month ago. He was arrested last month for loitering on a street corner and refusing to move on when requested by a policeman. He later was discharged at a magistrate's hearing.

Mick and Rathmann To Lead Muny Stars

By Dave Lipman

On the field where the likes of Billy Southworth, Frankie Frisch, Gabby Street and Eddie Dyer rose to managerial fame in professional baseball, two men whose amateur records would make even the Cardinals' elite envious will stand next Sunday.

Opposing each other at 2 p.m. Sunday at Busch Stadium in the third annual Muny Association's All-Star game will be Chip Rathmann, whose 13-year-old record includes 161 victories and 51 losses for a .759 average, and Al Mick, who has a .738 mark with 183 triumphs and 65 losses for 15 years. Rathmann will direct the South, Mick the North.

Each will have 25 players to use in an attempt to break the 1-1 deadlock existing in All-Star competition. The North won the 1959 opener, 6-4, but the South rebounded with a 12-2 decision last year.

Seven Kutis Players.

Mick's own team, Kutis North of the North Side dominates the North squad with seven players, including pitcher Don Mumm, one-time Cardinal farmhand and a former special pitching coach with the Redbirds. The Monarchs of the Eastern Division of the Metropolitan League placed four on the team.

The South squad's leading supplier was the Kimack team of the South Side League. Joe McDonnell's outfit placed six on the squad. Among them is Mal Murphy, who once pitched in the Yankee chain and turned in a three-hit shutout in his last Muny outing.

Rathmann's Hoffmeisters in the Heine Meine League, are represented by five players, including Dick Armbruster, the winning pitcher in the 1960 All-Star game.

Also represented on the North All-Stars are the Grays, Dodgers and St. Louis Cubs of the Metropolitan League's East Division; Union Printers, Borbein Young and Ceresias of the North Side League, and Harpett Cats of the Curt Flood League.

The other teams placing players on the South All-Stars are the Connie Haefners, Vonder Haars and Red Villas of the Heine Meine League; the Brooklyn Robins, East St. Louis Giants, Rams and Lebanon Red Sox of the Metropolitan League's West Division, and Carondelet Sunday Morning Athletic Club of the South Side League.

Many Ex-Pros on Squad.

"It should be great baseball," said Mick. "There are a lot of ex-pros and top-notch former college players on the teams and they like to go all out when they get in the big park."

That could result in a happier atmosphere at Busch Stadium than was the case last week.

One thing is for sure. The fans at least will be offered the best brainpower available in Muny ball—Mick, whose nine league championships and four Muny playoff crowns rank him as the most successful title-winner in the association's history, and Rathmann, who has won seven league titles and two playoff first-place trophies.

Where Are They Now?

The San Francisco Giants opened the season with eight rookies — pitchers Bobby Bolin, Jim Duffalo and Eddie Fisher, catcher Tom Haller, infielders Chuck Hiller, Ferrell Bowman and Bob Farley and outfielder Matty Alou.

Ben Jones Trainer of Horses Dies

LEINGTON, Ky., June 13 (AP) —Veteran Calumet Farm thoroughbred horse trainer Ben Jones died at a Lexington hospital today. He was 78.

Jones, admitted to the hospital last Saturday, had trained six

He started his streak of Derby winners with Lawrin in 1938. After that came Calumet's Whirlaway in 1941, Pensive in 1944, Citation in 1948, Ponder in 1949, and Hill Gail in 1952.

Cause of death was not known immediately.

Bal Musette Wins

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP) — King Ranch's Bal Musette turned on the power in the stretch to win the Fox Meadow Handicap at Belmont Park yesterday.

The three-year-old son of Middleground-Friponne, ridden by Willie Boland, stepped the mile and a sixteenth in 1:43 4-5 in scoring by a head over High Tide Stable's Baldpate, which finished a head in front of Wheatley Stable's Royal Record.

Bal Musette returned $6.40 for $2 to win.

Trojans Win From Cowboys

OMAHA, Nebr., June 13 (UPI)—The Trojans of Southern California, veterans of 50 games this season, including a hair-raising 4-2 triumph over Oklahoma State last night, move into tonight's N.C.A.A. national baseball tournament semifinals with everything in their favor.

U.S.C., the only unbeaten team in the college world series, engages Boston College in the second game of a doubleheader which opens with Oklahoma State meeting Syracuse.

A Southern Cal victory would set up a Wednesday showdown with the winner of the Oklahoma State-Syracuse game.

Southern Cal had to call on the oldest man in the tourney last night to gain the favored position for an unprecedented third national championship.

Art Ersepke, 27, singled to score two runs in its half of the ninth to break a 2-2 deadlock with Oklahoma State. That hit gave victory to Trojan hurler Larry Hankamer, who equaled a national tournament record by striking out 16 cowboys.

Ersepke's two-run single didn't end the suspense in the game. The Cowpokes put two men on base with two out in their half of the inning, but pitcher Jim Wixson, who had not been beaten in 11 previous outings this season, flied to Ersepke for the final out.

Oklahoma State scored first on Ray Bond's home run in the fourth and regained the advantage when Bond drove in a run in the sixth after U.S.C. had scored on Ron Stillwell's single. A double by Kenny Washington Jr. and a single by Tom Satriano evened the score for U.S.C. in the seventh.

Two teams were eliminated in yesterday's three-game program. Duke was sent back to Durham, N.C., by Boston College when a pinch single gave the Eagles a 4-3 win. Dave Guisti struck out 14 en route to a four-hit, 6-0, shutout for Syracuse over Western Michigan. The loss eliminated the Broncs from Kalamazoo.

Bill Veeck's Illness A Mystery; Another Checkup Is Ordered

CHICAGO, June 13—What is the reason for the health problem that finally forced Bill Veeck to dispose of his interest in the White Sox Saturday?

Bill and his doctors probably would be happy to tell you—if they knew.

But they don't know.

The doctors currently are in the process of eliminating things that are not wrong with him.

He will depart tomorrow for another stay at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn.

The process of elimination tests will be continued.

Previously it was determined that he does not have lung cancer.

He has a severe cough and is now refraining from drinking beer and is down from five packs to one pack of cigarettes a day.

Had Pneumonia.

His lung trouble was pneumonia.

Nor does his ailment have anything specifically to do with his amputated leg.

He is now able to wear an artificial leg regularly for the first time since his last amputation last June.

But his cough hangs on.

He noticed a long while ago that he was unusually fatigued—beyond what he though was normal for a middle-aged man who works 20 hours a day.

Lost 16 Pounds.

And he is losing some weight—16 pounds in the last month.

There is a possibility that a general infection is roaming his system—but just where and why is a task for the medical men to determine.

"Anything you do, Hank, is okay with me," said Veeck.

Bill then looked around for an atlas of the United States.

"If you had any place in the United States where you could go to relax for six or seven months, where would you go?" he asked.

BILL VEECK

The answer: The place where he has a ranch—New Mexico.

"The doctor's eyes lit up when he mentioned the ranch," said his wife, Mary Frances.

Then they found the ranch is 90 miles from the metropolis called Silver City, N.M. — and that one plane a day services Silver City. It would take a minimum of 24 hours to get into—or out of the ranch area.

Prefers Maryland.

Veeck himself would like to be nearer the baseball scene. He would also like a mild climate—"where you can see the change of seasons."

His ultimate choice: the eastern peninsula of Maryland, along the shore of Chesapeake Bay.

It is equidistant from Washington and Baltimore—"you have your choice of four teams, not just two, to watch," he says.

The climate is mild. They have good schools — and Veeck has four children.

His wife is expecting their fifth child in late June. All this imposes a time schedule on them that is beyond simply packing up and going for a vacation.

The Man have been close since they made two baseball trips together to entertain American troops, to the Aleutians during World War II and to Europe after it. On another entertaining expedition, Frisch was almost caught in the Battle of the Bulge, along with J. Roy Stockton, then the Post-Dispatch's veteran baseball writer. Stockton now is working with Frisch on the colorful character's autobiography.

Advice for Jake

The Old Flash acts as though he's shell shocked when he reflects on the boxscore bonuses paid today, the bonuses and the length of apprenticeship deemed necessary. Understand, of course, that the son of a New York linen manufacturer, who was born with a silver spoon in his mouth and played as though he had grown up cutting his teeth on a brass cuspidor, really wouldn't know first hand about minor league seasoning. He jumped right from Fordham University to the Polo Grounds in 1919.

Frisch watched the other day at Yankee Stadium as Jake Gibbs, the All-America football quarterback who received more than $100,000 to sign, took hitting practice. The left-handed hitter pulled everything to right field.

"I hope he learns to hit to left field, too," Frisch said. "I did and it made me a better ball player."

The Old Flash, nearly 64, rarely leaves the shade of his spacious lawn in suburban New Rochelle, N.Y. He does stand by for his former pitching star, Dizzy Dean, on one of the two national weekend baseball telecasts. The great money player of eight World Series never has lost his interest in the mint.

He gets his biggest kick from neighborhood kids, no higher than the handle bars of the bicycles they ride, who pass the old warrior's house and salute him.

"Hey, Flash," they'll say, mimicking Frisch's loudest lament as a manager and broadcaster, "'Oh, those bases on balls!'"

Stengel to Throw First Ball in Game at 'Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13 (UPI)—That little feller with the sly wink who used to manage the New York Yankees has accepted an invitation to throw out the first ball at the Major League All-Star game in Candlestick Park July 11.

However, that's not quite as large a part as Casey Stengel might have played in the contest. He would have been manager of the American League team—but he retired, or was fired, as manager of the Yanks after they won the pennant in 1960.

Horace Stoneham, president of the host San Francisco Giants, said yesterday that Commissioner Ford Frick had approved selection of Stengel to throw out the first ball.

The veteran pilot won 10 American League pennants to tie a record previously established by John McGraw of the Giants.

Paul Richards, who managed Baltimore to second place in the American League last year, will manage the junior circuit team. Danny Murtaugh of the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates will lead the National League.

Stengel also will appear at the annual Baseball Writers' dinner the night of July 10 in San Francisco.

Senators Edged Out.

Frank Woodward Dies; Former Card Hurler

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 13 (UPI)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Frank R. Woodward, 67 years old, former major league pitcher. He died Sunday.

Woodward played for the Philadelphia Phillies in 1918-19 and then with the St. Louis Cardinals, Washington Senators and Chicago White Sox.

Stickles played Jerry Buchek professionally for the San Francisco Forty-Niners in the National Football League.

Portland got an even break in its Pacific Coast League doubleheader with Salt Lake City, the Beavers winning the second game, 6 to 3, after dropping the first, 5 to 2. Two of Portland's four runs in the first inning of the nightcap were scored when GENE OLIVER and PHIL GAGLIANO walked with the bases loaded. DON LANDRUM and JOE KOPPE had singled and BOB BURDA had been walked. The third and fourth runs were scored on CHRIS CANNIZZARO'S sacrifice fly and JERRY BUCHEK'S single.

Rookie manager JOHNNY LIPON of the Toronto Maple Leafs will manage the International League All-Stars in their game against the Cleveland Indians in Buffalo, June 26.

HAL DIETZ won his fifth game in six decisions for the Charleston Marlins, 3-2, over Rochester. FRED WHITFIELD'S two-run homer tied the score, 2-2, in the sixth and JIM BEAUCHAMP singled home the clincher in the seventh. . . . Leadoff homers by EARL HERSCH and ELLIS BURTON helped Toronto defeat Columbus, 4-2.

Two Players Surrender in 'Fix' Case

Former Alabaman Gets Bond

RALEIGH, N.C., June 13 (AP) —Former Alabama Basketball player Jerry Vogel will be tried in Wake county Superior Court here on charges that he offered a University of North Carolina player $1000 to shave points in a basketball game.

Vogel, who surrendered voluntarily yesterday, waived preliminary hearing on the charges that he offered the money to Lou Brown, a former basketball player at North Carolina. Vogel was released on $3000 bond.

Lester V. Chalmers Jr., district solicitor (prosecutor), said Brown and Vogel came to his office yesterday and surrendered. He said the State Bureau of Investigation took Vogel into custody.

Aaron Wagman of New York has been accused there of trying to bribe Brown, through Vogel to shave points in the North Carolina-South Carolina basketball game, Dec. 2, 1959. Vogel allegedly was Wagman's "fix" man in this area.

Last week Brown was charged in New York with offering a bribe to former North Carolina player Ray Stanley. Stanley turned down the offer but was named as a co-conspirator in the New York investigation for not reporting the bribe attempt.

Hightower to Quit Rens' Camp Because Of Steers' Beef

WAYNESBURG, Pa., June 13 (UPI) — Wayne Hightower, who dropped out of Kansas University last week, will leave the Pittsburgh Rens summer camp here because of an eligibility dispute with the Kansas City Steers.

"I plan to work out and then leave in a couple of days," the 6-9 Hightower said.

Litman added that he will terminate negotiations with Hightower on orders from American Basketball League president Abe Saperstein.

The ABL boss is in Warsaw, Poland, with his Harlem Globetrotters. He will return to the United States June 24 and will make a ruling on the Hightower case at that time.

Equals Track Record

OCEANPORT, N.J., June 13 (AP)—Darby Dan Farm's undefeated Primonetta equaled the Monmouth Park track record for six furlongs in an easy victory in yesterday's feature race. The daughter of Swaps gained her seventh straight victory and covered the six furlongs in 1:08 2-5, equalling the mark established by the champion sprinter of 1957, River Divide Farm's Decathlon. Primonetta was ridden by Howard Grant.

Primonetta coasted home three lengths ahead of Brae Burn Farm's Shirley Jones, who was seven lengths ahead of Dixiana's Green Trunk. Primonetta paid $3.40.

$3,000,000 Offered For N.F.L. Redskins

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP) —A Cleveland group has offered about $3,000,000 for the Washington Redskins, but principal owner George Preston Marshall says he is not interested in the offer.

Milton W. King, vice president of the National Football League club, said yesterday he had received a letter from Creighton Miller, Cleveland attorney, stating that parties represented by Miller were willing to pay "in the neighborhood of $3,000,000." The group made a similar bid about a year ago at which time Marshall cracked, "I thought he represented the players." Miller is representative of the National Football League Players Association.

Marshall owns 68.7 per cent of the Redskins' stock. King formerly owned about 25 per cent of the stock, but recently disposed of most of his holdings and now owns 6.3 per cent.

Hurls No-Hitter

Ken Pemberton, 17-year-old righthander, hurled a seven-inning no-hitter yesterday in Nixon Brothers' 2-0 victory over Downhill in a Normandy Township Athletic Association baseball game. Pemberton struck out 12 and walked five.

17 Winners Saddled By Leading Trainer Roenigke at Cahokia

By Herman Wecke

Three two-year-olds from the Sam E. Pershall string have accounted for five of the 17 winners that Fred Roenigke, leading trainer at Cahokia Downs, has saddled at the current race meet. The three are Moody Mary, Easy Fly and Miss Terrible.

Moody Mary has two firsts as has Easy Fly. Miss Terrible came into the winner's circle in her only out at the East Side Jockey Club course.

The oldest horse to win for Roenigke is the seven-year-old Chubo. The three-year-olds Big Burma and Brecada have each won twice. Four-year-old winners for the Collinsville veteran are Pal-Lu and Homburg, and the five-year-olds Rolia Ria, Noble Hal, Hi-Banderette and Sun 'N Fun each have won a race.

In addition to his 17 firsts, Roenigke has 12 seconds and six thirds.

Trailing Roenigke is Tom Johnston, who has saddled 10 winners for the Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Triplett stable. Top horse in the Triplett barn is the eight-year-old Rare Vintage with three firsts and a second.

Earl Roberts is third among the trainers with nine wins.

Three Firsts for Ed R.

Senior members of the horse racing fraternity, those from 10 to 13 years old, have been in the money in only 11 of 113 starts at the course.

And tops in the list is the 13-year-old Ed R, owned by Al Turner. Ed R has started five times and has three firsts and two seconds. Lassar and O'Brien's Pat, the other 13-year-olds that have gone to the post, have failed to get into the money. The only victory for the five 12-year-olds in 11 starts is Pawnee Bill. Varwin has a show to his credit.

Ten-year-olds have accounted for four victories in 58 starts. Bar Chip has two and Gay Sheet and Oalo one each. Grand Vino is the only 11-year-old to win in 33 starts for the 11 horses in this age bracket.

Three jockeys are over the 20 mark in victories. Wayne Stevens shows the way with 29, followed by Dave Gall, 27, and Hector Sanabria, 22.

There will be the usual nine-race program tonight with post time for the opener at 8:30 o'clock.

McKinley Wins Match In England

BRISTOL, England, June 13 (UPI)—Top-seeded Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn was extended today to defeat Tim Heckler of South Africa, 9-7, 7-5, in the first round of men's singles in the West of England Lawn Tennis Championships.

Advancing along with Holmberg were fellow Americans Chuck McKinley of St. Louis, Whitney Reed of Alameda, Calif., and Don Dell of Bethesda, Md., but Chris Crawford of Piedmont, Calif., was eliminated by Pedro Rodriguez of Chile, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3.

McKinley defeated Esteban Reyes of Mexico, 6-2, 6-1, while Reed downed J. Pickard of Derby, England, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4. Bell defeated B. Geraghty of Australia, 6-2, 6-3.

Jockey, 35, Dies Of Fall Injuries

CLEVELAND, June 13 (UPI) —Walter Mann, 35 years old, a nationally known jockey from Philadelphia, died today of injuries suffered when he fell from his horse during a workout at Randall Park last Tuesday.

Mann first refused hospital treatment after the fall. But he returned to the hospital in the evening when head pains developed.

Death was attributed to the effects of a cerebral hemorrhage

Phils' Tony Gonzales Has Eye Infection

PHILADELPHIA, June 13 (UPI)—Tony Gonzales, Philadelphia Phillies right fielder and one of the leading hitters in the National League, was admitted to the University of Pennsylvania Hospital today for treatment of an eye infection.

Dr. K. George Lacquer, team physician, said that Gonzales, 23, a .317 hitter, would be out of action at least a week.

EX-TELLER GIVES HOLDUP ACCOUNT IN BANK CASE

Mrs. Ruby Nafie, former teller at Mercantile Trust Co., took the witness stand in United States District Court today and repeated her account of the reported $15,266 holdup at the bank last Dec. 2.

Mrs. Nafie, a divorcee, and August Tom Rizzo, former operator of the Fireplace restaurant, 3427 South Kingshighway, are charged with conspiring to steal the money through a false holdup. A jury of 10 men and two women is hearing the evidence in the court of Judge Randolph H. Weber.

Testifying in a clear voice, Mrs. Nafie gave an account of her routine duties prior to the reported holdup, which she said occurred about 10 minutes after she returned from lunch.

Describes 2 Men.

"Two colored men came to my window, No. 62. One was large, more than six feet tall and weighing about 200 pounds," the defendant related. "He wore overalls, a plaid shirt and a felt hat. The second man was smaller, and he wore the same type clothes.

"The big man pushed a paper bag through the window. It was a grocery-type bag and there were coins in the bottom. I poured out the coins, mostly quarters, and a wad of paper fell out with the money.

"I opened the paper. It was a note. It read: 'Give me everything in the right drawer'. I put money in the bag, two or three handfuls. The large man said: That's enough.' Previously he had told me to give him all the money, and he threatened to kill me if I made a move."

Mrs. Mafie said the man jerked the bag through the window and walked away, turning to the left. The smaller man, who held a piece of paper resembling a check in his hand, followed the other man, Mrs. Nafie testified.

In her concluding testimony, the former teller told of reporting to another employe that there had been a holdup, explaining there was no alarm in her cage. She said she was hysterical and received attention from the bank nurse.

Mrs. Nafie said she resigned Jan. 15 from the bank, where she had worked seven years, because of embarrassment resulting from frequent interrogation by detectives and federal agents. Cross-examination was brief.

The Government closed its case yesterday with evidence attempting to trace new $20 bills from Mercantile Trust Co. to the personal accounts of Rizzo and his brother in Manchester Bank after the reported holdup.

Gives Serial Numbers.

Lester Philips, head currency teller at Mercantile, testified that 50 new $20 bills, which Mrs. Nafie had taken into her cage at the opening of business Dec. 2, were missing after the robbery was reported. Philips gave the serial numbers of the bills.

William A. Kennedy, auditor for Manchester Bank, told the jury that four of the missing $20 bills, identified by the serial numbers, were deposited in the August Tom Rizzo account Dec. 12 and a fifth bill appeared in the account Dec. 14. Eight of the 20s were deposited to the account of Angelo T. Rizzo on Dec. 12, the witness testified.

The bills were turned over to federal agents, who had furnished Manchester Bank the serial numbers, Kennedy stated. The bills were introduced in evidence by the Government and were examined by the jurors.

Mrs. Beulah Jones, who was employed by R. B. Enterprises, which operated the restaurant and other businesses of August and Angelo Rizzo, testified that prior to the reported holdup, company bank accounts at Manchester Bank were closed and money from the restaurant subsequently was deposited in the brothers' personal accounts. Mrs. Jones said she made the daily deposits.

ST. LOUIS BLUE CROSS PLAN NAMES 2 VICE PRESIDENTS

John R. Kelly, 9400 Blue Grass drive, Jennings, and Robert E. Shelton, 1442 Hawthorne place, Richmond Heights, have been appointed vice presidents of the St. Louis Blue Cross Plan, it was announced today.

Kelly, a native of St. Louis, served as director of Enrollment for Blue Cross since 1951. He is a graduate of St. Louis University and was captain of the basketball team there.

Shelton has been a controller for Blue Cross since 1958 and is a graduate of Washington University. He served with the United States Navy during World War II in the South Pacific.

HOUSE VOTES POINT SYSTEM FOR DRIVERS

By EDWARD H. THORNTON
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 13— A Senate-approved bill to set up a point system for automobile drivers, with demerits for each traffic violation, was passed by the House today by a vote of 132 to 7.

Seven amendments were adopted, and so the measure will have to be sent back to the Senate. It is expected that a joint conference will be necessary to work out the differences between House and Senate versions.

As pased by the Senate, the demerits to be charged would range from two to 12, depending on the nature of the violation. Eight in 18 months would require suspension of the driver's license for 30 to 90 days. Twelve in 12 months, 18 in 24, or 24 in 36 months would result in revocation of license.

Amendments adopted by the House included one adding a section providing four demerits for passing when the driver's view was obstructed—on hills and curves.

Another would provide 12 demerits for driving when intoxicated, or under the influence of narcotics, in violation of state law anywhere. The Senate called for only five demerits in this section for violation of municipal or county law.

A Senate-approved bill to stiffen the penalties for narcotics peddlers was reported favorably last night by the House Committee on Civil and Crmiinal Procedure.

The measure is sponsored by Circuit Attorney Daniel P. Reardon Jr. of St. Louis, with support of the Federal Narcotics Bureau and the St. Louis police narcotics squad.

Committee recommendation of passage was without dissent, after a hearing at which proponents contended that a sharp increase in narcotics traffic is a major cause of serious crimes in St. Louis.

Under provisions of the bill, the maximum sentence for sale of narcotics would be life in prison, instead of the present maximum of 50 years. If the narcotics were sold to a person under 21 years of age, the death penalty could be imposed.

The minimum penalty for sale would be five years in prison and the court would have no authority to suspend sentence or grant a parole.

Also recommended for passage by the House committee was a Senate-approved bill to revise the judicial procedure for release from mental hospitals of persons acquitted of felonies on the ground of insanity. The decision would be left to the court in which the person was tried and acquitted.

A resolution was introduced in the House today suggesting the possibility of impeachment proceedings against Circuit Judge Virgil A. Poelker of St. Louis county, who has been indicted on a charge of failing to file a 1959 state income tax return.

The resolution was introduced by Representatives Monty Harlow (Rep.), Springfield, and Martin L. Degenhardt (Rep.), Perryville. It requested that the House ask the other judges of Judge Poelker's circuit whether there is sufficent cause for the House to start action. It was referred to a committee.

Cuba

The underground is composed chiefly of angry and disillusioned young men and women who once were ardent supporters of Castro.

One youth bitterly summarized the feelings of many:

"Castro promised respect of individual rights, respect of private ownership, the re-establishment of the Constitution of 1940, and elections within 18 months.

"And now what do we have? A socialist government, a police state—in fact, the worst dictatorship in the western hemisphere."

No one knows how many Cubans are members of the underground. There are five groups that work together, although each maintains its own identity. They have infiltrated every government department as well as the militia and the army, but they live in constant danger of execution or long prison sentences.

Their greatest difficulty is to keep government agents out of their ranks. Moreover, there are thousands serving in the dreaded army intelligence service, and other secret repressive corps. All of these groups are under the command of Maj. Raul Castro and their duty is to eradicate all opposition to the government.

The underground lost thousands of dollars worth of arms and explosives in the nation-wide house-to-house search that followed the invasion. It will take many months for the premier's foes to collect such weapons again to carry out effective sabotage and terrorism, even if they escape the "campaign of liquidation" that Castro has instituted.

Clean-Up Detail At School Picnic

THE HOUSEWIFE picking up bottles at the grade school picnic had a faithful helper. The helper was her son Tom, age 5. He is strong for his age. He picked up things too heavy for older children and their parents to carry 10 feet to trash cans, sandwich bags and candy wrappers and wadded-up cigarette packages.

JACK RICE

Several hundred children competed with their parents to make the suburban picnic grounds look lived-in. The children won. The parents were outnumbered but with a little cheating they could have won. The parents could have told the children to be neat and put their trash in the cans, but modern parents do not play sneaky. They are true pals with their children and help them make a mess of the place.

The city government responsible for the picnic area has a game it plays, too, with P.-T.A.s and other picnic sponsors. The stakes are $50. The picnic sponsor puts up $50, as a wager that the park looks fairly decent after the picnic. If it doesn't, the city keeps the $50.

Mrs. Bottles was the P.-T.A. committeewoman in charge of protecting the $50. She got a large box at 1 o'clock and began a tour of the area. Her son Tom went with her. They began policing the grounds the amateur way, by hand.

Mrs. Bottles looked at the man. He appeared healthy. He appeared happy. He appeared content to sit and watch her pick up the trash around his table.

She went on. The box became heavy. Her son became flushed. He was not accustomed to walking bent over, throwing old lunches into a box. She said, "Let's stop for a snow cone and you sit in the shade."

"Yeah," he said, "this is kind of a dull party, isn't it?"

He sat in the shade with a snow cone and she resumed work. A woman said, "What you need is one of those sticks with a nail on the end."

Mrs. Bottles became aware she had help. She saw that her son was back at work, too.

A woman at a picnic bench said, "That's good for your figure, dear, but what you need is one of those sticks with a nail on the end of it."

Mrs. Bottles straightened up. She said, "You're lucky I don't have a stick with a nail on the end of it."

Two Boy Scouts came to Mrs. Bottles. They had been picking up bottles for 45 minutes. They represented a work force of Boy Scouts that had been promised.

"Is that all?" said a Boy Scout.

Mrs. Bottles looked around. The contest was not slacking off. Bottles were dropping. Sandwich bags and candy wrappers snowed steadily, from hand to ground.

"I'd appreciate it if you'd help pick up some of the paper."

"Well, OK. But we don't wanna."

She quietly said something to herself. A Boy Scout oath, probably. Two hours later the school principal came to her and said, "They certainly did a fine job cleaning up, didn't they?"

Mrs. Bottles gently put a hand on her son's shoulder. She looked around her. The Boy Scouts had departed long ago. The pin-on-a-stick advisers had gone. The park was clean.

"They?" said Mrs. Bottles. "You're looking at 'They'."

The principal folded his arms and smiled uncertainly. Mrs. Bottles waited for him to say something. Perhaps about a pin on a stick. He didn't, and thereby lived to see another school day.

Breakthrough in One Type of Retardation

Discovery of Special Diet Spared One Child of Family, Came Too Late for Another

By Patricia McCormack

NEW YORK, June 13 (UPI). BUT FOR A BREAKTHROUGH in medical science, the Richard McGraths of Arvada, Colo., would have two mentally crippled daughters—instead of one.

Daughters Shelia, 7 years old, and Kammy, 5, soon after birth developed a metabolic deficiency called phenylketonuria—PKU.

The breakthrough that helped Kammy came too late for Shelia. It is a special diet that stops the deficiency from strangling the brain cells, stunting their growth. Shelia, born too early to be helped, developed to the level of 18 months mentally—and stayed there.

But her older sister can feed herself and play. School, mommy, daddy are the three words in her vocabulary. She can count to five.

Mrs. McGrath, 36, a former airline stewardess, is grateful for the advance that helped Kammy and isn't complaining publicly over the fact that Shelia was born too soon to benefit.

"You learn to take what comes in life," she said. "My faith, teaching to accept what is given even if it means suffering, has been a source of strength."

The two McGrath girls are the children who will be pictured on millions of posters late this fall during the 1961 campaign of the National Association for Retarded Children.

The campaign slogan is, "Retarded children can be helped." "Kammy was helped dramatically," Mrs. McGrath said. "And Shelia is being helped to security at the state training school she attends.

"What we must understand about Shelia is that for her the level of devolopment is normal. She comes home sometimes, but when night comes, she wants to go back to the school. She is happy there."

Mrs. McGrath said a third pregnancy two years ago marked the peak of suffering in her dealings with PKU.

"I wondered for nine months," she said, "is this thing going to happen a third time? But the third baby, Lisa, didn't have the disorder.

"Before Kammy was born I said to myself the worst has happened. It happened to Shelia and it can't happen again. But it did. You can understand why I was so worried about Lisa."

The McGraths were in New York as celebrities, a status achieved as a result of their children being chosen for the 1961 poster.

Shelia was granted leave from the state training school she attends.

"But it is hard on her being away," Mrs. McGrath said. "She misses the routine at the school.

"We must understand that for her this situation is normal. When she is with us, trying to reach into our world, she is as frustrated as I would be with Einstein. We are worlds apart."

Mrs. McGrath said the handicap in the family—as she describes what happened to Shelia—has helped all the children. There are five daughters.

"It teaches the older children to have a compassion for humanity," she said. "As a result, the children have something extra in the way of understanding the problems of others.

"They don't apologize for Shelia and neither do we. To do so would be like apologizing for God."

By the Associated Press.

There is a 10-cent test for PKU which consists of a chemically coated strip, placed in contact with the baby's wet diaper. It quickly gives a positive or negative reaction.

"PKU is rare, only one in 20,000 babies has it," says Dr. Joseph Wortis, director of the Solomon Retardation Clinic at Brooklyn Jewish Hospital.

"But it's very easy to detect and I recommend that the test be done."

A lactose-free synthetic diet, given from the first month to a baby who tests PKU positive, will prevent retardation.

Sheila McGrath was diagnosed as having PKU when she was a year old, but the new diet didn't become available until she was 18 months. By that time, she could not see, sit or walk. After two weeks on the diet she could sit up and see. She soon began walking. But the diet could not offset the damage that had already occurred to her brain.

Now Sheila lives in a Colorado state training school and visits her family on weekends. Sheila's IQ is under 50. She can be trained in self-care but not educated.

Her sister Kammy has been on the synthetic diet since she tested positive for PKU shortly after birth.

Though chances of having a baby with PKU are rare, the National Association for Retarded Children says the chance of a family producing a second PKU child is one in four. In Kansas and several other states, the retarded in institutions are being tested. Whenever a PKU victim is found, the other children in the family, especially infants, are tested.

The baby must be three weeks old for the test to be effective.

Dr. Wortis says most pediatricians aren't giving the tests bebause PKU is so rare, but they will give it, he says, if parents ask for it. Child health clinics in California, Missouri, Washington and New York City are giving the test to all babies brought in.

The PKU test was the first breakthrough in the prevention of retardation resulting from "inborn causes of metabolism." Dr. Wortis says galactosuria, in which one of the sugars in milk can't be used by the child's body, also can be discovered by a simple test and prevented by a special diet.

The doctor says galactosuria, however, is even more rare than PKU.

But retardation — which also can be caused by disorders during pregnancy, at birth or during childhood—is not rare. It is four times as common as rheumatic heart, nine times more prevalent than cerebral palsy, affects 15 times more people than blindness.

Researchers are working to find more of the causes and preventions of retardation. The Kammy McGrath they can save makes it vitally important.

Opening lead—ten of hearts.

PROBABLY the most mystifying play in bridge is the smother play. It is hard to believe that such a play can exist, but it does. True, it is seldom encountered in the ordinary run of cards, but its rarity merely serves to make the play more dramatic when it occurs.

Here is an example of the smother play. West holds what appears to be a sure trump trick, but if declarer plays correctly it can be made to disappear.

Assume that West leads the 10 of hearts and East cashes the A-K and continues with the jack. South ruffs with the nine and leads the queen of spades. West ducks, of course, and declarer finesses. South then leads the three and finesses the eight, East showing out.

West now has the K-6 of spades, dummy the lone ace, and South the J-10. West's trump trick seems secure, but South invokes the smother play to do him out of it.

Declarer cashes three diamond tricks, everybody following suit. Declarer sees that he is in danger of losing a spade and a club, but notes that he can make the contract if the queen of clubs falls as he cashes the A-K or if it turns out that East has three clubs to the queen.

Accordingly, he leads the A-K of clubs, and when the queen does not fall, he plays another club. Fortunately, it turns out that East has the queen and wins the trick.

By this time, everyone is down to two cards. East has a heart and a diamond, South and West each have two trumps, and dummy has the ace of spades and a club.

East is on lead. Whatever he plays, South ruffs with the 10. West, who has the K-6 of spades, is suddenly in bad shape.

If he overruffs, dummy's ace wins, and South takes the last trick with the jack. If he underruffs, declarer discards the club from dummy and wins the last trick with the ace of trumps.

Either way the king is smothered.

Ann Landers

The Wedding Loot

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I wouldn't believe this if it weren't happening to me. Please tell me what to do.

I am engaged to marry a lovely girl. The wedding date has been set for August. Her folks have kept a written record of every gift they have sent in the last 15 years—birthdays, graduation, wedding and anniversaries. Alongside each gift is the estimated value.

ANN LANDERS

They are inviting people they haven't seen in years, just because they owe a gift. The whole thing is nauseating to me and my parents are very unhappy about it. My fiancee doesn't like it either but she says her folks are adamant. Am I too idealistic as my father-in-law says or is this outrageous?

JUST THE GROOM.

Dear Groom: It IS outrageous but unfortunately, since the bride's parents put on the wedding (or should I say auction?) there's not much you can do about the guest list. They can invite whomever they please, for whatever reasons they choose. So grin and bear it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I used to think your column was only for women but I see almost as many letters from men so I decided to write for an opinion.

I've been married for nine years to a woman who still wears a Phi Beta Kappa key around her neck. It wouldn't be so bad, except her neck is usually dirty.

Our home was brand-new when we moved into it. The furniture was lovely. Now the place looks like a barn. She never has anything repaired, replaced, recovered or cleaned.

She says housework is for horses. In the meantime, the dishes are washed with the same rag she uses on the floor. Then she leaves the rag wadded up in the corner of the sink. I told her she can take a job downtown and hire a housekeeper but she says no, she must stay at home and write the great American novel.

What can I do? STUCK.

Dear Stuck: If you can possibly afford it, hire a housekeeper or a day-woman. Tell "Edna Ferber" the dirt may not bother her but you're tired of looking at it. Give the housekeeper permission to have the drapes cleaned, the furniture shampooed and do whatever needs to be done to keep the place up. There's no reason why you should have to live like you are just because your wife is a slob.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teen-agers if you write for Ann Landers' booklet, "How to Live With Your Parents," inclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Beauty After 40

By Edyth Thornton McLeod

MY NIECE, who has always lived with my husband and me, is getting married in August. She wants me to have a new outfit and really dress up, but as I am 65 I feel that this is foolish. Do you agree? The wedding is at noon in the parsonage, and ten people will be present. What can I wear that is simple? I am tall, not overweight, wear glasses and my hair is long. I wear a large bun in the back, which makes it difficult to find hats. I never wear one. Mrs. R.

Your niece is perfectly right. You MUST look your best. Wear a dress of a soft material, either a solid color or a small, attractive print, have a pretty veil (they come ready-made) and this will take the place of a hat. You will need gloves, a small bag and attractive shoes. You must take your place in the wedding, as your obligation demands this, and it will be fun to "dress up." But what do you mean by saying that to dress well at 65 is foolish? That is wrong thinking!

I AM 50 and have pure white hair. My husband and I must attend a fancy dress ball and I have a lilac dress to wear. I am wondering, if I had my hair tinted lilac, would it ruin my hair? Where could this be done? Katie E.

This would be very attractive and, of course, you should have this done at a beauty parlor if you are unaccustomed to tinting your hair at home. Take a sample of the dress and the hairdresser can match your hair rinse to it. A pale shade of lilac is in good taste without going to a fancy dress ball, and a blue or lilac rinse tends to keep white hair whiter.

An Exchange Shop To Help Scholars

SHOW ME A WOMAN who isn't a bargain hunter and I won't believe you. Newest mecca for the bargain buffs is the Scholarshop, where you can ferret out a find, help a good cause and enjoy a lot of "just looking, thanks" at the same time.

CLARISSA START

The Scholarshop, at 7809 Forsyth boulevard, Clayton, is sponsored by the Scholarship Foundation of St. Louis, Mrs. Robert C. Treiman, president, and is best described as the place where you can exchange things you have and can't use for those you haven't and can use. Proceeds go to the Foundation which lends money to deserving students—83 at present—for college educations.

Far from a thrift rummage shop, the Scholarshop takes only things in good style, clean and pressed. A tagging and pricing committee assesses the value and the donor receives, not cash but a credit. Say, you give a coat worth $20, you then have $10 in "credit" on the books; the remaining $10 is your income tax deduction.

When you come to shop, you note the price tags have two numbers. A suit, for instance, may be 10 plus 10. You may use your $10 credit plus $10 cash to buy it. Or you might buy those cute plaid shorts for 50 cents plus 50 cents and save $9.50 for another day. If you have no credit, you may pay the entire amount in cash.

This combination cash-credit-contribution shop was the idea of Mrs. Eric Newman, who has ideas the way other people have relatives. (The Flea Market, Book Fair and Missouri Historical Society Country Store were earlier inspirations.) She disclaims originality, explaining that the idea was adopted from the Chapin-Brearley exchange shop in New York operated by two private schools there.

The shop is staffed entirely by volunteers and three of them, Mrs. Frank Petelik, Mrs. Raymond Schultz and Mrs. Henry Lowenhaupt, showed me around. It takes tact to tell a donor her 1945 ballerina skirt will not do but this selectivity makes for a smart stock. In best condition are teen-ager formals. One dreamy white eyelet dress was new enough and pretty enough for any prom. But there are also handsome suits (one by a "name designer"), dresses, coats, children's clothes from baby sizes on.

"We're trying to get a stock of uniforms," said Mrs. Newman. "We have Mary Institute and Villa jackets, City House, Boy and Girl Scout uniforms. We also want sports equipment and last winter exchanged literally thousands of pairs of ice skates."

Opened in December, the shop is Victorian in decor, Mrs. Newman and Mrs. Frank Pelton having unearthed a marble topped dresser, iron fencing and even ancestral portraits. Mrs. Pelton and Mrs. Wayne Bigler do the seasonal window decorations.

A bulletin board lists "wants." One potential purchaser wants a den mother's uniform, size 10 or 12, another a girl's riding habit, size 16. Another woman wants a mink stole. (Who doesn't?)

Customers come from the best schools and best addresses. A Washington University girl between allowances, needing something special for a big date, found it for $3. Even women wary of being seen in someone's cast-off are reassured when they find the stock so large, a certain popular style may be had in several sizes. Volunteers have found that, far from being secretive, a woman will greet them at a party with a happy, "Look at my new dress; I bought it at your Scholarshop."

"In today's world," said Mrs. Newman, "it's smart to be thrifty."

That's what I kept telling myself as I detoured several times back to that name designer suit. Don't look for it when you go in. It was such a bargain, I bought it.

Diet for a Prettier You

WHEN YOU REDUCE, what you really are aiming at is a prettier you. Therefore, it is important to concentrate on the WHOLE you. A loss in pounds and inches improves the figure, but if you lose a lot of weight too rapidly and neglect the essentials of good nutrition, you may end up with greater defects in beauty than the rolls and bulges were. A few pounds off the hips and waist do not compensate for the new wrinkles and flabbiness.

Happily, a loss in poundage can make you prettier if you go about it correctly. If you wish to reduce without getting any scars from the battle of the bulge, you should think of slimming as an over-all beauty project.

This includes sound eating habits which give you a weight loss without sacrificing the basic requirements of good nutrition. Many women eliminate whole groups of food which play important parts in good looks AND good health.

A good reducing diet is high in protein and vitamins and minerals (fruits, vegetables, lean meat, milk, eggs, fowl, seafoods and fish) but we also need some fat in our diet. A long-term reducing diet which cuts all fat from the diet may lead to dry, flaky skin. We also need some carbohydrates for health and energy.

Your fat and carbohydrates intakes should be reduced, but include some of these. Also there are high vitamin content supplement foods which are helpful. For instance, wheat germ is low in calories and high in vitamins. It can be sprinkled over food, or put in soups and low-calorie salad dressings. This has a high content of thiamine and riboflavin. Powdered milk also can be used in the same way to reinforce the diet.

Exercise is very important. Even 15 minutes a day will help you combat flabbiness. Gradual reduction, when you have many pounds to lose, and skin lubrication are two important factors in beautiful slimming. Only the very young skin has the elasticity to bounce back into shape after a sudden loss of a great many pounds. Therefore, skin lubrication is more important than ever during a slimming period.

For a nutritious diet, try Josephine Lowman's 9-Day Diet. You can lse up to 10 pounds. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope, plus 10 cents with your request for the 9-Day Diet booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of the Post-Dispatch.

Professor Describes His Water Dowsing

Arthur B. Cleaves Says It Works and Almost Anyone Can Do It; Tells How He Found Leaks in Dams

—By a Post-Dispatch Photographer.

By Olivia Skinner
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff

"I TAKE my geology students dowsing to teach them scientific humility," says Arthur B. Cleaves, Washington University geology professor and an internationally known engineering geologist. He feels that dowsing is like flying saucers. Everyone keeps saying they don't exist and yet they keep coming back.

Dowsing is an ancient method of finding hidden water by means of the reaction of a sensitive rod held in the hand.

When Cleaves's students first feel their straightened wire coathangers slowly fan out in their hands to indicate the presence of underground water, Cleaves reports that their mouths hang open in surprise. Reactions range from "It isn't so but it is," to remarks unsuitable for a family newspaper.

Organized science poo-poohs the whole matter. The United States Geological Survey has called it a fake and the Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs declared that dowsing is "usually dismissed with palmistry, spiritualism, Ouija boards and other occult practices as a subject unworthy of serious consideration."

However, 56-year-old Cleaves, dowsing's staunch supporter, is a serious scientist. A Harvard Ph.D., he holds membership in the joint committee of the American Society of Civil Engineers and the Geographical Society of America and the Paleontology Society. In 1945 he was the American recipient of a letter of commendation from the Secretary of the Navy for the development of the Penguin boat. He also received a Presidential Certificate of Merit in 1948.

Cleaves is basically concerned with dams, highways and landslides and only incidentally with locating water. "In my business you're usually trying to get rid of water, not find it," he says. However, even in this connection his "water witching," "divining," or "dowsing" has aided him concretely.

For instance, last year he was consulted by a drilling company to find the source of a leak under a dam holding the waters of man-made Lake Lorraine, about 22 miles southwest of St. Louis on Route 21. The leak had caused the lake to drop 60 feet. Cleaves's purely geological and geophysical efforts to locate the leaks failed completely. As a last resort he suggested, "Let's try dowsing, just for fun." A helpful drilling company representative produced from his car the requisite wire coathangers, already previously straightened into dowsing rods for his own use.

Cleaves and three other workers moved back and forth till the rods, held loosely in their hands, swung slowly out away from each other to indicate the underground leak. The drilling company excavated at the spot indicated, found the holes and plugged them up. A spring formed by the leak about 200 yards away dried up immediately and the lake rose to its former level.

Cleaves was not suprised. By dowsing in 1952 he had located similar leaks in the dam of Lake Tishomingo, a few miles west of Lake Lorraine.

His first experience with dowsing was in 1930 when he was a post-graduate geology student at Harvard. Edward B. Blakely, chief engineer of the Worthington Pump Co. of Jersey City, needed a well for his boys' camp at Sebago Lake near South Casco, Me. He decided to dowse for it.

Called in to participate in the experiment were George Taylor, Yale basketball coach; Edward Kennedy, a swimming instructor at Columbia University; Cleaves and his father, the Rev. Arthur W. Cleaves, a Baptist minister from Providence, R.I. These eastern dowsers used a forked fruitwood wand instead of the customary St. Louis coathangers, but results were excellent. For each man the wand indicated the same spot, where a satisfactory well was subsequently dug.

"Don't let anyone tell you there is no such thing as dowsing," said Cleaves. "There is. When some scientists can't explain something, they laugh. But I have experienced this phenomenon myself. I know that I have made no conscious effort to control the rods.

"We are just beginning to learn about the chemistry of the earth. The rods must bend by some physiological, chemical or electrical force caused by a human with warmth in his hands walking over moving water. Though skeptics have done everything in their power to see that it doesn't work, it does."

Cleaves's geological work and his avocation, animal collecting, have taken him to far-flung spots all over the globe. He is constantly interlarding his conversation with phrases like, "That reminds me of the time I was pushed into a Greenland fjord by two male musk oxen who thought I was a lady musk ox," or, "I remember when I sat down on a poisonous muneri ant one and a half inches long in British Guiana."

In the course of his travels he has come upon many phenomena which are inexplicable by ordinary standards. He said: "Just because there isn't a logical explanation for something that happens doesn't mean that it's bad or fraudulent."

In this connection, he explained that dowsing has for hundreds of years been in scientific disrepute. Nevertheless one of the first records of it is in the Old Testament when Moses struck a rock with his rod to provide water in the desert for the Children of Israel. Dowsing has also been used by the Scythians, Medes, Persians, Turks, Chinese, Greeks and Romans. In northern Europe, the divining rod first was employed to locate ore in the mining districts of the German Hartz Mountains in the fifteenth century.

In the Middle Ages, dowsing was used not only to find water and ore but also hidden treasure, lost domestic animals and criminals. Cleaves does not vouch for any of these functions except finding water. He thoroughly discounts claims of other dowsers that their skill can be practiced over a map of an area thousands of miles away, or from a moving car or airplane. (One man even claimed that he could walk barefoot over an area and find water by means of the changes in his blood pressure.)

"You must walk very slowly," advised Cleaves. "In St. Louis the most usual divining rod is a pair of straightened out coathangers or welding rods. These are held loosely in your fists so that over water they can swing out till they are pointing directly away from each other. Of course the most exciting, most sensitive dowsing rod is the forked stick of fresh-cut fruitwood. You must hold the fork branches in either hand, so tightly that your knuckles are white. When you are over water not over 30 feet underground, the fork will bend down violently to a 90-degree angle, so violently that the bark twists off in your hands. It feels like a fishpole pulled by a large fish."

Cleaves emphasizes that divining is not a rare skill. Almost anyone, evidently, can be a do-it-yourself diviner with a pair of coathangers and a set of pliers.

On May 27 he attended a cocktail party given by the university's chairman of romance languages, Milan La Du and his wife. For fun, Cleaves persuaded nine fellow guests to try water witching in the back yard of the La Du home, 115 Oakwood avenue, Webster Groves. The rods performed for eight of the 10 guests who tried it. They located a buried water pipe without difficulty. Curiously enough, one of the two failures was Cleaves. His only explanation was that perhaps bourbon whisky had disturbed his body chemistry.

"The men were absolutely amazed," said Cleaves. "They didn't want to believe in flim-flam. The women were delighted—women usually work much more with improbabilities anyway."

Cleaves intends to conduct a water witching demonstration to convince the skeptics at the convention of the American Geological Society's convention to be held in Cincinnati. In the meantime he takes heart when he remembers that Lake Lorraine can spring another leak at any time.

"If it does," he said with conviction, "this time I won't fool around. I'll approach the whole thing systematically and start right out with my dowsing rods."

WOMEN

Four Girls to Bow At Afternoon Teas

By Karin Hayward

TWO COUSINS, Miss Nancy Bradford Kingsland and Miss Marilee Ewing Thompson, will be presented to society today at a tea to be given by their grandmother, Mrs. Edward P. Hall, at Algonquin Golf Club.

MISS RUSSE . . . To Serve at Tea.

Miss Thompson, who is called Twinkie by her friends, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Thompson, 441 Clark avenue, Kirkwood; Miss Kingsland's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Robert C. Kingsland, live at 12 Oak terrace, Webster Groves.

Yellow and white Fuji chrysanthemums and pale blue delphinium decorate the club for the party. The girls, their mothers and Mrs. Hall will greet the guests before the fireplace.

Miss Kingsland and Miss Thompson will wear white organza gowns with short sleeves and bell-shaped skirts. The dresses are identical except for the trimming—three bands of embroidery, yellow for Miss Thompson and blue for Miss Kingsland, on each skirt. The young women will carry old-fashioned bouquets.

Mrs. Hall will be in pale green chiffon. Mrs. Thompson will wear light beige lace and Mrs. Kingsland, light blue lace. All will have orchid corsages.

A silver tureen on the table holds more of the white, yellow and blue blossoms. Assisting will be a group of the debutantes' contemporaries. They are Miss Jane Childress, Miss Margaret Doyle, Miss Odille Thatcher, Miss Emily Simmons, Miss Eleanor Rodgers, Miss Virginia Skinner, Miss Betsy Goodson, Miss Ann Gillis, Miss Marjory Wentworth and Miss Dorothy Demaree.

Assisting the hostess will be several of her relatives, Mrs. James Mountford Aull, Mrs. Philip von Phul Hall, Mrs. Charles L. Thompson, Miss Ann Kingsland, Miss Joyce Thompson, Miss Susan Russe, Miss Rosalie Hall and Miss Fentress Hall.

Miss Kingsland, a student at the University of Michigan, will return there in a few days to attend summer school. In the autumn she will study at the University of Oldenburg, Germany, for a semester. Miss Thompson attends Mount Holyoke College. She and Miss Emily Simmons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Simmons, will share honors Aug. 26 at a dinner dance at Old Barn Inn, St. Albans, Mo.

Two Debutantes to Be Introduced.

THE HOME of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Henry Hall at 44 Washington terrace will be the scene this afternoon of a debut tea for their daughter, Miss Nan Hall, and for Miss Janice Marie Hutto, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. Herman Hutto, 31 Fair Oaks, Ladue. Guests will be received by the debutantes and their mothers in the living room before a mirror which is flanked by tall urns holding pink carnations.

Miss Hall has chosen for her coming-out party a white organza gown embroidered in pink around the low neckline and in panels on the skirt. Miss Hutto will be in a white embroidered eyelet organza gown with a sleeveless bodice and a full skirt threaded at the hemline with a deep pink velvet ribbon. Both girls will hold nosegays formed of variegated ivy with trailing ivy streamers.

Mrs. Hall will be in a pink chiffon sheath and Mrs. Hutto in a white sheath printed in pink and overlaid with a layer of white chiffon. They will wear orchid corsages.

The tea table is covered with a white cut-out embroidered cloth. An epergne holding Peruvian lilies is flanked with candelabra holding matching tapers. Champagne punch is to be served in another room.

Assisting at the tea table will be Miss Sarah McDowell, Miss Susan Marriott, Miss Judy Cromwell, Miss Charlotte Johansen, Miss Christy Hornsby, Miss Suzanne Macdonald, Miss Gay Armstrong, Miss Holly Biggs, Miss Carol Laube, Miss Lucinda Pantaleoni and two out-of-town guests, Miss Leslie Gray and Miss Margaretta Helm of Chicago, both of whom attend Washington University.

Assisting the hostesses will be Mrs. James B. Collins, Mrs. J. Ben Miller, Mrs. Ray Masters, Mrs. Walter Pershall, Mrs. William C. Macdonald, Mrs. Henry Armstrong, Mrs. Howard R. Buermann, Mrs. Truman G. Drake, Mrs. Ray David Williams and Mrs. Enno Kraehe.

Here from Atlanta, Ga., for the party are Miss Hall's brother, Howard H. Hall Jr., his wife and son, Howard H. III.

Miss Hall and Miss Hutto, alumnae of Mary Institute, are students at Washington University.

Debutantes Honored at Luncheons.

TWO DEBUTANTE LUNCHEONS were on today's calendar. Mrs. Louis E. Miller of the Hampden Hall apartments, 4402 McPherson avenue, gave a luncheon and swimming party at the Clayton Club in honor of Miss JoAnn Anheuser Nall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Anheuser Nall, 26 Log Cabin drive, Ladue.

A patriotic theme was selected by the hostess because of the imminence of Flag day.

The long table around which the debutantes were seated was decorated with a large arrangement of red, white and blue blossoms and small red, white and blue flags. Additional flags decorated the walls of the club. Each guest found a package tied with red, white and blue ribbons at her place. Inside were jewel boxes containing bright red monogrammed sun glass cases trimmed with white and blue ribbon studded with pearls and crystals.

Included on Mrs. Miller's guest list were: Miss Sue Hanser, Miss Sallie Powers, Miss Judy Jones, Miss Jeanne Roeper, Miss Eugenie Chouteau, Miss Lucie Palmer, Miss Elizabeth Folk, Miss Martha Pranger, Miss Louise Latzer, Miss Meredith Ittner and her houseguest, Miss Deborah O'Brien of Scotia, N. Y.; Miss Lucetta Gardner and Miss Sarah Gatch. Seated with the hostess were Mrs. Nall, Mrs. Miller's sister, Miss Joanna Laughren, and Miss Laughren Miller, daughter of the hostess.

Miss Elizabeth Ann Buermann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Buermann, 25 Danfield road, Ladue, and Miss Suzanne Macdonald, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William C. Macdonald, 63 Briarcliff, Ladue, were guests of honor today at a luncheon given at the University Club by Mrs. Robert L. Blanke Jr., 7847 Cornell avenue, University City.

July Picnic Planned By Elks Auxiliary

PLANS FOR THE ANNUAL PICNIC of the Ladies' Auxiliary, St. Louis Lodge No. 9, B.P.O. Elks, to be July 13 at Norwood Hills Country Club, were made at a meeting Monday at the Elks Club, 3619 Lindell boulevard.

Mrs. August Menetre Jr., president, has announced committee chairmen for the forthcoming year: Mrs. Edward Rippy, welfare; Mrs. Horace Baum, activities; Mrs. A. W. Elbert, publicity; Mrs. John Stahl, historian; Mrs. Percival Cox, membership; Mrs. Fred V. Sunkel, welcoming; Mrs. William R. Brown, hostesses; Mrs. Joseph B. Steinmeyer, cheer; Mrs. Arthur D. Mason, decorating; Mrs. Nicholas Berjer, dining room, and Mrs. John Buch Jr., chaplain.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM T. KIEFFER will entertain friends of their son, David, at their home, 217 North Bemiston, for the next ten days. The visitors, students from the class of 1962 at Williams College, are David Mellencamp, Milwaukee, and John Newton, Holyoke, Mass. Another young man, R. S. Temple, Jr., Buffalo, N.Y., will arrive the latter part of this week.

Elsa Arensmeyer Completes Plans for Wedding Saturday

MISS ELSA JANE ARENSMEYER, who received her degree in elementary education from Washington University June 5, has completed plans for her wedding to Gerald Charles Schraudenbach. The marriage will take place at 8 o'clock Saturday at Hope Evangelical and Reformed Church. The Rev. John E. Trnka will officiate. Later the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold John Arensmeyer, 6027 Guilford place, will give a reception in the Crystal Room of the Sheraton-Jefferson Hotel.

Miss Janet Ruth Hahn will be maid of honor, and the prospective bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Harold J. Arensmeyer Jr., of Trinidad, West Indies, will be matron of honor. Bridesmaids will include three Kappa Alpha Theta sorority sisters of the bride-elect: Miss Sharon Lynne Anderson, Miss Clair Jo Talbot and Miss Sandra Virginia Wetterau, and a cousin, Miss Marilyn Tischer of Cleveland. John Arensmeyer, Miss Arensmeyer's nephew will carry the rings.

Mr. Schraudenbach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Arthur Schraudenbach, 9955 Old Warson road, Ladue, will have his brother, Thomas Barry Schraudenbach, as best man. Ushers will include Harold J. Arensmeyer Jr., the prospective bride's brother, of Trinidad; William C. Lange Jr., John Arthur Henry, George T. Neunreiter, Ralph W. Mueller, Joseph E. Hahn Jr. and Stanley Croissant.

Pre-wedding parties began May 28, when Miss Talbot and Miss Anderson honored the prospective bride at a tea at the Talbot home. Miss Wetterau and her mother, Mrs. Oliver Wetterau, 1 Wood Acre road, Ladue, were hostesses at a luncheon June 3. On June 6 Miss Arensmeyer's aunts, Mrs. Arthur Hammond, Mrs. Earl Schmidt, Mrs. Elmer Arensmeyer and Mrs. Franklin Rollins, gave a luncheon at the Hammond home. Mrs. Otto Kruse gave a coffee yesterday at her home.

Mrs. Maurice Diehr, 28 Dromara road, Ladue, was hostess at a patio jarty for the engaged pair last Saturday. The spinster dinner will be given by Miss Hahn tomorrow. The prospective bridegroom's parents will give the rehearsal dinner at Sunset Country Club Friday evening.

MISS JANET HAHN

June Activities For Residents Of Kirkwood

MR. AND MRS. OLIVER G. SALLER and their daughters, Miss Mary Shannon and Miss Christy Saller, 549 East Argonne drive, have returned from South Bend, Ind., where they attended the graduation of Stephen Saller from Notre Dame University June 4.

Miss Christy flew from Smith College, Northampton, Mass., to be present for her brother's graduation. The family was joined by Mrs. Saller's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson of Craig, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Ryan, Mason road, were in Wellesley, Mass., to participate in graduation festivities at Wellesley College with their daughter, Miss Colleen Ryan, who received her diploma June 5. After spending a few days on Cape God, the Ryans returned home last weekend.

The Rev. and Mrs. Stanton R. Ramsey, who lived here before he attended theological school in Alexandria, Va., returned here with their baby daughter, Elizabeth, recently. They are living in Normandy where he has been ordained rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church.

Before getting settled in their new home, the Ramseys divided their time between her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Jordan, 440 East Argonne drive, and his mother, Mrs. M. E. Ramsey, 7539 Byron place, Clayton.

Miss Katherine Meyerand will arrive home Sunday to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell G. Meyerand, 1 Churchill lane. She has been visiting friends in the East after completing her freshman year at the University of Rochester (N.Y.) School of Medicine. Saturday, she will attend the wedding in Scarsdale of a classmate, Miss Ragna Christen.

A recent guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon P. Henderson, 220 West Washington avenue, was an old friend, Mrs. Catherine M. Montgomery, who has returned to her home in Newtown, Pa.

Clare Ilges Heads Women Engineers

Martha Carr's OPINION

Martha Wins a Bet.

Dear Martha:

I BET YOU WON'T print this letter. You said to quit writing letters about working wives and talk about mothers-in-law. Big joke. We are two of these creatures. We do all the work as well as take care of the children and furnish a home for all of them. Our daughters-in-law don't have to work but do so because they don't like housework. What do we get for what we do? Nothing. Not even a thank you. Our children go out every evening and spend everything they make. They act as though we owe them something and should be delighted to take care of everything. I think us mothers-in-law should band together and just walk off the job. Can you tell us how to make our children understand that we are

FED UP GRANNIES.

Don't walk off the job but give your children notice that you're fed up with being imposed upon. Tell your daughters-in-law that, since they do not have to work for financial reasons, it is their duty to raise their own families. Advise them that you will expect them to be on their own within 30 days and that from then on out you will be available for occasional baby sitting and nothing more. What I can't understand is why you haven't done this before. There's no law that requires grandmothers to martyr themselves for their grandchildren. As for my suggestion that the column had had enough letters about working wives and would welcome a change, I suggested not letters about mothers-in-law but letters from women who get along well with their mothers-in-law. One of these letters follows.

Dear Martha:

THIS IS A TRIBUTE to my mother-in-law. If it were not for my wonderful mother-in-law I would not have had such a kind and considerate husband. He was a reflection of her in personality. There was no jealous streak in her and she had no prejudice where race, creed or other person's limitations were concerned. She did not use religion as a coat of shining armor just for self-glorification but truly followed the golden rule. She was wonderful. LEST I FORGET.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I AM in so much trouble I feel like doing something. I am 79 years old. Please help me. I will be waiting for your answer as I have no where else to turn. E.M.

Call the Family and Children's Service, 4643 Lindell boulevard, FOrest 7-2840 and ask for a counselor on problems of the aging. Don't be downhearted. Something can be done to help you.

Dear Martha:

CAN YOU PLEASE advise me what is expected of a person when they receive a birth announcement? I would like to send out birth announcements but do not want anyone to feel as though they have to give a gift. B.B.

Send your birth announcements only to relatives and close friends. Most of these will want to send your new baby something; those that don't will be under no obligation.

Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for Martha's leaflet, "Pot Pourri," directions for making a rose jar.

Bags Under the Eyes

DEAR DR. MOLNER: Please, if possible, discuss the cause and remedy of puffiness or bags beneath the eyes. I realize that your column generally deals with more pressing problems, but in view of the thousands of dollars that are spent annually to correct facial imperfections, I am sure that many persons, both male and female, would be deeply interested. I have noticed that this does not occur only in the aged but also in the very young.

DR. MOLNER

What causes me to believe that there is some way of correcting it is that quite a few persons of varying ages do not seem to be so bothered. M. H.

The one valid reason for writing about "bags under the eyes" is that a lot of people fret and worry about 'em, and maybe I can persuade a few to stop stewing. Not many, I guess, but some.

Today's letter is one of many on the subject. I chose it, instead of some other one, because it has such an insistent tone, and indicates so clearly that some people think that a little puffiness is very significant. Most of the time it isn't.

A great many wrong notions have grown up about "bags under the eyes." Most of these common beliefs are folklore—ideas that "bags under the eyes" indicate age, lack of sleep, deep-seated illnesses, staying up nights to watch the late late show, or drinking too much of something.

There may be some connection between continued lack of rest and some loss of muscle and tissue tone. The tissues below the eye are naturally and properly somewhat soft and loose, so additional physical weariness is reflected there.

On the other hand, it's true that some young, vigorous, healthy individuals who drink their orange juice every morning and get eight hours of sleep every night and exercise regularly and aren't overweight, still have more puffiness around the eyes than some people who play poker all night and too often ignore the simple rules of health that I keep offering—patiently.

In possession of reasonably good health, some will vary a great deal in the amount of tautness or laxness in the tissues around the eyes. Contour and bone structure of the face also have something to do with the bagginess.

The one helpful thing, other than living sanely and sensibly is, to the best of my knowledge and belief, plastic surgery—removing excess skin and carefully sewing the edges back together. The operation is comparatively minor, as plastic surgery goes, and is feasible for anyone who is genuinely concerned. But even relatively simple plastic surgery must be done with skill and good planning. For readers who are deeply concerned. I suggest that they consult a plastic surgeon and balance the cost and effort against the amount of distress caused by the mirror.

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them? For answers, read Dr. Molner's helpful new booklet, "How to Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of the Post-Dispatch, inclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20c in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Peter Ustinov Was 'Afraid'

By Sheilah Graham

HOLLYWOOD, June 13.

"I WAS AFRAID to stand up when my name was called," said Oscar-winner Peter Ustinov, "I was afraid they had made a mistake."

To my knowledge this this was the only time the actor-author-director - producer was ever "afraid." Even the milestone of his fortieth birthday a few weeks ago left the amusing cosmopolite unmoved. "I was very depressed when I reached the age of 10—that was a real milestone. But after that, birthdays have not bothered me," he said.

Ustinov has been in the theater for 21 years. "I wrote my first play when I was 14 and was punished for not doing my school work instead. I started in the theater seriously when I was 19."

He wrote his current production, "Romanoff and Juliet," five years ago, and starred in it on the London and New York stage before making the movie. His last picture, "The Sundowners," was filmed in Australia—and Peter's performance in this, as a remittance man, was responsible for his winning an Oscar.

"My next film, 'Billy Budd' (also authored by Peter), is of the 1797 period—about a British warship of that era. It's absolutely fantastic to read the newspapers of that time—of Wilberforce trying to get through his anti-slavery bill, of a man condemned to death for stealing a shilling from the Royal Mail. Life was so much cheaper in those days!"

PETER USTINOV

Ustinov is a league of nationalities. "My grandfather was kicked out of Russia in 1860 for trying to liberate his serfs eight months before it was legal to do so in 1861. He was exiled for 40 years. Grandfather became a Lutheran and lived in Palestine. My father was born in Jaffa, which was Turkish then. He had a German passport. I was born in London and, by the time I was of age, I was in the British army. One of my children was born in London, one in Switzerland, two in Los Angles. I'm still British; my wife is French-Canadian, another brother an Argentinian, and a sister Egyptian. Wherever I travel I meet relatives I've never heard of."

While filming "The Sundowners" in Australia, the weather was bad and director Fred Zinnemann was depressed. To cheer him up, Ustinov, to whom nothing is impossible, did "30 to 40 drawings of Nazi criminals and their excuses, and showed them to my publishers in London. They will soon be out as a book there, and later here." Peter's most recent book, "The Loser," had good reviews in both countries, and he will produce and direct it as a film.

"Where do you get all your ideas?" I asked.

"I'm interested in people," he replied. "When I walk, I stare at people. Did you know," he said suddenly, "that you get a higher percentage of people talking to themselves when they walk in New York than anyplace else? And you see a tremendous amount of loneliness in the people who are walking. I get a lot of ideas from these people."

To get back to his present "Romanoff and Juliet": "I'm very fond of it—mothers are inclined to love their children. I launched it in London in 1956 and it ran a year. During that time I got a slipped disk, lying on a plank like one of those big steaks on an American plate."

Peter is very prosperous these days and has all the work he can handle. But times were bad during the early days of World War II. "I had a room in London with one of those gas machines you put a shilling into. It was so cold and there was no money in the meter; I started running through an air raid to my father's home and met him running to me for the same reason. He was a journalist, and broke."

"Do you diet at all?" I asked. "No," Peter replied. "I'm the sort of person who, if he worries he gets fat. The main thing is not to think of it, I feel that worry and anxiety are worse than overweight. A doctor in Chicago told me, 'You've got to lose some weight.' I told him that my great-grandfather was three times as fat as me and he lived to 108."

In "Billy Budd," Ustinov will shave off his beard. "I grew it six years ago for an Italian movie which ran out of money on the second day of shooting. A beard makes you suspect as an actor. But my wife is fond of it, and my children are used to it. We will see how I get on without it."

I'll make bets that Peter Ustinov will manage.

NOTE: The Associated Newspapers, originator of this puzzle, have mailed the correct answers directly to the Mercantile Trust Company, St. Louis, where they will be kept sealed in the vault until after 9 a.m. Thursday. The St. Louis Post-Dispatch did not prepare this puzzle and does not have the answers in advance. The Official Rules of the contest are as follows:

1. Solve this puzzle as you would work any crossword puzzle, printing in the blank spaces the missing letters to form the word which you believe BEST fits the definition.
2. Fill in your name and complete address on the entry form, and print the first letter of your last name in the square indicated. Then cut along the dotted lines and paste the complete entry on a 3-cent postcard. Address the postcard to CASH-CROSSWORDS, Box 648, Central Station, St. Louis 88, Missouri.
3. All entries for Puzzle No. 40 must be received not later than 9 A.M., Thursday, June 15. Entries may be mailed or may be delivered in person to the Cash-Crosswords box in the Post-Dispatch lobby, 12th and OLIVE Streets.
4. $31,500 in cash will be paid for the correct solution to Puzzle No. 40. If more than one contestant submits the correct solution, the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If no correct solution is received, the cash award for Puzzle No. 41 will be $32,500.
5. Only correctness of solution will count, not decorations. There is only ONE answer that in the judges' opinion is the BEST word to fit the definition of each clue. Decisions of the judges are final, and all contestants agree to accept those decisions as a condition of entry.
6. There is no limit to the number of entries a contestant may submit, except that no more than five facsimile copies of each puzzle will be accepted from any contestant. All facsimiles must be accurately hand-drawn directly on the backs of 3-cent postcards. No carbon copies or reproductions made by mechanical processes will be accepted. It is not necessary to buy the Post-Dispatch to compete in this contest.
7. Any resident of Missouri, Arkansas or Illinois (excluding Cook County) may enter the contest except (1) employes of The Pulitzer Publishing Company, its advertising agency and members of their households; (2) any person who has won $1,000 or more in any previous newspaper contest. No more than one prize will be awarded to the residents of any one household.
8. Names of winners if any, and the correct solution to Puzzle No. 40 will be published in the Post-Dispatch Sunday, June 18. A new puzzle will appear on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, June 18, 19 and 20.
9. Each contestant who submits the correct solution to a Cash-Crosswords Puzzle agrees to certify (1) that the answers were not obtained from any source outside of the contestant's household and (2) that the contestant has not acted for or in collaboration with any person who is not eligible to compete in this contest.
10. The Post-Dispatch is not responsible for entries that are lost, that arrive too late, that are incorrectly filled out or illegible. It also reserves the right to correct typographical errors and to discontinue the contest at its discretion.
11. A $100.00 BONUS WILL BE PAID FOR THE CORRECT SOLUTION IF IT IS SUBMITTED ON A POST-CARD AND NOT INCLOSED IN AN ENVELOPE. If there is more than one winner the $100.00 bonus will be equally divided.

TV Notes and Gossip

NBC-TV WILL PRESENT a special program on Ambassador Adlai Stevenson's three-week tour of South America shortly after the conclusion of the trip on June 22. An NBC-TV crew is accompanying Stevenson.

THE LIBRARY OF CONGRESS has requested, and will receive, prints of the 26 episodes of the Winston Churchill memoirs series carried by ABC-TV. The series, which ended Sunday, will be shown again next season. It currently is being shown in Canada, Great Britain, Italy, Finland, Japan, Thailand, the Philippines, Mexico, Argentina, Brazil and Australia.

PRODUCER JACK FARREN of NBC-TV's "Concentration" is at work on a giveaway that will provide the winner with a million-dollar stock market investment kitty. The program feature will be unveiled on the night-time version of the game show after various legal details are worked out.

THERE WILL be 33 night-time network television shows next season that routinely lean on some form of mayhem, according to an analysis by Sponsor magazine. This compares with 43 shows depending on violence this past season.

RED SKELTON . . . Has signed to return to CBS-TV in the fall for the eleventh straight year. His current season ends June 27.

Some Webless Spiders

By Ramon Coffman

Front view of a spider.

THE ABILITY to spin silk thread is native to the spider family, and this might lead us to suppose that all spiders make webs. That is far from the truth. Many kinds of spiders never make webs, even though they are quite able to spin threads.

Some scientists believe that the art of making webs was learned by accident in ages past. Early spiders may have thrown out short threads that became tangled. If insects landed on tangled threads, and were caught, the plan of making traps (spider webs) from threads may have grown in the spider tribe.

Whatever the history of the web, there are millions of spiders that never make webs. They are able to spin thread, but fail to turn it into webs.

Crab spiders are among those that get along without the silken traps. They go about meadows and other stretches of land, and look for crawling insects. Often they move sidewise (suggesting a crab) while getting their food.

It is a common thing for crab spiders to have coloring that matches their hunting place. Yellow ones often spend time on goldenrods, or on yellow petals of sunflowers. Other crab spiders, white or almost white, wait on the petals of white flowers until insects come along.

Q. What are wolf spiders?

A. They are fairly common spiders, and are among those that never make webs. They roam about fields and woodlands at night, looking for food. They hunt in the darkness because they want to be safe from their worst enemies, the wasps.

Female wolf spiders have a custom that is rather amusing: for a period of a few days, after a hatching of eggs, the female carries her young on her back. As many as 50 of the small ones may get rides at the same time.

Q. What are jumping spiders?

A. These are spiders that jump for their food. They can leap from four to eight inches, in almost any direction—forward, backward or sidewise.
